

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

We learn from a source, which we believe not to be doubtful, that on the fourth instant a certain miserable creature named John Eckel, who resides in Prince George's county, in our sister county Schuylkill, cruelly murdered his sister, about 26 years of age, and then committed suicide in a horrible and sanguinary manner. He had evinced strong hatred towards her for upwards of a year, (no doubt occasioned by a diseased mind,) the proofs of which were so strong that the poor woman was compelled to leave her father's house. Her parents were taken sick last fall with the prevailing fever; upon hearing which, she informed them that if her brother would suffer her to be at peace, she would return and administer to their wants—this he promised. A few weeks previous to committing the crime, his unnatural hatred returned more formidable than ever. He kept a gun constantly loaded and carried a butcher's knife about his person. He declared to her the evening previous to committing the act that they must both die within an hour. He was restless the whole night. At day break he told her to be at rest, for he would not injure her, and went out of the house, but returned in a short time, picked up an account book and threw it on the floor, stating that there were several actions against persons who wed him money.

As the father was in the act of picking it up, the brother seized his gun, cocked it and discharged a ball into his sister's breast. She shrieked—her father attempted to catch her in his arms, but she fell streaming with blood, and was a corpse in a few hours.

The murderer retreated a short distance from the house, and instantly another shot was heard. He was discovered shortly afterwards about 60 yards from the dwelling, suspended by a rope to the limb of a tree with his knees nearly touching the ground, part of his jaws and nose were hit away, and his throat partially cut. His gun was found reloaded, leaning against a tree, and his knife, coat and waistcoat lying on the ground near it. Reading, (Pa.) Journal of Feb. 17.

We observe by the Richmond Compiler, that an act has passed the legislature of Virginia, giving the assent of that state to an act incorporating the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, as passed by the legislature of this state.
