A Valuable Tract of Land For Sale,

Four hundred acres of land is offered for sale adjoining to Friendship in Anne Arundel county, the greater part of this tract is covered with wood of various kinds: such as Locust, Oak, Hickory, Poplar, Cedar, and a large quantity of very fine Chesnut. The soil is very fine, adapted to Plaster and Clover, and equal to any in that part of the country for the cultivation of Tobacco, Corn and small Grain. This land is about a mile from from Chew's Cove, on Herring Bay, which gives it many advantages. A packet runs regularly once a week to Baltimore, from the Cove, which affords great facility in sending the produce of the soil to the Baltimore Market. Friendship and the neighboring country being bare of wood, principally depend for their supply from this tract of land—it would be divided into smaller parcels to suit purchasers, and the terms liberal. The improvements now erected on this land will cure 20 hogsheds of tobacco with the necessary out-houses for Overseer and Servants—This land abounds with fine springs of water, and in a good neighbourhood.—For further particulars, apply to Nicholas Brewer, Esq. of Annapolis, or of WILLIAM T. GRAY, at Chew's Cove, Herring Bay.

He has a scar on the left side of his mouth, one on his upper lip, and another over one of his eyes, occasioned by a bile. His clothing, when he left the neighbourhood, was a blue coat, dark pantaloons, a light waistcoat, and an old fur hat, the top of the crown somewhat broke. The other a likely boy about 15 or 16 years of age, named DANIEL HILL, a brother to the above mentioned James, belonging to the estate of the late John Whittington, about the same complexion. PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY JONAS GREEN, CHURCH-STREET, ANNAPOLIS.

Price—Three Dollars per Annum.

For the Maryland Gazette.

To the Voters of Maryland.

It is known to you, that the city of Baltimore, for very many years, exercised unlimited control over the measures of the state legislature, arrested or progressed every legislative act, according to her inclination, ambition or whim. The tyranny thus practised at length assailed the agricultural interest, and in 1812 produced correspondent exertions throughout the state, which terminated in a return, to the house of delegates, of men who were enlightened enough to unriddle, and to reg. in her power, to enable her to sacrifice of the farming interest. Her immense wealth she levies contributions to hire presses; these are submitted to the vigilance of a committee, selected from the expectants of office, or those who are distinguished for their devotion to the interest of the city, and exhibit the most foul epithets, and denunciations against those distinguished citizens who, when solicited to have the unparadonable boldness and uprightness to prefer your interest to theirs.

To withdraw the public confidence from the federal party, enters into the view and scope of their policy." That party once destroyed, democracy from a congeniality of feeling, and from a sense of gratitude to the hand that elevated it, will give a hearty co-operation in whatever legislative provision may be required or necessary to rivet the empire of Baltimore over the state; then her projects of general ticket, her increased representation, and a reduction of the delegation from the smaller counties, will be submitted in the legislature, and the democrats will be invited to aid and assist in their passage, lest another revolution in the public sentiment, may again burst open the door of honour and confidence to the federal party." Reader, bear his prediction in memory! the writer will unfold to you in another address these occult designs, of these self-denying Baltimoreans, the present will be exclusively confined to the investigation of that charge so frequently repeated, "that the federalists were the enemies of universal suffrage."

A historical detail of the elective franchise, is submitted; it has been gleaned from the archives of the state, and from intelligence collected from gentlemen who were prominent in the times when the deeds were done.

Great Britain having coerced the colonies to a declaration of their independence, the provincial convention of Maryland, on the 3d day of July 1776, passed the following resolutions:
"Resolved, that a new convention be elected for the forming of a new government, and enacting all things for a general weal of this colony."

"Resolved, that all freemen above 21, being freeholders, or having less than 50 acres of land, or having visible property in this colony of the value of 40£ sterling, and non others, shall be only permitted to vote for delegates to the convention."

The inhabitants, breathing the ardent attachment to the American cause which rendered them so conspicuous in the day which "triumphed the souls," obeyed the resolution. The danger was imminent, and universal safety could only be found in the wisdom and energy of counsels. They sought for, and selected, in the spirit of our constitution, the most wise, sensible, and direct of the people."

The delegates met in convention on the 14th of August 1776. It appears that the inhabitants of Prince-George's county agreed to every taxable freeman bearing an
