TO THE ELECTORS
OF THE THIRD CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.
Gentlemen,
Having done me the honor of confiding a part of your interest to me in charge, I ask permission in this way to offer you my thanks, and to assure you, that every exertion shall be made on my part to promote your, and our country's interest, by endeavoring to preserve peace as long as it is safe and honorable to do so, and to prevent more from the bond of Union, and to present so happily existing between the United States, by the most just liberal extension of equal rights to their citizens and sovereign rights; keeping in remembrance the spirit of our declaration of our ancestors, "that citizens are all born free and equal," will be my first object to forget, as far as possible, the attempted injuries my political enemies, believing that have few or none, except of that class and such, I hope, will now, that the election is over, consent to lay aside their hostility, and consider me readily willing to render them, officially, every service in my power, equal with my warmest friends. To those who have been active in representative to be an enemy to Mr. Adams, as determined in every thing to opposite his administration, I beg leave to remark, that whenever a President is to be elected, I shall, as heretofore, exercise the boasted franchise of a citizen, by giving my vote and zealous support to the man of my preference. When I have done so, I shall find myself in the minority, I shall cheerfully support him who shall be found constitutionally elected. And by way of securing, not only a submission on the part of the minority, but their zealous support of him who shall be found the choice of the majority, as well as to secure the character of Congress in the estimation of the nation, I shall continue to use every exertion and apply all the influence I may possess, whilst your representatives have the constitution so amended as to take the election of the chief magistrate out of Congress, and to give it to the people. Such of my fellow-citizens as have most industriously exerted themselves to injure me in the exercise of my religious friends, as well as those who have consented to listen to their vile calumnies, and to consider me unheard, I freely forgive, and sincerely hope they will so examine their selves, and repent of what they have done, and left undone, on this and other occasions, as to obtain the forgiveness of God. As it regards late highly honored competitor, I wish to be considered now, as heretofore, personally his friend, and that I have only to regret, that in his zeal to oblige others, "whose call he could neglect," he so far lost sight of his justice and liberality for which he has heretofore been characterized, as to have attempted, as he did at the representative meeting, at Church's Fields in Prince-George's, to impress a belief on the minds of his hearers, that I had forged the certificate signed "Adam Allen," observing, on reading that I had not there with me; the certificate, "that the name was spellman-nerly as published in my handbook, that it should have been signed therefore could not have been signed by Mr. Allen, who surely would have spelt it right if he had signed the certificate." Mr. Estep, did, however, on the 30th, the Saturday following the battalion meeting at Porter's, in 5th district in Anne-Arundel county acknowledge, on seeing the original certificate signed "Adam Allen," that he had no doubt it was Mr. Allen's signature, although he did not know his handwriting. With these remarks and my reiterated thanks for the

...you have done me, I beg you my fellow-citizens to consider me ever ready and willing to attend officially to the business of such of my constituents as may think proper to call upon me: Those who would wish to hear from me: If they will be so good as to drop me a line, giving me their address, to assist me at all times as attending to any of my friends, I am to be considered, respectively, their honored friend and humble servant.

NEW-JERSEY.
The election in New-Jersey took place on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The manner of electing Representatives to Congress in that State, is by general ticket. In addition to the Jackson and Adams tickets formed at Trenton, a third ticket called the "People's Ticket," had been announced in the newspapers and recommended to the support of the electors. The following are the three tickets:
Jackson Ticket for Congress.
George Cassidy, of Bergen.
William Kennedy, of Warren.
Isaac G. Farlee, of Hunterdon.
George Holcombe, of Monmouth.
Benjamin B. Cooper, of Gloucester.
Daniel Garrison, of Salem.
Adams Ticket.
Isaac Pierson,
Leuis Condict,
Emanuel Swan,
George Holcombe,
Ebenezer Tucker,
Hedge Thompson.
The People's Ticket.
James Condict, of Morris.
James Parker, of Middlesex.
Peter D. Wroon, jun. of Somerset.
George Holcombe, of Monmouth.
Caleb Newbold, of Burlington.
Ephraim Bateman, of Cumberland.
The name of this gentleman, who was voted for General Jackson in the House of Representatives, at the late presidential election, appears on all three tickets.

