Four. Hundred Acres of Land.

Lying in the lower part of Calvert county, about 2 miles from the mouth of Patukent The greater part of this land is covered with wood of a very superior quality and of every descrip tion, viz. hickory, white oak, chesnut, pine, &c. The cleared land, though at this time much reduced, might be easily, and at a trifling expense, made productive, by the use of plaister and clover. The improvements are few, and with the exceptions of a tobacco house, very indifferent. Fifteen or twenty acres of meadow land might be made at a trifling expense. To any person wishing to embark in the wood and timber business, it offers advanta ges equalled by few tracts of the same size in the county, being but a short distance from the head water of a creek navigable for boats carrying thirty cords of wood A more parti cular description is deemed unnecessa ry, supposing persons wishing to pur chase would view the premises Wm. E. Hungerford living near the premises will shew it when called on. The terms will be accommodatingbut a small part will be required in hand, the balance to sui the purchas er. Sale to commence on the twenti-eth of July next, at II clock, AM. THOS. B. HUNGERFORD. June 6

A Farm for Sale.

The subscriber offers for sale a trace of land lying in South River-Neck containing upwards of 300 acres This land, (from the subscriber's own experience) is susceptible of being bro't to a high state of improvement, by the application of clover and plaster; a considerable part of this land is adapted to the growth of wheat, and other grain, and other parts to the cultivation of tobacco. There is a small dwelling house upon the premises 1which will receive an addition sufficient to accommodate a large family by the expiration of the present year, at which time possession will be given;) also other out houses suitable for the purposes of farming and planting. It is deemed unnecessary to give a further description of this land, as it is presumed that persons wishing to purchase will survey the premises before they determine to buy. This land will be sold on very accommodating terms; the purchaser, by paying a part in cash, can have their own time to pay the balance of the purchase money Persons wishing to purchase will please to make application to the subscriber at Williamson's Hotel, Annapolis. Mr. R. Thorn, the present tenant, will show the land to those wishing to purchase. Should the above land not be sold at private sale before Wednesday the 4th day of September next, it will on that day be offered at public auction on the pre mises, and will positively be sold to the highest bidden

EOTOKIHEAW COLLEGES.

The reputation and welfare of Maryland have been deeply afflicted by the fall of this University; and although it is the common duty of every man in the state to endeavour to re construct t, there seems to be something more than an ordinary obligation upon those who claim to be the Alumni of the Institution, to co-operate, and to make one vigorous, united effort, to resuscitate and to restore it to its ancient use fulness and fame, that they may be the special means of transmitting to their descendants, and to posterity generally, the benefits of an Institution which the wisdom of their forefathers had created tor them.

It is therefore respectfully suggested to the Alumni of this University, whereever residing, to hold a meeting on the first Monday in December next, at St John's College in Annapolis, (by permission of the Visitors and Governors.) to take into consideration the practicability of reviving this University, the plan, and the ways and means necessary to effect it.

As the Chancellor of the state is upon the spot, and is always one of the Visitors & Governors of the University, it is also suggested that he be in vited to attend as President of the Con-

Price-Three Dollars per Annum. HE OPINION OF THE COURT OF

on the question, whether a conspiracy to cheat; and defraud a bank, by the officers thereof, is an offence at common law, and punishable in .Maryland?

Court of Appeals, Dec. Term, 1821. THE STATE US BUCHANAN, et. al. (Concluded.)

That case has no other bearing on the present, than as it shows that all indictable conspiracies, are not mbraced by the statute 33 Edward but that at common law a conspiev to do any thing which the law orbids is indictable. In The King s. The Journeymen Tailors of Camidge. 8 Mod. 10. recognized in 6 r. R. 636, the defendants were inicted at common law, and not on the statute of George, for a conspiacy to raise their wages; and it was ield, that the conspiracy was indictable, at common law, though it would ave been lawful for either of them raise his wages if he could. So The King vs. Delaval, 3 Burr. 434, which was a conspiracy to clace a girl by her own consent in the hands of Delaval for the purpose of prostitution. The act of seduction was not of itself an indictable ffence, but it was the end, the immoral object of the conspiracy, which gare it its criminal character. And the case of The King vs. Lord Grey of a similar description. In 1 Hawk. P. C. 190, ch. 72, it is said. there can be no doubt, that all combinations whatsoever, wrongfully to prejudice a third person, are highly riminal at common law." This is literally adopted and transcribed into 1 Burn's Justice 378, and 3 Wil. son's Works 118. Chitty in his 3 Vol. on Criminal Law, 1139, says. in a word all confederacies wrongfully to prejudice another, are mis demeanors at common law, whether the intention is to injure his property, his person or his character." and in 4 Blk. Com. 137. (Christian's note 4,) "every confederacy to injure individuals, or to do acts which are unlawful. or prejudicial to the community, is a conspiracy." The concurring testimony of these writers, that, all conspiracies wrongfully to injure a third person are indictable offences, is not lightly to be re-

Fron every c act, or illegal, ceived, though the positions laid down, are not assumed as full and definite descriptions of the crime of conspiracy; yet they go quite far enough for all the purposes of this prosecution. Indeed the four first were only treating of conspiracies levelled against individuals. And against such is the character of conspira-cy, so ramified is it in its nature, one G pject and tendency of it being that, from which it derives its criminality, that it would be exceedingly difficult to give a single specific definition of the offence. But by a course of decisions running through a space of more than four hundred years, from the reign of Edward the IIId to the 59th of George the IIId, without a single conflicting adjudication, these points | Dutton are clearly settled:-1st. That the offence of conspiracy is of common law origin, and not restricted or abridged by the absolu statute 33 Edward I.

2d. That a conspiracy to do any act that is criminal per se, is an in- tendin dictable offence at common law, for which it can scarcely be necessary to offer any authority.

Sd. That an indictment will lie vers at common law-1st. For a conspi- ment racy to do an act not illegal, nor in others punishable if done by an individual, curing but immoral only—as in The King | an inc vs. Lord Grey and others, and the presen case of Sir Francis Blake Delaval. 2d. For a conspiracy to do an act have neither illegal nor immoral in an jury individual, but to effect a purpose, out the which has a tendency to prejudice tion; the public-as in The King vs. The terms Journeymen Tailors of Cambridge, of the for a conspiracy to raise their wages, be litt either of whom might legally have | dents done so, and The King vs. Edwards | cases and others. 3d. For a conspiracy good; to extort money from another, or to the co injure his reputation by means not indictable if practised by an individual, as by verbal defauration, and spiral that, whether it be to charge him tenor
