PROPOSITION TO AMEND THE NA-TURALIZATION LAWS.

The following resolution was submitted to the House of Representatives on the 17th inst. by Mr. J. C. WEEMS. the representative from this district. It relates to an interesting subject, and may, as we trust it will, lead to a reon of the naturalization laws of the United States, and a removal of many of the impediments which now existo aliens being clothed with the privileges of native citizens. In the preceding page we insert a brief lew-ol the several laws as they now stand.

On motion of Mr. WEEMS, of Ma-

Whither the political condition of the Island of Hayte shall be brought at all into discussion at the meeting, may be a question for preliminary advisement. There are in the political constitution of Government of that Feople, circumstances witch have hitherto feetidan the acknowledgment of them by the Government of the United States, as sovereign kind-pointal. Additional reasons for withshing that acknowledgment have recently lease in in their acceptance of a nominal receiptly by the grant of a foreign prince; unto and the grant of a foreign prince; unto the concession by them, of each sing commercial advantages to be nation, which all delegates to be nation, which all delegates to be nation, which all of retaining I title of independence but the another continuity of the potential toin'll be instructed to present these views with describing at Parama: and should they at be converted in, to deckine acceding to any grangement which may be proposed upon a facility frinciples.

strengthent which may be proposed upon a fercial principles.
The condition of the Islands of Cuba and Peter Rico is of deeper import and more impediate barring upon the present interest and four propects of our union. The currespondence herewith transmitted will show how towardly this engaged the attention of this bornment. The invasion of both those Islands by the United forces of Mexico and Combia, is arouvedly among the objects to be actually by the beliggerent States at Panama. The consultions of their population, they would keekly, in the event of such an invasion, and literager therefrom resulting of their fulling walling into the hands of some European low, other than Spain, will not admit of as looking at the consequences to which the longues at Panama may lead, with ind figures. It is unnecessary to enlarge upon this time, or to say more than the all our of the consequences.

longues at Panama may lead, with ind fig. the. It is unnecessary to enlarge upon this hais, or to say more than that all our efficient reference to this interest, will be to prome the existing state of things, the transating of the lilands, and the peace and securily of the lilands, and the peace and securily of their inhabitants.

The Congress of Panama is believed a premia a fair occasion for urging upon all the new nations of the South, the just a first principles of religious librity. My any interference whatever in their interest creates, but by claiming for our citiand concerns; but by claiming for our citi- universal complaint.

them to acceptable to introduce and them to acceptable principes of two hipping their Orative accounts to the dictales of their ones constitutes. This privilege, sanctioned by the automary law of nations, and secured by the automary law of nations in numerous national compacts, sourced even to our numerous national compacts, sourced even to our numerous national compacts, sourced even to our numerous national national control in the cutted American is yet to be obtained in the after South American States and Mexico. Existing prejudices are still struged in the ather South American States and Mexico. Existing projudices are still strug-gling against it, which may, perhops, be more successfully combatted at this general meeting than at the separate seats of Government of each Republic.

I can scarcely deem it otherwise than super-fluous, to observe, that the Assembly will be fluous, to observe, that the Assembly will be in ils nature diplomatic, and not legislative, That nothing cambe transacted there obligatory upon any que of the States to be represented at the meeting, unless with the express conturnence of its own Representatives, nor even then, but subject to the ratification of its constitutional authorities at home. The fuith of the United States to foreign Power cannot otherwise be pledged. I shall indeed, in the first instance, consider the Assembly as merely consultative; and although the Plenipotentiaries of the United States will be empowered to receive and refer to the consideration of their Government, any proposition. Som the other parties to the meeting, they will be authorised to conclude nothing, unless subject to the defito conclude nothing, unless subject to the defi-nitive sanction of this Government, in all its constitutional forms. It has, therefore, seemed to be unnecessary to insist, that every object to be discussed at the meeting, should be ject to be discussed at the meeting, should be specified with the precision of a juricial sentence, or enumerated with the exactness of a mathematical demonstration. The purpose of the meeting itself is to deliberate upon the great and common interests of several new and neighbouring nations.

Claims to St. Domingo Indemnities. The following is published as were the former paper on the same subject. by the Department of State, for the information of those who are interested in these claims.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Brown to the Secretary of State.

Pacis, January 2, 1826.

Sir —On the 30th ult. I called on the Count de Villele. President of the Council and Minister of Finances, with the design of obtaining some additional information respecting the claims of such of the ancient colonists of St. Do. mingo as are now residing in the United States. He informed me that the doubt which had been suggested by the Commission named to take the preparatory measures, to give effect to the Ordinance, as to the right of those residing in foreign contries to claim any portion of the independent of the question, been removed, and that they would receive their full share of the superior transfer. ceive their full share of the sum stipu lated for in that ordinance. He ob served that the principle adopted in the Law which passed at the last session of the Chambers for granting an indemnity to the Emigrants, was wholly inapplicable to the case of the colonists of St. Domingo; that in the first case the indemnity was allowed and paid by France, and that every Proprietor residing within, the Kingdom, not even excepting those who received the indemnity, contributed a portion of the amount; whereas, in the latter instance the indemnity was allowed, and would be paid by the Haytien Government as a compensation to the former inhabitants of the stand for the loss of their property. The rules to be followed in obtaining proofs, and in making the distribution, he observed, were not vet fixed and settled, but he recommended it as proper that the claimants should collect all the testimony in their power, whether documentary or by, witnesses, all of which he said, if transmitted to France, should be received and carefully considered. To facilitate the collection of testimony, he observed that it might be taken before any of the Authorities of the General or State Governments. who by our laws are competent to that duty, and that the signatures might be authenticated as in other instances where documents are legalized for the purpose of being received in foreign He requested me to assure the President that His Majesty's Government entertained lively sentiments of gratitude for the kind and compassionate reception and treatment which the unfortunate sufferers of St. Domingo had experienced in the United States; that he highly appreciated this renewed proof of our sympathy in their misfortunes; and that he would feel great satisfaction in imparting to me from time to time such information as might assist them in establishing their claims. I informed him that I was instructed to say that the Government of the United States would feel great pleasure in giving all possible assistance in promoting a purpose at once so just and so bene-

