PROPOSALIS

FOR FURLISHING
THE MARYLAND GAZETTE AND ATTACK HIS CISTER.

Uner a new and improped Pleas.
The Editor of the Maryland Gazette, designs making a considerable shainge in the plas and character of his paper, The recsens which induce him to adopt, this meamer are various, and they whall be briefly estated.

The Maryland Gazette was established in The Maryland Gazette was established in the year 1735; by one of the accestors of the present editor. It was preceded in its publication, but by three other papers on this Continent, all of which it has survived. It is therefore at prejent the oldest paper in America. From the period of its establishment, until the year 1813, it preserved the tame obstactor, and the same title; anterior to this period, it was strictly a vehicle of general intelligence—it was not devoted to the views and objects of any particular party, but its columns were accessed. Mar party, but its columns were accessible to all. At the commencement of that year (a most momentous period in the history of our country.) it was deemed necessary to give to it a new character; and the letter to designis que fature course, an addition of the columns of the estire to designize its faure course, an additional title also; it was henceforward called the Maryland Gazette and Political Incelligencer. At this period great political excitement prevailed, and party spirit raged with uncontroled violence—our country men were divided into two great parties the measures of the general government. Being forced by this state of things to the a part in the political contests of the diliberation, the editor, after the maturest deliberation, and with the fullest conviction of his under etanding, resolved to advocate, exclusively, that policy which was recommended by the federal party. If we differed from a majo rity of his country men, he differed honest ly; and whether his views and sentiments were erroneous or not, they were the dic tates of the purest patriotism, and proceeded from an ardent desire to promote, what he conceived to be, the best of terests of his country. Butthese scenes have passed away eduntry. Buttheseseenes naw passed away —times have changed — & the stuation of our country is now very different. We are in the full enjoyment of almost every national blessing—we are not only exempt from the horrors of war, but we are every where blessed with plenty and abundance. Our commerce, our agriculture, and our manu (actures are comparatively flourishing—far more so perhaps than in any other quarter of the globe. But above all, the demon of or the globe. But anove all, the demon of party spirit is now laid, and we trust for writ; the "cia of good leetings" has now; we hope, indeed arrived, when the only contest will be, who can do his country most service; and when in appointment to office, the only questions asked will be, Is he honest? Is he capable? Is he virtuous?". To Mr. Monroe much praise must be accorded for that state of harmony, which has for some time past pervaded our country -so wise has been the course of policy that he wise has been the course of policy that he has pursued, that he has satisfied all parties, and lett us nothing to dispute about. So great then has been the change of circum stances which a few years have produced, not only in our own country, but in Europe also, that the Editor deems it no longer accessors to explain this paper, as the ger necessary to continue his paper as the advocate of any particular political party. Its columns will henceforth be open to all who may choose to avail themselves of them wishes to make it emphatically a State Pa-per. By this expression, he means a paper, whose province it will be to uphold and maintain the honour and dignity of the state - to promote her prosperity by diffus-ing such information with regard to her resources and her means of internal im provement, as he may be enabled to obtain As an indication of the future character of his paper, he has given to it the new title of Ntale Register. It will infuture become the repository of all state documents, and of such other information as may tend to of such other information as may tend to elucidate the history of the state, or promote its improvement and prosperity — It will also be the object of the Editor to presen his patrons with the earliest intelligence, foreign or domestic; and he will be particularly eareful to devote a due portion of his paper to the interests of Agriculture, Manufactures, and Demestic Economy.— With this statement & his objects and his patronage of the public—Should it be favoured with their support, he will endeavour not to disappoint the expectation that may be excited.

without any other restrictions than requiring decency of language, the avoiding o personalities, and correctness of composi-tion. But it will be the peculiar object of the Editor to render his paper subservient to the best interests of this own state—He may be excited.

may be excused.

If sufficient encouragement be afforded, the paper will be enlarged to an imperial size, and printed with a new type.