COURT OF APPEALS, W. S.
Monday, October 9th, 1836.—The Court met this day in pursuance of its adjournment—Present, Backus, Ch.
J. and EARL, ARCHER, and DORSEY, J.
The case of Elden v. Watfield, (No.
67,) was argued by R. Johnson for the Appellant, and by C. S. W. Dorsey for the Appellee. Eichelberger v. Finley & Vanlear, (No. 68,) was argued by R. Johnson for the Appellant, and by Gill for the Appellee; and Neale v. Claustie, (No. 70,) was opened by Raymond for the Appellant.
Tuesday, October 10th.—The argument in Neale v. Claustie, was concluded by Meredith for the Appellee, and by Raymond for the Appellant, in reply. The case of *James et al. Lessee, v.
Boyle*, (No. 71,) was argued by C. S. W.
Dorsey and Gill for the Appellant, and by Speed for the Appellee; and the case of Dorsey v. Hayes, (No. 72,) was argued by Speed for the Appellant, and by Gill for the Appellee.

Wednesday, October 11th.—The case of Jarrett v. The State use of Stump, (No. 73,) was argued by C. S.
W. Dorsey and R. Johnson, for the Appellant, and by Gill and Taney for the Appellee.
We believe the Primary School system received the approbation of all the counties in this State, at the late election, Frederick, Allegany and Somerset, excepted.

MR. CLAY.
From the U. S. Telegraph, of Oct. 6.
A writer in the Journal of yesterday morning, thinks that Mr. Clay was actuated by his prevailing and "laudable modesty," in making the following declaration at the Greenbrier dinner, respecting his acceptance of the office of Secretary of State: "I would willingly have declined it, from an unaffected distrust of my ability to perform its high duties, if I could have honourably declined it." Now, setting aside Mr. Clay's "laudable modesty" in this case, we ask, why could he not have honourably declined the appointment? Was he under any obligation to Mr. Adams to accept it? Was he under any such obligation to the members who voted for Mr. Adams in opposition to the wishes of their constituents? Was he under any obligation to the Legislature of Kentucky? Under any obligation to the people of that State, to accept the office? The people and the Legislature of Kentucky would have been well pleased to cancel the obligation, if they had been consulted before their vote was vitiated. As to the other parties, we say nothing now. But we think his officious friends had better not touch the subject too frequently.

MR. CLAY says he would willingly have declined the office of Secretary of State, from an unaffected distrust of his ability to perform its high duties, but he could not honourably decline it.
This distrust of his ability, which a writer in the Journal attributes to his "laudable modesty," is something new to him. He felt none of that distrust, about the time of Mr. Monroe's election to the Presidency. If the reports then common, were true, Mr. Johnson Roberts, now the envenomed opponent of General Jackson was at that time Mr. Clay's negotiator, and Mr.
Monroe was importuned for the office of Secretary of State for Mr. Clay, until he was obliged to be a little more explicit in his answer to the application. It was at last announced that Mr. Adams was the individual chosen, and Mr. Clay was offered a situation in the cabinet which did not require transcendent abilities. He rejected it, and gave as a reason for so doing, that he would not serve in the cabinet with an apostate Federalist! Has experience at length taught Mr. Clay that he does not possess the requisite abilities for that office? Experience has taught him, then, that Mr. Monroe was a much better judge of his "abilities," some years ago, than himself—and we believe the present case is not a solitary instance of that conviction in the mind of the Secretary. U. S. Telegraph.

