MR GREEN,

I am much surprised to hear, that the committee to whom was referred the petition of many citize s of Anne-Arundel counon of many citize wor Anne-Armder county, praying a law to authorise the levy court to assess a sum of money for the erection of a Court House, had reported unfavourably. This committee, I unders and, conably. This committee, I unders and, con-sisted of the delegates from Annapolis, the four delegates from Anne Arundel conty, and one of the delegates from the city of Baltimure. We now nothing at preent of this report, except that it was the act of a najo ity of that committee. Under these ci comscances, it is but fair that the public should know the part which each member of that committee took in making their report so that their constituents may have port, so that their constituents, may have an opportunity of knowing what conduct they have pursued in relation to this subject. If any delegate from Annapolis of Anna-Arundel county, advocated that report, it should be anown, so that the peuple may have an opportunity of sanctioning or condemning his conduct at the next cirction of delegates. I imagine it acarcely would be believed, that the populous and wealthy county of Aune-Arundel, has neither a Court House, or any place of deposit for the public records; yet such is the sact, that it is in the power of the scale trea sure; to have the records thrown into the street at any moment that it may please him But it may be said, that such a thing is not ikely to occur. It is enough for me that it ikely to occur. It is enough for me that it is possible; for it is mortifying to think that there should not be public spirit enough in the county to redeem i from this state of dependence. B t it considerations of this kind are to base no weight, there exist others more powerful. As things now are, the evidence of every land title in the country land title in the country. y, the evidence taken under commission to mark and bound lands, and the location thereo', are subject, at any moment, to de struction by fire; and in case of fi e, their destruction would be inevitable, because too large a d unwieldy to be quickly re moved. Here, too, is to be mund the most important of all evidence, the evidence of marriage, for it is it vain that you may search the parish registers, they widnot for nish as much evidence as the parish combined in the stones. And yet the e is another consider ation of still greater importance, justice it-elicannet be fai ly administered, because the building in which the Cortis now held, furnishes no room to waich the jury can re-tire beyond the reach of the op nions and remarks o the multitude; and they are compelled to hear every case of interest canvassed again by the contending adherents of the adverse parties. That such conversation ons must have some operation in riveting, or in reversing the opinions of a juro, no matter what may be his integrity, cannot be doubted; indeed it might be proved by the ex evience it no very remote time. It is idle to swear the balliff that he shall suffer no person to speak to the jury until they have agreed on their—e dict; if you place them in a situation to hear the conversation in the street, they might as well deliberate in public. If these are not ind coments sufficient to justify the appropriations asked for by the petitioners; of they do not rouse the people of the county to a strict investigation on of the conduct of their delegates, we can my say, they deserve to be stripped of their rights. It may be the policy of ome overgrown landholders to prefer risking the destruction of their land titles, soon i s jeopardy all that is left to the poor man, his civil rights and privileges

We have considered your resolution by which wour Senators and Representatives at Congress are requested to use their utmost endeavours in the admission of new states the tripits and privileges of the states all the rights and privileges of the states he etoore admitted, without requiring as a condition of their admission the inhibition of condition of their admission the infinition involuntary Servit de or any other condition limiting their sovereign powers, in a greater degree than the sovereign powers of the original states forming the Onion are 1 miled and Testrained." In this resolution he se ate cannot concur, because the sen ate are of opinion, that this subject belongs exclusively to Congress, and that the pow delegated to Congress are derived immediately from the people, and not from the tales in their corporate capacity: Because the senate a c of opinion, that the powers de egated by the people to the state Legisla. ture, extends no faither than regulating the internal c neems of the state, except in cer-tain cares where its powers are expressly specified and defined; and that the Legisla opinion o the people of Maryland upon a measure which belongs exclusively to Con-vidual canacities and as a part of the people, would be prompt to express their opinions on the Missouri question. The constitution of the United States provides for the admissions. ion of new states into the Union, without defining the terms and conditions upon which they shall be admitted; and we think the sound constitutional exposition of that article is, that they should be admitteed with all the poweres and capacies of internal regu-lation which belonged to the old states. If ongless, in the exercise of the rower of admitting a new state into the Union, have a right to fetter it with the proposed restric tion, they have a right to impose other re-strictions to an indefinite extent. And we our republican institutions, that one stand should possess powers of internal regulation not imparted to another, as the one class o citizens of the United States should possess powers and eights which were denied to another... Determined in the negative.

The question was then put, will the senate assent to the resolution as amended; the years and nays being required appeared as
