

DESCRIPTION OF A MISER. BY SOUTHEY.

Townsmen. This man of half a million Had all these public virtues which you praise; But the poor man rung, never at his door: And the old beggar at the public gate, Who, all the summer long, stands hat in hand, He knew how vain it was to lift an eye To that hard face. Yet he was always found Among your ten and twenty pounds subscribers, Your benefactors in the Newspapers. His aims were money put to interest In the other world, donations to keep open A running charity account with Heaven: Remaining fees against the last assizes. When, for the trusted talents, strict account Shall be required from all, and the old arch lawyer Plead his own cause as plaintiff.

STRANGER. I must needs Believe you, Sir, these are your witnesses These mourners here, who from their carriages Gape at the gaping crowd. A good March wind Were to be paid for now, to lend their eyes Some decent rheum. The very hiring mute Bears not a face blanker of all emot on Than the old servant of the family! How can this man have liv'd, that thus his death Cost not the soiling one white handkerchief!!!

Townsmen. Who should lament for him, Sir, in whose heart Love had no place, nor natural charity? The parlor spaniel, when she heard his step, Rose slowly from the hearth, and stole aside With creeping pace; she never raised her eyes To woe kind words from him, nor laid her head Uprais'd upon his knee, with fondling whine. How could it be but thus? Arithmetic Was the sole science he was ever taught; The Multiplication table was his Creed; His Paternoster and his Decalogue When yet he was a boy, and should have breath'd The open air and sunshine of the fields, To give his blood its natural spring and play, He in a close and dusky counting-house, Smoke dried, and sear'd, and shiv'led up his heart So, from the way in which he was trained up, His feet departed not; he tot'rd, and moid'd. Poor muck-worm! through his three score years and ten, And when the earth shall now be shovel'd on him If that which serv'd him for a soul were still Within his husk, 'twould still bedirt to dirt.

STRANGER. Yet your next Newspapers will blazon him For industry and honourable wealth, A bright example.

Valuable Land for Sale.

By virtue of a decree of the high court of chancery of Maryland, will be disposed of at public sale, on Tuesday the 21st day of May next, at 12 o'clock, AM if fair, if not on the next fair day thereafter, the farm of the late John Gibson, Esq. called

"The Seven Mountains."

This property is situated in Anne Arundel county, on the north side of Magothy river, and immediately on the shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about seventeen miles from Baltimore, and eight from Annapolis. It is one of the most desirable abodes in Maryland either for one who derives his support from agricultural pursuits, or a man of fortune who is desirous of obtaining an elegant rural retreat.

The soil is fertile, and abundantly stocked with wood, and is peculiarly well adapted to the culture of Indian Corn and Tobacco, and all the products of a garden. It bears every variety of the best and earliest vegetables, and its proximity to Baltimore, and the convenient water transportation which its situation affords, give it advantages as a market farm that are possessed by few others.

It abounds with delicious grapes, and the choicest grafted fruit trees in full bearing. These have been collected with great care, and are now in the most flourishing condition. The water by which the place is almost surrounded, and a fish pond that has been made at considerable expense, afford during the summer season, fish and crabs in the utmost abundance; and in the winter the wild fowl which always throng the shores furnish a plentiful supply for the table of the proprietor, and at the same time a very lucrative article of traffic. The farm is well supplied with the ordinary game of the country, Partridges, Pheasants, &c. and there are also on it a few fallow deer. Its situation is truly delightful. It commands a noble view of the Chesapeake on the east; and on the south & west the Magothy river, and the country on the opposite shore presents a beautiful landscape. The improvements are a commodious frame dwelling house, servants' house, ice house, stables, &c.

This estate will, for the accommodation of purchasers, be divided into three parcels of about two hundred and fifty acres each, every part being bounded on one side by the water. Any person who is disposed to purchase may have an opportunity of viewing the property at any time previous to the day of sale, by calling on Mr. John Gibson, who at present resides on it, and who will point out the boundaries between the different parcels.

THE TERMS OF SALE. Are, one fourth cash, and the remainder to be paid in four equal annual instalments. Bonds with approved security will be required for the payment of that portion of purchase money for which credit allowed. On the payment of the whole of the purchase money deeds conveying the land will be executed. The sale will take place on the premises.