A GUN-POWDER PIE.
On Monday morning, a Pie composed of raw potatoes unpeeled, with an under crust of mixed gun-powder nearly half an inch thick—upper crust as common; the whole placed in a tin pan, was brought into the Mayor's Office. It had been taken by some person not at present remembered, to the bake-house corner of Lombard and Seventh-streets, on Sunday last. Equal evidence of cowardly diabolical intent can hardly be found. Mr. Jacob Presser, the proprietor of the bakery, is a respectable man, and cannot account for this attempt at awful injury to the lives and property of himself, his family and neighbours, as he remembers no one whom he has either offended or injured, by word or deed.

ference was raised this season by a gen-

CHINA.
The Oriental Herald contains the following curious article upon the empire of China:
The empire of China is divided into 30 provinces, there are 183 capitals, and as many cities of the second order. The taxes and the duties amount, annually to nearly 13 millions and a quarter sterling—1,912,000 tons of wheat and rice must be deducted for the subsistence of the troops and the supply of the public granaries. The civil service costs but one and a half millions sterling per annum, but the military service is six times as expensive, and amounts to more than eight millions. Among the articles of the Chinese budget, we find 8 millions for the maintenance of the Yellow River, 2 millions for the gardens of Yuen-Ming, and considerable sums for the entertainment of the ministers of state of the first and second class to the number of 3,525. The revenue of the nation, in silver and in products is valued at 50,000,000 sterling.
The duties levied on English and American ships entering at Canton, adds another million to that sum. The revenue of England, which possesses but 22 millions of population, amounted in 1834 to one-third more than that of the Chinese Empire, which according to late enumerations, contains no less than 246,000,000 inhabitants.— The portion of the population who live upon the water amounts to 2,000, 000. The persons in civil employment do not exceed 9,311, and the military officers, 7,532. The army consists of an enormous mass of 1,265,000 men, of which 822,000 belong to the infantry, 410,000 to the cavalry, and 30,000 to the marine.

STAMMERING.
The secret disclosed.—For the last month or two a speculation has been carried on in this vicinity, and we believe also in every part of the country, by persons professing the secret of curing this troublesome disorder, and some of them pretending to be acting under the authority of an agency for Mrs. Leigh and D. Yates, whose institution for the cure of this unfortunate class of persons, in the city of New York, has attained to considerable celebrity. Now the whole secret of which these impostors are in possession, has been communicated to us, by a person who has been duly qualified by them to practice the art; and which we hereby make public; for the double purpose of putting down a species of quackery, and, if there is any efficacy to cure themselves. And we are inclined to think, that in many cases relief may be obtained by observing the following directions: viz.
1. Commence speaking whilst respiring, or, in other words, when the breath is going out, and speak slowly.
[The stammerer always attempts to speak, whilst drawing in the breath, but seldom succeeds in uttering a word or sentence, until he has taken a full inspiration, and begins to respire, when he speaks fluently until he begins again to draw in his breath.] 2. Place the tongue flat on the bottom of the month, before attempting to speak. [The stammerer's tongue always cleaves to the roof, and is there kept by striving to speak whilst respiring.]
3. Begin by speaking short sentences and easy words. [The Lord's prayer is a good exercise, as it commences with a word which places the tongue in a good posture.]
4. Speak sentences with easy words at the beginning and terminating with hard words. [In the recipe before us, direction is given, that the patient, whilst speaking, should "place his hand on the pit of the stomach, and press it hard."] This, our informant says, is useful.] By strictly observing the above general rules, we believe that many stammerers may entirely free themselves from any impediment in speaking. We know of some who have been cured by this process, and hope others will give it a fair trial. We are not able to say whether this is Mrs. Leigh's system.
It is probably a part of it; and we know it is the whole secret of those who have professed the art and effected some cures in this vicinity.—

Sheriff's Sale.
By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued by Benjamin Brown, jun. a Justice of the Peace for Anne-Arundel county, and to me directed, against the goods and chattels, lands and tenements, of Aquila Waters, at suit of Ephraim Gaither, for the use of John Hiams, I have seized and taken in execution, all that tract or part of a tract or parcel of land, whereon the said Waters now resides, called "Waters's Lot," or by whatsoever name the same may be called, containing eighty-nine acres more or less, and on Saturday the 4th day of November next, at Merrill's Tavern, I shall proceed to sell the said property to the highest bidder, for cash, to satisfy the debt due as aforesaid. Sale to commence at 11 o'clock.
R. Welch, Sheriff,
Anne-Arundel county, 4 county.
October 12.

