W. C. Conine,

Tenders to his friends, patrons, and the public generally, his sincere acknowledgements for the munificent patronage extended to him on the Fourth Class of the Maryland State Lostery, and does hims if the pleasure now of presenting the Pitth Class of said lotteries, wherein he calculate, with liberal support, to have the satisfaction of distribution among the adventurer, as he distributing among the adventurer, as he did in the last class, a number of bluable distributing among the adventurers, as he did in the last class, a number of aluable prizes.

The scheme it is expected will elicit general approbation, from the brilliancy of its capable, the great number of valuable prizes contained in it, and the comparatively low rate of tickets, added to the very superior mode of drawing, combining expedition, connected with an object the last, by far not of the least mortance, which is the simplicity of the principle of drawing; being auch, as that it is presumed, there is none who can lead this, but will fully comprehend it, by the explanation given in the scheme below. This advantage (by the observations of many) it seems is not apparent to the generality of people in some of the recent devised lotteries, however otherwise convect they may be in their principles of drawing. In short it is believed, and will no doubt be conceded on all sides, that the prisent State Lottery of Marsland, is possessed of all the great easentials of a lottery, viz. A large proportion of prizes in he scheme, according to the number and price of fickets, with simplicity in plan and despatch in drawing, from which it is presumed, that its extensive patronage will be in a proportionate degree.
