The visitors and governors of St.

John's College, being desirous to ren-der this institution as extensively useful as may be practicable, and to diffuse the benefits and blessings of edu cation, as far as is in their power, have reduced the price of tuition money to 24 dollars per annum The visitors and governors feel perfectly justified in recommending to the public, the taents, assiduity, and deportment of the faculty, employed to superintend the instruction of the pupils, as well as the discipline which has been adopted in the institution, and which is faith fully, mildly, but energetically enforced. The visitors have not been un mindful of the accommodation of students coming from a distance; they are fully sensible of the tender solicitude of parents for the morals, the health and domestic comforts of their children when separated from them; and have made arrangements, whereby students may be boarded in the most respectable families for 120 dollars; making the total expense for tuition and board only 144 dollars per annum. In consequence of the serious lusses heretofore sustained by the institution from the failure of pupils to pay for their education, the visitors have deemed it expedient for sometime past, that the tuition money be paid quarterly in advance, and no pupil can be re-ceived into the College, without a compliance with this rule-a rule which most other public seminaries have found it necessary to adopt. The visitors and governors avail themselves of this occasion, to assure the public, that their endeavours to der St. John's College a b essing to the community, and an ornament to the state, shall be steady and unremitted; and hey feel an honest conviction that under the steady and energetic system pursued, St. John's will once more stand proudly amongst the fore-most literary institutions of the land, again resume its ancient reputation and dignity, become the nursery of valuable citizens for the commonwealth, and rear up from the tising generations, ornaments to their fami-