Public Sale.
By order of the Corporation, the City Commissioners will offer for sale, at public auction, on Saturday the 21st instant, the House and Lot occupied as an Office by Dr. Claude, adjoining the City Hall, reserving an alley of seven feet, running parallel with the City Hall to the back line of said lot. The terms will be made known on the day of sale.
James Dunn,
Acting Commissioner.
October 12.

Valuable Land
FOR SALE.
By virtue of a decree of the court of chancery, a subscriber will set up at public sale, on Thursday the 5th of October next at 12 o'clock, A. M. if fair, if not, the first fair day thereafter, on the premises, the farm on which Mrs. Elizabeth Linticum now resides, composed of two tracts of land, called "Poplar Neck," and "Mitchell's Addition," lying on the south side of South River, next above the lower ferry, and containing about two hundred acres. This land is a kind soil, and is well adapted to the cultivation of Tobacco and Grain, lies level and is very improvable. The improvements are a new convenient dwelling house, tobacco house, and other out houses, and an apple orchard, surpassing any in the county in its size and quality of its fruit, the former owner being distinguished for the excellence and quality of the ei-der he made from it every year.
The terms of sale will be accommodating, and will be made known on the day of sale.
Nicholas Brewer, Trustee.
Sept. 12.

THE ABOVE SALE
Is postponed until THURSDAY, the 2d of November, to take place at James Hunter's Tavern, in the city of Annapolis.

POSTSCRIPT
NEW-YORK.
It was stated last week that at a convention of delegates from the several counties of New-York, held at Utica, De Witt Clinton had been nominated for Governor, and Henry Huntington for Lieutenant Governor of that state. Another convention for the same object, has just been held at Herkimer, in that state, which has resulted in the nomination of William B. Rochester, for Governor, and of Nathan Pitcher, for Lieutenant-Governor. Baltimore American.

HEALTH OF NORFOLK.
We learn from the Herald of Monday, that the heat was extremely oppressive at Norfolk during the past week, producing an unhealthy atmosphere and more cases of malignant fever. The disease is confined to a particular section of that city. The bill of mortality for the week ending the 8th, shows 17 cases of malignant fever.

SPAIN.
The Boston Daily Advertiser speaks of a letter from Madrid, dated about the 1st of August, which mentions that a conspiracy had been detected there of the Don Carlos party, the design of which was to compel the king to abdicate. By the activity of the Superintendent of Police, it was broken up before it had time to ripen. He went immediately to the king, who was at the Baths, disclosed to him the plot, and told him that nothing would save the country but a change of ministry, a general amnesty, and a convention of the Cortes as it was in the time of Philip V. It was said that the king, who is a good deal influenced by this minister, actually prepared and signed the papers, and that they were to have been published in the Court Gazette the next day; but the superintendent had no sooner returned to Madrid, and was taking the necessary measures, when he was followed by a courier ordering him to stop the publication.
The clergy in the meantime had offered ninety millions of reals to buy off the amnesty, and it is probable that the king's coffers were too low to allow him to refuse the offer. The affair was not definitively settled at the date of the letter, and it was still thought that some changes would take place, but it was impossible to predict what they would be. The Portuguese constitution alarmed the government exceedingly, and had already occasioned some trouble in some parts of the kingdom, particularly at Saragossa.
At Madrid it remained perfectly tranquil. The French papers which contain information from Madrid several days later than this letter, announce that the Duke d'Infantado had resigned his station at the head of the cabinet. What change in measures this event was likely to produce, we are not informed.
