

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED

BY

JONAS GREEN

CHURCH-STREET, ANNA

Price Three Dollars per

WEEKLY ALMANAC

20 - JANUARY	Sun Rises	H. M.
2 Thursday	7	21
3 Friday	7	21
4 Saturday	7	20
5 Sunday	7	19
6 Monday	7	18
7 Tuesday	7	18
8 Wednesday	7	17

MISCELLANEOUS

MAN AND WOMAN

Man is the rugged, lofty pine,
That frowns on many a wave Woman's the slender, graceful Whose curling tendrils round it And deck its rough bark sweet

Man is the rock, whose towering Nods o'er the mountain's bar Woman's the soft and mossy That loves to clasp its sterile And wreath its brow in verdant

Man is the cloud of coming storm Dark as the raven's murky plume Swe where the sun-beam, light Of woman's soul, and woman's Gleams brightly o'er the gloom

HOLY DYING.

Calm is the parting hour,
When death with sovereign Throws o'er the righteous soul chain;
Nor doubt, nor dread attend
While round him lov'd ones But peace celestial marks the He sees the links of earth Part; and his final birth To perfect holiness, with rapture Behold a vale of tears,
In cloud and shade appears Before the heaven bright field of His friends hang round and While like an infant sleep
The enlivened lethargy of death
And for his eye the glaze Falls, and the spirit's blaze Flashes for once, and all of earth
How silent, like the breath Of morning, was that death
No agony, nor torturing thought
And that a holy smile Plays round those lips the
And now like heaven's own is fall.

O! may my footsteps tread
The path by virtue led,
And God's own day star, till I
And when I lay me down To sleep, O! may the Shine on my eye, that circles round

JERUSALEM.

From travels in the Holy Land in the year 1820.

To reach Jerusalem, from Be veiler has to cross, for the ex three miles, plains tolerably w those of the ancient Arimate The rising sun illumined, and the hills of Latroun. "This Dragonian to me, 'tis the b Barabbas the murderer, and who look into this well for a time are sure to see the figure of blood."

We next entered deep vallie tion gradually becoming we scarcely, until it ceased, altho the valleys to Jerusalem the redish & ungrateful, while i the only objects which meet immense mounds of ruins, bo torrents, and winding roads, flints; decayed cisterns, at t which is a greenish waste, st mountains in the contour; st to the lamentations of Jeremi lithine vale which prepares the strong and terrible impr on it by the sight of Jerusale
The sun was about to set, the summit of a mountain, in a flinty road, separated by fields that were covered with ceived at length some rampa vast edifices surrounded by and blackened points of rock ed to have felt the lightning was Jerusalem. A few ch ruins, were here and there te mountain top, and in the back naked chain of the mount Deter's. Appalled and seiz voluntary terror, we saluted the first sight of which has effect on the senses as the downfall of the Jewish nation on the mind.

The gate of Bethlehem o which our caravan made its far distant from the convent fathers missionaries of the whose exemplary display of ception was marked. They mense house, the gate of w was continually open to pi those that suffer, is as con to the insults of the Mussel and decayed, with iron fas ing entered it, a vaulted pas to an inner court, provided adjoining staircases, which cloisters, and to the churo that these courageous moun ed life, giving to struggle d persecutions of the Turks, the Greeks, and a fond yea native home. Although b many different nations, I he their sweet voices in sw with that of the native triba A month, whose skill in th greatly also, and they fa