"Every day fresh measures of severy are put in force against all those who had any employment, civil or military, make the Constitutional system. The Commissive of Police of Madrid have to day see in to the Superintendent General of the department detailed lists of all those whe either as militiamen or civil amploys; so companied the King to Seville and Case and who are now residing in the capital, in order that they should be compelled to tan Madrid, and remove to a distance of abeat fifteen leagues. Informations have a fifteen leagues. Informations have the been taken relative to numbers of person suspected of not being warmly attached to the present Government, or of earrying as a secret correspondence with the Liberts who have taken refinge in England or Garaltar. Some of these persons have been resulted. Such is the taken formation of the secretary of the arrested. Such is the state of fermentation in which some of the provinces are, that the Government will have no little difficulty in reducing things to order. The po-ple, determined to take vengeance for the late revolutionary movements at Tarifa an Atmeria, estaves, considerational defining. and outrage and assassinate the unfortu meet them. Hence not a day passes he deputies from the provincial monicipals to put an end to the excesses which are to king place. At Cordova the frenzy of the populace was such that they forced the gua of the prison, where they committed every species of cruelty and outrage to the crysto-

The result has been that twenty defents less prisoners were murdered, besides a great number wounded. Within the lut ew days two deputies from Cordova har an armed force to that city, to restore tran-quility. At Alcols, Guadalaxara, Cuend, and several other parts of the provinces Pioxa, scenes of the most serious natur havetaken place, and which, if not promp-ly put a stop to, will spread, and at lengu end in a general anarchy, unless merey where there happens to be a French gis-rison.—The day before yesterday he gan away several decorstions; and amongs toth eventue Grand Cross of the brider of Unaide life the Duke of Villangeners. havetaken place, and which, if not promi III. to the Duke de Villahermosa. By the last mail from An alusia, we lean that symptoms of disaffection had show themselves at Cordova, which led to attenut, and the loss of nearly a hundred lied of the Liberal party, and the pillage of number of their houses by the Royslista. The Constitutionalists have been misselved the constitutionalists have been misselved to the constitution of the constitu support to be derived from their friends i the Peninsula. It is evident that dissatistat French troops. Submission for the present seemed to prevail with every body, con sequently none were prepared to co-operate, and the attempts lately made of raising the country partly for this reason and partly the the activity of the French, have ever where failed of success. We hear of 22 tresh disturbances. Numerous arrests & the public that many days elapsers the public that many knowledge of the and then they appear not as a novelty, to matters of coarse.

The Election takes place in North-Carolina this day. The friends of Mr. Crawford in that take are truly san-guine, and from the we have learned, there is every ruben to believe that she will choose fifteen electors favourble to him.

FATAL RENCONTRE. Last Tuesday an elderly man, named Laurent, who lives in the vicinity of the River Rouge, about six miles from this place, perceived two Indians in his field digging potatoes. He immediately went up to them and requested them to leave the theid—they refused; on which, he took one by the shoulder and endeavoured to push him out of the field—the Indian resisted, him out of the field—the Indian resisted, and in the scuffle, threw Laurent down. A son of Mr. L. is youth about sixteen years—of age, at this time haw the situation of his father, and estching a club, ran to his as sittance. On coming up he perceived the Indian that was unengaged, with a knife in his hand, in the act of striking his father, and struck him so severe a blow upon the lead as to cause his immediate death, and then reserved his father from the hands of then rescued his father from the hands of the other. A number of Indians a few hours after, assembled near the spot, which caused some alarm in the neighbourhood, and in the evening a party of troops, under Capt Webband Lient Walker, marched to the place; but it was ascertained that the Indians assembled only for the purpose of burying their comrade—they have shown no intention to revenge his death.
We have given the above particulars pre-cisely as they were related to us.

Montreal, Oct. 30 .- Boundary Line.

