

POET'S CORNER.

From the New-York Evening Post.
Sir Philip Sidney, said, as Addison tells us, that he never could read the old ballad of Chevy Chase, without feeling his heart beat within him, as at the sound of a trumpet.

THE AMERICAN FLAG.

When Freedom, from her mountain height,
Unfurled her standard to the air,
She wore the azure robe of night.

Majestic monarch of the cloud!
Who rear'st aloft thy regal form,
To hear the tempest trumping loud,

Child of the Sun! to thee 'tis given,
To guard the banner of the free,
To hover in the sulphur smoke,

Flag of the free hearts only home,
By angel hands to valour given!
Thy sails have lit the welkin dome,

Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe but falls before us?
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,

CAUTION.

I forwarn all persons from employing or dealing with my negroes in any manner as I am determined to enforce the law without respect to persons.
