From the Catakill Recorder. DREAMS.

To dream and to semember your dream, is a sure forerunner that you were not awake, nor very sound asleep, when you dreamed.

To tell all your dreams, prognosticates that you might be better employed.

For a young man to dream of the lasses, foretells that he thought of them before he went to sleep.

For a young lady to dream very particularly of any certain young gentleman, foretells that she purchased her last hat to attract his attention.

To dream of a person's nose, is the forerunner that you have a nose of your own, if you have never lost ger of your having trouble while you are dreaming. To dream of happiness, shows

To dream of trouble, is a harbin-that you will probably be disappointed when you awake. SIGNS.

To hear a dead-watch, denotes that there is a little insect near you. To hear a dog howl is a sure sign that he has lungs, and that you have ears.

To see strange lights, is a sign that there is something to cause them, or that your head is disordered, and that some body will surely die after it.

To see an apparition, or to be bewitched, is an incontestible avidence that you are lacking common

From late London papers.

A NATURAL PHENOMENON Of rare occurrence in this climate, and attended by very singular circumstances was recently observed at Mundesly, in Norfolk. During the sale of some wreck upon the beach, the attention of a person was drawn towards what he conceived to be a ship on fire about a mile from the shore. He immediately pointed it out; but it was accounted for by the supposition that the appearance of smoke arose from the steam vessel passing from the north. An old Capt. however, soon decided that the rising column was a water spout. As they watched this interesting spectacle, on a sudden three new bathing machines laid up for the winter in an opening in the cliff, through which a stream that turns a mill takes its course, were hurried into the air with inconceivable rapidity .- Two of them took their direction towards a house, over which they were forced by the hurricane, breaking in the roof & falling on the other side, they were dashed to atoms.-The third passed over the mill, which was also destroyed by NIUS. Plautus turned a mill. Terence was a slave. Boethius died in a gaol. Paulo Borghese, though he had fifteen different trades, yet star. ved with them all. Tasso was often discressed for theweriest trifle. Servia (one of the suite of Maximillian, Duke of Sully, inhis embas sy to England, during the reign of James the First, and one of the most learned and accomplished men of his age), died drunk in a common brothel. Bentivoglio was refused admittance into the very hospital which he erected. Edmund Allen, the celebrated actor and contemporary of Shakespeare, died in a similar institution of his own. Cor neille, the great French dramatic writer, was so poor, that he has been seen in very advanced old age standing at the entrance of a cobbler's stall, with only one shoe on, while the other was mending; and Racine left his family in such distress as to be supported by a pension: which some of his friends solicited for the disciplination (called by way of disciplination the admirable Crichton,) who was the most learned and dissipate man of his time, lived on the supply of the day, and at least here his his incoming and at length lost his life in a midnight brawl in the public street. Butler's talents, though the delight of the age in which he lived, and his immortal work the principal talk of the court conversation, was never master of 50l. Otway is said to have died with hunger, Camoens ended his days in an hospital, and Vauglas left his body to the surgeoms to pay his debts. Cervantes, the celebrated author of Don Quixotte, after being imprisoned, and meeting many unaccountable slights and hardships, died for want. says I. Here's a bootiful head, says I. the fleet, where he previously existed for some years by soliciting daily charity, and the subscription for works which he never intended to publish. Hickerstaff ran away as much for debt as for the crime imputed to him. Goldsmith was nearly two thousand pounds in debt when he died; & Hugh Kelly, author of False Delicacy, &c. died in just the same condition. Dr. Paul Hiffernan, an author well known about the same period, contracted his last illness. which was a jaundice, from mere want, and was then supported by a friendly subscription. Purdo, a good scholar, and a man of taste, after subsisting for many years as a bookseller's hack, ended his being in an hospital. Jones, author of the Earl of Essex, &c. being run over by a night cart in the street. was carried to an hospital (for want of any other lodging) and was supported there by the master of the Bedford Coffee House till he died. Boyce, one of the earliest contemporaries of Dr. Johnson, and originally a writer with him in the Gen tlemen's Magazine, expired in a miserable garret on Tower Hill.

