IN COUNCIL,
 Annapolis, March 23th, 1821.
 ORDERED, That the following communication from the Secretary of State of the United States to this Department, be published in the National Intelligencer, the Baltimore Patriot, the Baltimore American, the Federal Gazette of Baltimore, the Maryland Republican, and the Maryland Gazette of Annapolis, and the two papers in Eastern, once a week for six successive weeks, for the information of all the citizens of the State, who may be interested in the subject thereof.
 By order, NICHOLAS PINKNEY, Clerk of the Council.

To His Excellency the Governor of Maryland.
 Department of State, March 23d, 1821.
 Sir,
 The question upon the conclusion of that part of the first article of the Treaty of Ghent, which stipulated that slaves should not be carried away from the United States, by British Officers after the conclusion of the peace, having been submitted by the American and British Governments, to the decision of the emperor of Russia; the British Secretary of State for the Foreign Affairs has demanded that, in the event of a decision in favor of the construction insisted upon by the United States, the full extent of the demand upon Great Britain for restitution, or indemnity for slaves carried away, should be made known as speedily as possible. I am directed by the President to suggest that notice should be given to the offerors, to transmit with due delay to this Department, authenticated proof of the numbers of slaves carried away and of their value, by the current prices at which they might have been sold at the time when the loss was sustained. Specifying the name, age, sex and value of each individual slave lost.
 I have the honor to be, With great respect,
 Sir, your very humble, and obedient servant,
 JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.

THE STEAM BOAT MARYLAND.
 will continue to run as heretofore until the last day of the present month—but afterwards she will take her routes as follows: On Sunday the first of April she leaves Easton at 8 o'clock, and will proceed to Annapolis, leaving there at half past 2 o'clock, for Baltimore, and arrive at 6 o'clock the same day; leaves Commerce street wharf, Baltimore, on Wednesday at 8 o'clock, and returns by Annapolis to Easton at 6 o'clock the same evening; and so leaves Easton at the same hour, and by the same route, every Sunday and Thursday, and leaving Baltimore in like manner, every Wednesday and Saturday. In every route she will touch at Todd's Point, the Mills and at Oxford, if hailed, to take and land passengers. On Monday of every week she will leave Baltimore at nine o'clock for Chestertown, and arrive there in the afternoon; and on Tuesday morning leaves at 9 o'clock Chestertown and returns to Baltimore; touching in both routes at Queen's town, to take and land passengers. She will take freights from and to the respective places above mentioned, so as not to incommode the passengers, their Horses or Carriages. Passengers wishing to go to Philadelphia will find it the most convenient and expeditious route, as she meets the Union line of steam boats, when they can be put on board, and arrive in Philadelphia the next morning by 9 o'clock.
 All baggage of which due care will be taken, will nevertheless be at the risk of the owners heretofore.

100 Dollars Reward
RAN AWAY from the subscriber, living in the Forest of Prince George's county, on the 10th of April, a Negro Man named Jacob, about 33 years old, 5 feet, 9 inches high, very black, has a scar by a burn on one of his cheeks, a pleasing countenance, and is quite polite when spoken to. Clothing, jacket and trousers of blue and white kersey, which he will no doubt change, as he has others. He was formerly a ferryman at the Upper Ferry across South River, and as he is a little acquainted with the water, he may attempt to make his escape in that way. He has a wife, at Dr. Hall's in Anne Arundel county, where it is probable he may conceal himself a few days and then he will no doubt attempt to get out of the state. The above reward will be paid, on my getting possession of him, no matter where he is taken.
 JOHN CONTEE.
 April 12.
 P. S. Since writing the above it has been ascertained that he has been at Dr. Hall's and taken with him from thence some articles of his own clothing, and two dresses of his wife's clothing, with which it is possible he may endeavor to disguise himself.

EUTERPELAD
 Or Musical Intelligencer, AND LADIES' GAZETTE.
 A Periodical Paper has been published in Boston since April 1820, devoted to the diffusion of Musical and Belle Lettre information. It contains a general history of Music from the earliest ages—Records of the transactions of musical societies—Reviews of new musical works—Presents biographical memoirs of eminent musical men—Correspondence—Anecdotes of music—Letters instructive and interesting upon every branch of the musical science—Improvements in musical instruments, and the compilation of a register of musical transactions.
 With such intentions, it is conceived every topic of interest, personal and general, vocal and instrumental, will be embraced. To what extent information may be obtained by the incipient stage of our enterprise, we will not presume to promise, but by a clear exposure of our objects, we shew the scope and range of our intentions, and while we entreat the voluntary aid of those who possess the talents we covet, we at the same time engage to omit no effort of our own to fulfil expectation, we hope however to be more indebted to the generous contributions of scientific ability, than to our own labours.
 A portion of our columns is intended to be exclusively appropriated for the LADIES' DEPARTMENT, wherein it will become our duty to guard the purity of melting maids, Safe in their ball, and midnight masquerades, The glimmer by day, the whisper in the dark, When kind occasion prompts to warm desires, When music softens, and when dancing fires.