INTERESTING-Authentic.-Exdated the 22d of February. On the 19th inst. a Spanish squadron, consisting of five frigates and a schooner, under Commodore La Borde, sailed for St. Jago de Cuba, transporting 1200 troops, and will proceed thence on a cruize to the Coast of Colombia No pains and expense have been omitted in equipping it, so that it is many years since the Spanish Navy has had so brillian and efficient a division of vessels in operation. - They are provisioned for a five months cruise, and from the Commodore down to the cabin boy, have all received their pay in advance to that time. Instead apprehending the preparations making by the enemy to invade this island, that fleet has gone to meet him on his own shores. It is with no ordinary feelings of pain and regret, we announce the death of William C. Somerville. It will be remembered that Mr. S. had been recently appointed Charge d'Affairs, to the Court of tockholm, and that he had been detailed for several months in this country by a severe indisposition, occasioned by the rupture of a blood-vessel in the lungs. He took his final departure in the ship with General Lafayette, before his health was perfectly restored, in the hope that a short resi-dence in the South of France would invigorate his constitution, and enable him to enter upon his duties in Sweden, with the return of warm weather. But he has been constantly declining ever since his arrival at Paris, and had strength only to proceed about 40 leagues to the south of it? where he died in the early part of January. Our let ters from Paris state that arrangements were making to have him interred at La Grange, in compliance with his re-It may be interesting to his family to know that his confidential papers were left by him, before his departure from Paris, in the hands of our Minis Wr. Brown. Mr. Somerville was a young man of amiable and accomplished manners, of high literary attainments, and of sound political Such qualifications authorised his friends to look forward to his doing honour to his country, and acquiring regulation for himself in the mission which has been prematurely broken up.

A letter from the American Consul in Paris, dated the 24th of January, states that the body of Col. S. was intered at La Grange on the 19th.

RUSSIA, according to late accounts, is quietly settling down under the auspices of the Emperor Nicholas, and Constantine seems to be the most devoted of all the humble sycophants in the Russian Empire, declaring in good set terms, that his junior brother gracious lord and master, thus reversing the celebrated order of primogeniture, which in other countries makes the younger too often the humble dependent of the elder brother. -The docility of Constantine through out this business, is certainly a remarkable trait in his character, and whatever other foibles he may possess, ambi-tion can not be ranked with them—having the attachment of the army, the will of the people, and the spontaneous consent of his brother, acknowledging his right to the throne, it is difficult to account' for the influence which induced him to abandon the power already within his grasp—The Empress mother, with all her intrigue, backed by the influence of the Court of Prussia, which had been sufficiently displayed in the little trick of the Almanack, could effect nothing against Constantine, seat-ed on his throne and maintained by the decided affection of the whole army and nation. - Nicholas having already pronation.—Nicholas naving already pro-claimed his brother, and taken the oath to obey him as Sovereign of Russia, broke the link of connection that may have been forced in secret between his father-in-law of Prussia and the Empress mother, for the purpose of elevating him to the throne, and secured to Constantine the attachment of the only rival who could dispute his claim to govern. With all these advantages, there is scarcely one of royal mould in Europe, or elsewhere, that would have thought of a promise extorted under peculiar circumstances, or have listen ed for a moment to the suggestions of a woman whose sole motive seemed to be the gratification of a weak revenge.

> ROTRECERE OBITUARY.

Died, in this city, on the night of the 15th inst. Mr. ROBERT WRIGHT, of a pulmonary consumption, in the 18th year of his age. At the age of 14 he was placed in this office to learn the printing business; here the amiableness of his disposition, and his correct and obedient deportment, gained him the esteem and affection of all associated with him. He sunk into the grave cheered with the hope that through the merits of the Redeemer, his soul would enjoy the rest prepared for the blessed.

COMMUNICATED. Died, on Wednesday the 15th inst in the 34th year of her age, Mrs. Ett ZABETH O. GROVES, consort of Solo mon Groves, Esq. of Anne-Afunde county, near South River, after a short illness, which she bore with the atmos fortitude and resignation to the Divine Will of her Redeemer. Her character was exemplary; she was a dutiful and affectionate Wife, a kind Mistress, and a warm and generous Friend, to all who came within the circle of her acquaintance; and eve. when her trembling spirit was about to take its flight to the mansions of bliss, she evinced the utmost composure and willingness to quit this scene of trouble. She has left an aged mo ther, and disconsolate husband, with a numerous train of relatives, to mourn her loss, and endeavour to imitate her good example.