Sterne, the celebrated author of " Pristram Shandy," though his works sold uncommonly well, and his income as a clergymen, together with his reputation as a writer, might have commanded respect and independence, left a wife and daughter in great distress, dying seven hundred pounds in debt. Mrs. Manby, the author of the original 'Atlantis," and the protegee of Swift, Steele, Prior, &c. finally subsisted on the bounty of Alderman Barber; while Floyer Sydenham, the learned and elegant translator of Plato, was lately supported by one Nott, a publican, near Temple Bar, who having known him in his better days, kindly remembered in the time of sickness and mistortune

BOW-STREET.

Ephraim vs. Stewart .- This was proceeding in limine, by which the plaintiff sought reparation for violence done to his religious scruples and bodily health, by the act of the detendant, inasmuch as he, the plaintiff, being a Jew, the defendant, on Wednesday, the twelfth of this present December, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, in the parish of St. Paul, Covent Garden, did, with malice afore-thought, knock him down with a pig's head, contrary to the statute, and against the peace of our Sovereign Lord the King, &c.

Both plaintiff and defendant pleaded each for himself; no counsel being retained on either side.

Ephraim Ephraim deposed, that he is by profession an orange merchant, carrying on his business in Covent Garden Market; that the defendant, Richard Stewart, is a dealer in pork & poultry in the said market; & that he, the said Richard Stewart, on the day and hour above stated, did thrust a "pig's face" against his cheek with such violence as to throw him backwards into a chest of oranges, whereby he sustained great damage both in mind, body, and merchandize. Plaintiff stated, moreover, that he had previously, and on sundry occasions, forewarned the said Richard, it was contrary to the tenets of his religion to come in contact with pork; and yet, nevertheless, the said Richard did frequently, and from time to time, obtrude pork upon his attention, by holding it up aloft in the market, and calling to him-"Ephraim, will you have a mouthful?" All this, he humbly submitted, betoken great malice and wickedness in the said Richard, and he therefore besought the magistrate to interpose the protection of the law in his behalf.

The Magistrate observed that he was astonished a person of Mr. Stewart's appearance and respectability should be guilty of such conduct; and having explained to him that the law afforded equal protection to the professors of every religion, called upon him for his de-

"May it please your worship," said Mr. Richard Stewart, who is an elderly, well fed man, of a jolly and pleasant countenance-"May it please your Worship, I keeps a stand in Covent-Garden Market, and have done so any time these ten years, and Mr. Ephraim's stand is next to mine. New, your worship, on Wednesday horning I'd a hamper o' pork up outlo' Hertfordshire, and so opened the hamper, and at the top on it lay a nice head; and I takes it and holds it up, and, says I. Here a bootiful head, says your. Worship, it was the most buotiful as ever was, and would done any body's heart good to see it-it was cut so clean off of the quarter (drawing his finger closely across his own neck,) and was so short i' the snout, and as white as a sheet it was, your Worship; quite remarkably handsome. And so I said, says I, Look here! Did ever any body see suck a picture? holding it up just in this manner. With that, 'Ahl' says Mr. Ephraim,' says he, 'now my dream's out-I dream last night that I saw two pig's heads together, and there they are'-meaning my head and the pigs' head, your Worship. Well, I took no notice o' that, but I goes me gent ly behind him, and slides the pig' head by the side of his head, claps me own o' the other side-all a-row with the pig's i' the middle, your Worship; and says I to the folks, says I, Now who'll say which is the honest face of the three!' With that, your Worship, ail the folks fell a laughing, and I goes myself quickly back again to my stall. But poor Ephraim fell in such a passion! Lord! it were a moral to see what a pucker he were in: he danced, and he capered, and he rubbed his whiskers-though I verily believe that the pig's head never touched him-and he jumped and fidgeted about all as one as if he was mad, till at last he tumbled into the orange chest, your Worship, of his own accord, as it were; and that's the long and the short of it, your Worship, as my neighbours here can specify."

His Worship having listened attentively to these conflicting statements, decided that the defendant had acted indecently, insulting the religious feelings of the plaintiff; though, at the same time, the affair was hardly worth carrying to the Sassions, and therefore he would recommend the plaintiff to be satisfied with an apology.

The defendant expressed the greatest willingness to apologise "For," says he, "I have asked another Jew what could make Mr. Ephraim in such a passion, and he told me, your Worship, that if you get a rale Jew and rub him with a bit o' pork, it's the greatest crime as ever was."

Plaintiff and defendant then retired, and the matter was compromised.