THE CORAL GROVE.

Deep in the wave is a Coral Grove, Where the purple mullet, and gold fish rove, Where the sea-flower spreads its leaves of blue, That never are wet with falling dew, But in bright and changeable beauty shine, Far down in the green and glassy brine. The floor is of sand, like the mountain drift, And the pearl shells spangle the flinty snow; From coral rocks the sea plants lift Their boughs, where the tides and billows flow; The water is calm and still below, For the winds and waves are absent there, And the sands are bright as the stars, that glow In the motionless fields of upper air; There with its waving blade of green, The sea flag streams through the silent water, And the crimson leaf of the dulse is seen To blush, like a banner bath'd in slaughter.

There with a light and easy motion, The fan coral sweeps thro' the clear deep sea; And the yellow and scarlet tufts of ocean, Are bending, like corn on the upland lea; And life, in rare and beautiful forms, Is sporting amid those bowers of stone, And as if, when the wrathful spirit of storms, Has made the top of the wave his own; And when the ship from his fury flies, Where the myriad voices of pean roar, When the wind god frowns in the murky skies, And demons are waiting the wreck of shore; Then far below, in the peaceful sea, The purple mullet, and gold fish rove, Where the waters murmur tranquilly, Through the bending twigs of the coral grove.

EXTRACT-FROM COWPER.

Happy the man who sees a God employed, In all the good and ill that chequer life! Resolving all events, with their effects And manifold results, into the will, Did not his eye rule all things, and intend The least of our concerns, (since from the least The greatest oft originate;) could chance Find place in his dominions, or dispose One lawless particle to thwart his plan; Then God might be surpris'd, and unforeseen Contingence might alarm him, and disturb The smooth and equal course of his affairs.

OF DIVINE PROVIDENCE.

He is not a man of sense who denies either the Being or the Providence of God; there is no wisdom in Atheism; it is "the fool" who says in his heart there is no God." And surely to imagine, that he who made the world, should take no care of the world, which he hath made, but, as it were, forgetting that he had made it, should deliver it up, to chance and fate, is an opinion equally foolish with the other. There are some who well now, that "there be a God, and if he observes and take cognizance of human affairs, he must one day punish them for their villanies and their blasphemies.—Therefore they endeavour to persuade themselves, there is neither a Providence nor a God. And through the corruption of their hearts, and being given over to a reprobate mind, they are so unfortunate as to succeed in their endeavours; and by such they can reduce to a like degree of desperate wickedness, they may be accounted wise men. But he who dwelleth in Heaven, knoweth their devices, and laughs them to scorn. He knows a day is coming when his vengeance will cause them to feel the truths which no evidence would induce them to believe. The greatest and best persons of all ages have believed in "a God who governed the world," and wherein can the wisdom of man consist but in observing and studying the works, and dispensations of that God, from the beginning to this day? How senseless is the man, who passes his life without attending to them. By his mercies and his judgments doth our God continually speak to us, and signify his mind, and show forth the glories of his kingdom, for which we are ever more bound to praise him. The works of the Lord are great, sought out, studied and traced, by all them that have pleasure therein."

Diligently to mark, and carefully to treasure up in our minds, the special Providences of the Almighty is the way to preserve and nourish our faith and hope in him; it furnishes the grounds of our thankfulness and praise; it stirs up our finest feelings, and very best affections towards him, holy joy, humble reverence and hearty love; it supports us under all our sufferings, and affords us comfort in all our sorrows. When adversity presses hard upon a man, when he is stripped of his possessions, and threatened with torture; when enemies persecute, and friends betray or forsake, or when pain and sickness harass him upon his bed, and sleep departs from his eyes lids—gracious Lord, what shall become of him, if at such an hour, a writer shall inform him, that there is no help for him in his God; that the neither Redeemer, nor Creator; that the universe is the sport of contending demons; a scene of rage and desolation, and instead of being "full of the loving kindness of the Lord"; is peopled only with fiends and furies? Before guilt of this infernal die, that of cheating & thieving, of perjury, robbery and murder, melts away and vanishes into nothing.

HOANA.