The commissioners for settling the boundary line, after deliberating for three days, adjourned on Wednesday last. We understand that they have determined the line between this place and take Erie, but it appears, from what we have been enabled to learn that some difficulties are in the way of the commissioners respecting some other portions of the country, the line is to be fixed, which we hope may be amicably adjusted at their next meeting, without having recourse to the opinion of an umpire, agreeably to the articles at the treaty of Ghent, relative to the determining what is to be the exact boundary of the two countries, Mesers, Barclay, Dr. Bigsby Hale, and Thompson, are employed on the part of the British government; and Gen. Porter, and Messrs. Fergu son and Delafield, on that of the United States. The latter gentlemen, we hear, left this place on Thursday. The former had not quitted the Mansion House yesterday.

It is mentioned, in the London papers, that Mr. Owen has come to this country for the purpose of pur-chasing Mr. Rapp's settlement of Harmony, upon the Wabash, where he intends to form an establishment upon a plan somewhat similar to that of the Harmonites-that is, each person labouring in common for the benefit of the whole, and possessing qual-interests. A London paper remarks that this system of living will answer better athe enlightened people of England. -The Harmonites, it is said, are about returning to the state of Pennsylvania.

Here, we believe, the European System is reversed, and the President is responsible, and not the Cabinet.

GEN. LAFAYETTE, who is travelling in the United States, is every where received with the same enthusiastic welcome which marked his landing on the American shores. The public prints of that country (which we regret we have not room io quote) devote a large portion of their columns to the details of his interesting journey; and the deep feeling of patriotism and joy which his presence inspires, though to a cold observer it may appear romantically intense, must afford the veteran soldier of independence a gratification which monarchs might envy, and is highly honourable to the American character. We should think little indeed of any country that could forget the services of an early and disinterested friend-and perhaps, better compliment a free people by considering such a demonstration of national grafitude as a matter of course, than holding it up as an example of patriotic Liverpool Mercury. virtue much amusement was afforded on one occasion, in the criminal court by the method taken by a witness, who could neither read or write, nor speak English to identify a piece of writing. His name was Charles House, and he was the prosecutor in a case in which two fellows stood indicted for defrauding him of money, under pretence ing him of money, under pretence of having a civil bill decree against him. Through the medium of an interpreter, House appeared to be one of the most stupid and incomprehensible of witnesses, though, as it would seem, he really was not deficient in understanding. The prisoners, when they had obtained prisoners, when they had obtained the prosecutor's money, and given him a receipt for it, and this receipt of the examination, to prove. It or the examination, to prove. It was shown to House, and to was asked if he could swear it was the same which backers given him by the prisoners? Charley made no answer, but with great deliberation proceeded to search his pockets.

At length he drew forth an old tin snuff box, opened it with great caution, at last he produced a bit of paper. This precious morceau he then, without uttering a word, applied to the paper which he was called upon to identify, when it at once appeared that the scrap was torn from this paper.-The thing was evident, and required no words. During the laught r which this dis-play of orieness occasioned, Char-ley looked about him with a smile of triumplatud self congratulation playing on his lips. The Chief Justice afterwards remarked "that the only intelligible evidence which Mr. Charles House had given was that in which he said nothing." Dublin M. Post.

He possessed in an eminent degree, every qualification necessary to ensure distinction in the profession to which he had devoted nimself from choice. Ambitious of honourable fame, he never feared danger; and a fixed determination to perform his duty threw him into scenes of suffering, toil and difficulty, which few have the spirit or constitution to endure. He was generous as he was pane too, a foreigner; and we should tient, brave and daring; and withal unassuming and contiliatory in his dis-position, and had a temper as finely at-tuned to all the consibilities of our na-ture, as the most rigid practical moralist could require. In fine, he was a valuable officer. Among those with whom chance or destiny may have cast him, his loss will be universally deplored, and his messmates will dwell with a melancholy recollection on the many times he has parted with his last dollar to relieve the distressed.—He is another victim to the climate of Thompson's Island.