As the EUTERPELAD is not intended to derive support from advertising patronage it has thus far been attended with little or no emolument to the Proprietor, it is an experiment of no ordinary undertaking in this country, and has necessarily consumed considerable time, labour, and expense.
 A publication destitute of profits accruing from advertisements must rely upon its subscribers only, for support.—The Proprietor would not willingly abandon his intention, unless compelled by a necessity which he hopes may not be realized, a more extensive patronage is essentially requisite in order more generally to extend its usefulness.
 The EUTERPELAD is published Semi-Monthly on Saturdays, on a large sheet of eight quarto pages, at Three Dollars per annum, payable half yearly in advance. Every number will contain a fashionable Song—Air, with variation—Sacred Song—Viz.—March or Dance, arranged for the Piano Forte. Residents out of Boston, who procure ten subscribers will receive a file of papers gratis. Regular files, or extra numbers may be had by applying at the Franklin Music Warehouse, Milk-street, Boston.

GREEN
 The Ship "Abeona" from the Clyde employed as a transport to carry settlers, in the Gulf of Mexico, was on the 23th December last destroyed by fire, in latitude 5 deg. N. long. 29 deg. W. The whole number of persons on board were 161 men, women, and children, of whom 112 were lost. The remaining 49, escaped in boats, and were fortunately taken up the next morning by the Portuguese ship, which carried them to Lisbon. The following lines from our correspondent exhibit a lively picture of this melancholy catastrophe.
 Destruction of the Ship "Abeona".
 The night was clear and mild,
 And the breeze blew soft and mild;
 And the stars of heaven shined
 As light lamps lit up the sky.
 As a single vessel on the wave,
 Not many a mile from shore,
 A fire of death that night,
 With a wild and fearful light,
 Burst a glare.
 All were sunk in soft repose,
 Save the watch upon the deck;
 Not a word was spoken,
 Of the horrors of a wreck.
 To the members, or the child, or the wife,
 All were dead and cold;
 Like a death-bell round,
 With a wild and fearful light,
 Crying fire!
 The flames are spreading fast—
 With a fearful roar they fly,
 And are flickering to the sky.
 Now the deck is all a black,
 And the water is near their feet;
 They and all the forlorn crew,
 And a wailing, agonizing cry,
 Hear the Heavens.
 No one heard their cries of woe,
 Just the sea that flew by;
 And the waves were up to their throats,
 And their heads were under water;
 Only a few were saved,
 And a few were rescued;
 And a short and broken prayer
 Was heard from the crew.
 Some lay over in the flood,
 To the death that waits them there;
 Others gazed the flames with blood,
 On the bosom of the sea;
 Some a moment to escape from the grave,
 But their heads were under water;
 Some they hug the burning board,
 On the waves.
 From his brig Ocean he
 When the morning sun awoke,
 Laid that patient ship had dead,
 And a cloud of smoke was seen,
 Was the monumental pyre, that remained,
 But the sea-gulls take it dry,
 And their heads are near their feet;
 And the brands that floated by,
 Blood had stained.

 The Dog of the Convent of St. Bernard.
 Among the many excellent and interesting engravings which have lately imported by our printers, few have surpassed that of the celebrated Dog of St. Bernard, a Swiss artist. The engraving is of a size suitable to a furniture, and is executed with a beauty fit for any portfolio; but the subject is still more interesting than the picture.
 The dog whose portrait is introduced, was one of that species of fine mastiffs which furnished the picture of Mr. Edwin Landseer's "snow, saved by the sagacious dog of the convent dogs, exhibiting their first and last year at the British gallery." A true philanthropist, who was Barry, bore by way of honor and use, the collar of a dog which was renowned for its fidelity and love of mankind. Neither the collar of the order of the Garter, nor of the Bath, nor the Twilight—but bore, instead of George, the three Crowned Cross of St. Andrew, a dog, filled with a restorative cord, the help of necessitous mortal the soul of this philanthropist, who is known to have saved the lives of forty unfortunate men, who but for his assistance would have perished. The true philanthropist, who is known to have saved the lives of forty unfortunate men, who but for his assistance would have perished. The true philanthropist, who is known to have saved the lives of forty unfortunate men, who but for his assistance would have perished.
