EUTERPEIAD
 Or Musical Intelligencer,
 AND LADIES' GAZETTE.
 A Periodical Paper has been published in Boston since April 1820, devoted to the diffusion of Musical and Belle Lettre information. It embraces a general history of Music from the earliest ages—Records the transactions of musical societies—Reviews new musical works—Furnishes biographical memoirs of eminent musical men—Correspondence—Anecdotes of music—Letters instructive and interesting upon every branch of the musical science—Improvements in musical instruments, and the compilation of a register of musical transactions.
 With such attention, it is conceived every topic of interest, personal and general, vocal and instrumental, will be embraced. To what extent information may be obtained in the incipient stage of our enterprise, we will not presume to promise, but by a clear exposition of our objects, we shew the scope and range of our intentions; and while we entreat the voluntary aid of those who possess the talents we covet, we at the same time engage to omit no effort of our own to fulfil expectation, we hope however to be more indebted to the generous contributions of scientific ability, than to our own labours.
 A portion of our columns is intended to be exclusively appropriated for the LADIES' DEPARTMENT, wherein it will become our duty to
 "—guard the purity of melting maids,
 In courtship blith, and midnight masquerades,
 Safe on the treacherous friend, the daring spunk,
 The glimmer by day, the whisper in the dark.
 When kind occasion prompts their warm desires,
 When music sooths, and when dancing fires."

As the EUTERPEIAD is not intended to derive support from advertising patronage, it has thus far been attended with little or no emolument to the Proprietor, it is an experiment of no ordinary undertaking in this country, and has necessarily consumed considerable time, labour, and expense.
 A publication destitute of profits accruing from advertisements must rely upon its subscribers only, for support.—The Proprietor would not willingly abandon his intention, unless compelled by a necessity which he hopes may not be realised, a more extensive patronage is essentially requisite in order more generally to extend its usefulness.
 The EUTERPEIAD is published Semi-Monthly on Saturdays, on a large sheet of eight quarto pages, at Three Dollars per annum, payable half yearly in advance. Every number will contain a fashionable Song—Air, with variation—Sacred Song—Waltz—March or Dance, arranged for the Piano Forte.
 Residents out of Boston, who procure ten subscribers will receive a file of Papers gratis. Regular files, or extra numbers may be had by applying at the Franklin Music Warehouse, Milk-street, Boston.

GEO. WELLS, Junr.
 ATTORNEY AT LAW.
 Offers his professional services to the public. He will be found in the home lately occupied by his Father, and opposite W. Williams's Tavern.
 April 12.

MARTIN F. REVELL
 TAILOR.
 Respectfully acquaints his friends and the Citizens of Annapolis and neighbourhood generally, that he has taken the Stand in Church Street, opposite the Post Office, and went over to Mr. Williams's Boat and Skin Store, formerly occupied by Mr. Hall, and addition business in his factory, where
 ALL KINDS OF TAILORING,
 Will be done on moderate terms, with neatness and dispatch.
 M. F. R. Solicits the patronage of the Citizens. He will be very thankful to the Storekeepers for their inducements, as the Stores will be the principal source through which he can expect employment, as he does not intend keeping Cloths, therefore he is in hopes they will be disposed to encourage him in his line of business.
 Annapolis, April 4.
 N B Persons living in the county wishing to have Tailoring done, will find to their advantage to give the subscriber the preference, as he is determined to work cheap, and receive county produce in payment, such as wheat, corn, and oats, at the Annapolis market price.

A CARD.
 The Subscriber takes this plan to inform his old customers of Annapolis, and its vicinity, and the public generally, that he has declined the Tailoring business in favour of MARTIN F. REVELL, who he can with safety recommend to the public, to be perfect in his business, as he has had a sufficient opportunity of knowing his superiority of work, from several years acquaintance with him.
 WILLIAM HALL.

IN COUNCIL,
 Annapolis, March 28th, 1821.
 ORDERED, That the following communication from the Secretary of State of the United States to this Department, be published in the National Intelligencer, the Baltimore Patriot, the Baltimore American, the Federal Gazette of Baltimore, the Maryland Republican, and the Maryland Gazette of Annapolis, and the two papers in Eastern, once a week for six successive weeks, for the information of all the citizens of the State, who may be interested in the subject thereof.
 By order of the Council,
 NINIAN PINKNEY,
 Clerk of the Council.

To his Excellency the Governor of Maryland,
 Department of State,
 March 22d, 1821.
 Sir,
 The question upon the conclusion of that part of the first article of the Treaty of Ghent, which stipulated that slaves should not be carried away from the United States by British Officers after the conclusion of the peace, having been submitted, by the American and British Governments, to the decision of the Emperor of Russia, the British Secretary of State for the Foreign Affairs has demanded that, in the event of a decision in favour of the construction insisted upon by the United States, the full extent of the demand upon Great Britain for restitution, or indemnity for slaves carried away, should be made known as speedily as possible; I am directed by the President to suggest that notice should be given to the sufferers, to transmit without delay to this Department, authenticated proof of the numbers of slaves carried away and of their value, by the current prices at which they might have been sold at the time when the loss was sustained. Specifying the name, age, sex and value of each individual slave lost.
 I have the honour to be,
 With great respect,
 Sir, your very humble,
 And obedient servant,
 JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.
