WEDDING IN THE WATER ... The WEDDING IN THE WATER.—The citizens of Bridgeport, on the margin of the river, at the mouth of Indian Weeling Creek, were lately not a fittle amused at the expense of two lovers, who were determined on committing matrimony, and tailed in procuring a matriage license, directed them to a person who, he said, had lately been elected a justice of the pease, but had not yet received a commission, in consequence of which he could not marry people in this state, but that he had ample authority in Virginia. Being near night no time was lost in finding the person to whom they had been directed, who readily agreed to marry them on the Virginia site of the line. To save the trouble of crossing agreed to marry them on the Virg mixing of the line. To save the trouble of crossing to the Island, it was proposed that they should wade into the river, cross the line, and there perform the ceremony. To this they instantly assented. The people had confected to see the tun, when all repaired to the water's edge. Upon examination by those who professed to know, the state his was discovered to be eshort distance from the shore. With a willing step the groun the shore. With a willing step the ground centured in, accompanyed by his loving bride, the attendants and the 'Squire, and waded into Virginia, where they lound shemselves to the depth of three feet in wathemselves to the depth of three feet in water. After fortifying the muscles of his face in order to prevent an untimely disco. very of his assumed authority, the grare Justice joined them in the bonds of wedlock. As soon as they regained the shore, the happy pair were greeted by all present. The bride was more than once saluted with kisses and Indian crackers.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

The appointment by the President, and the senate, of Col. Roger Jones, as Adjutant-General of the army of the United States, will afford unmingled satisfaction to all who are capable of duly appreciating the character of this excellent officer. Col. Jones has resided in this city for the last three years in the command of Fort Severn; but by virtue of his late appointment, it has become necessary for him to renove to the City of Washington. To the character of the accomplished soldier, he unites that of the polished gentleman. The urbanity of his manners, the correctness of his deportment, and the amiable qualities of his heart, have secured for im the esteem, the respect and the affection of all who have had the pleasure of his acquaintance. The itizens of Annapolis, anxious to afford him, previous to his departure, some testimonial of the high steem which they entertain for his character, invited him to partake of a dinner, which was yesterday served up at Mrs. Robinson's Boarding-House, in a style of superiour elegance, taste and neatness. Among the guests who were present on the occasion were Lieutenants Lendrum and Davidson, two valuable and excellent officers, who have long been attached to Col. Jones' command in this city; Dr. Randall of the U. S. army, and Capt. Ni tholeon and Dr. Ray of the U. S. navy. In a few days Col. Jones will take his departure, to commence he duties of his new appointment. His removal from our city, with his amiable family, will be deeply lamented by numerous friends, who will feel a sincere interest in their future welfare and happiness. tract of a letter from a gentleman in George-Town, dated March 12. We have just received the most attering account from our colony, LIBERIA, in Africa. The people re well, and conducting themselves with great propriety. They are building fifty houses, clearing and ultivating as many plantations. & arrying on five public buildings. most interesting circumstance ocurred there lately; two slave ships, one French and the other Spanish). with large cargoes of goods, were riven on shore, and wrecked close y their town, Monnovia. They aved the crewe, and a large cortion of their goods, took the nen and officers as ore, and treatd them with great kindness, till ich of them as survived, (a great umber died,) procured a vessel to ake them home. They received or their services to these poor retches, about 3.000 dollars worth f goods and provisions. This ocneed not fear the want of support, when we see even the slave traders nade to help us.

DE WITT CLINTON
We are pleased to see it as reed hat Mr. Clinton has declined acepting the mission to England.— We much regret that his useful taof have not been brought into e cabinet of the nation.

GEN. JACKSON.

The upright and magnatimons character of this chent man was never truly known until the termi-nation of the recent presidential question. The American people have been most agreeably disappointed in him. In the inexperienced but intrepid and skilful soldier, we find the prudence and sagacity of the consummate states-

The many inquiries which have already beneate to us for a peru sal of the letter, afore its publication, leaves no subt of its being read every where with satisfaction. His sarcasms upon Mr. CLAT's subtile letter to judge Brooke, of Virginia, are highly merited and couched in the most decent and unexceptionable terms.

The sever castigation which is inflicted upon Mr. Clay is not the only merit General Jackson's letter. It breathes such a pure spirit of patriotism, and manifests such an independence of feeling that cannot fail of enhancing him in the estimation of all who read it. The solid & incontrovertible reasoning, too, with which it is so replete, at once, refutes the too common assertion of his being no logician.

It is a happy run, k of Swift's, that the peckings of hird mark the best fruit—and so will the criticisms of blockheads shew us more plainly the merits of General Jackson's Alex. Herald.

MR. CLAY.

From the Alexandria Herald.

The papers from the western states are just beginning to reach, us, and as we anticipated, express much dissatisfaction with the course which Mr. Clay has pursued towards Gen. Jackson. But we regret to find the feelings of the people too much heated on the subject. A calm expression of disapprobation, would comport better with their character than such disagreeable doings as we copy below, from the Knoxville (Tennessee) Register of the 25th ult. The Register says-

"The news of the Presidential election arrived here on last Tuesday. Such was the popular excitement and indignation that on the same evening the Efficy of Hen-RY CLAY, after being paraded thro' the streets on horseback, was burnt, Notwithstanding the very general feeling of disgust at the course of Mr. Clay, many would, no loubt, have preferred giving vent to their disappointment in a milder ay.

"A similar expression of public sentiment was exhibited at Rutledge on the preceding evening."

PRESIDENT WASHINGTON.

The subjoined letter from president Washington to General Schuvler was writtensoon after his first election. At this time, when a new President has just been inaugurated, it is interesting to be reminded of the views and feelings with which the first President entered on the duties of his office.

New York, May 9, 1789.

DEAR SIR:- I yesterday had the pleasure to receive your favour of the 3d inst. and must beg you to accept of my most grateful acknow ledgment for your good wishes and kind gratulations upon my entrance on a new and arduous task. It is only from the assurances of support which I have received from the respectable and worthy characters in every part of the Union, that I am enabled to overcome the diffidence which I have in my own abilities to execute my great and important trust to the best interests of our country. An honest zeal, and an unremitting attention to the interest of United America, is all that I dare promise. The good dispositions which seem, at present, to pervade every class of people, afford reason for your observation, that the clouds which have long darkened our political hemisphere are now dispersing, and that America will soon feel the effects of her natural, advantages. That invisible hand, which has so often interposed to save our country from impending destruction, seems in no instance to have been more remarkably exerted than in that of disposing the people of this extensive continent to adopt, it a peaceable manner, a constitution which, if well administered, bids fair to make America a happy nation.

With very sincere regard and es-teem, I am, Dear Sir, your most obedient and humble servant.
