ARRIVAL OF THE BRITISH PACKET,
The British packet brig Susan, captain Stairs, arrived at this port on Sunday last, bringing the mail due on the 10th of last February. The Susan had long disagreeable passage, and consequently brings nothing new. Mr.
Jeffries, of the R. N. who was charged with the mail, is the bearer of despatches for the British minister at Washington. On Monday, Mr. J. J.
Jeffries, accompanied by Mr. Moore, the British agent residing in this city, left here for Washington.

We conclude in this day's paper an abstract of the proceedings of the legislature at its late session. In our

LAWS OF MARYLAND.
December Session, 1826.

An act to repeal an act entitled, An act to tax certain offices, passed at December session eighteen hundred and twenty-three, and the act to explain and amend the same, passed at December session eighteen hundred and twenty-four.
[Passed the 13th of March 1827.]
Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the act, entitled, "An act to tax certain offices," passed at December session eighteen hundred and twenty-three, chapter one hundred and forty-six, and the act, entitled, "An act to explain and amend the act, entitled, an act to tax certain offices," passed at December session eighteen hundred and twenty-four, chapter one hundred and ninety, be and the same are hereby repealed.
2. And be it enacted, That nothing herein contained, shall in any way affect the right of the state to monies due to said state and which have accrued under the provisions of the acts herby repealed, but that the said acts shall remain in force for the collection thereof, and be proceeded under for that purpose to final judgment and execution, as if this act had never passed.

December Session, 1826.

A supplement to the act, entitled, An act to aid Conveyances of Land improperly enrolled, and for other purposes.
[Passed the 12th of March, 1827.]
Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That so much of the seventh section of the act to which this is a supplement, passed at November session in the year of our lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-five, chapter nine, as requires the clerks of the several county courts, to keep in their respective offices, the record book, in which shall hereafter be entered the substance of any deed for conveying of lands or other real estate, and all and every part of the said section, which is inconsistent with the provisions of this act, be and the same are hereby repealed.
And be it enacted, That every record book, which shall be about eight teen inches, and one quarter of an inch in length, and eleven and an half inches in breadth, containing not more than seven quires of paper, with the number marked on each page, in which the substance of any deed conveying lands or other real estate, shall hereafter be entered agreeably to the provisions of the seventh section of the act to which this is a supplement, and the seventh section of the act, entitled, An additional supplement to an act to provide for the organization and regulation of the courts of common law in this state, and for the administration of justice therein, passed at November session, in the year one thousand eight hundred and six, chapter ninety, and not a copy of such record entry, shall, on or before the first day of June in each year, be transmitted by the clerk of the county court to the clerk of the court of appeals of his shore, who shall receive such record book, and place the same among the records of his office without fee or reward; and a copy taken from any such record book properly attested by the clerk of the court of appeals, shall be admitted in evidence in the manner prescribed by the seventh section of the act to which this is a supplement.

And be it enacted, That instead of entering the substance of any such deed in a record book as required by the act to which this is a supplement, the clerk of any county court, if he thinks proper, may enter the substance of any such deed on good royal writing paper such as is commonly used in record books, each sheet measuring in length nineteen inches, and in breadth twelve inches, with a margin in blank of about half an inch at the sides, and on the top and at the bottom of each page, and transmit the same on or before the first day of June in each year to the clerk of the court of appeals of his shore, who shall receive and carefully file the same among the records of his office without fee or reward, and when he shall receive a sufficient number of such record entries made on sheets as will form a record book of the proper size, he shall cause the same to be well and substantially bound in leather, and place the same among the records of his office; and a copy taken from any such record entries or book properly attested by the clerk of the court of appeals, shall be admitted in evidence in the manner herein before mentioned.

THE PRESIDENCY.
A very numerous meeting of the friends of General Andrew Jackson, took place at Petersburg, Virginia, on the 9th inst., when an address to the people of that state, and several resolutions, were adopted. By one of these the members of the meeting pledge themselves to support General Jackson for the next presidency. The following are extracts from the address:
"It is dangerous to continue in office an individual who obtained his appointment in violation of the popular will, and consented to divide the dignity and influence of his exalted station with the very man who had been signally instrumental in accomplishing that result. As the former is inconsistent with the genius of our political institutions, so the latter is irreconcilable with any just state of morality which, next to the duty of doing well, requires of us to conduct ourselves as that candid and impartial man may confide in the integrity of our motives. It is dangerous to continue in office an individual who has evinced a want of respect for the source of all legitimate authority, by solemnly charging the representatives of the people, that they would rely in vain for their justification upon the will of their constituents. It is dangerous to continue in office an individual, who lends the weight of his official character, to the establishment of opinions and principles which are incompatible with the constitution, and which tend to beget sectarian differences the most injurious and implacable."
"We will not be guilty of the inde-licacy of supposing it necessary to remind our countrymen of the scenes of trying peril, and which Andrew Jackson has attested his love of country, nor of his deeds, that elicited throughout this wide dominion, the unprompted burst of gratitude and joy.
In the various political relations in which he has been placed with his country, the firm morals of the Roman Censor have been the law of his ambition. It is vain may indignity search through the course of a long life, for an instance in which the love of ease has kept him back from the post of danger, or cupidity blinded him to his country's honour. At all times prepared to attend her bidding, he has declined to seek her employment for emolument, while his uprightnes has never been sullied by any engagements to aid in getting, or in preserving authority. The man whom threats cannot intimidate, nor venal promises allure, is emphatically the man for the present circumstances of our country, and such is Andrew Jackson."
"The qualities which are the most useful in private life, are the most valuable in public stations. Clear head, and an honest heart, which experience and reflection have taught wisdom, are the appropriate endowments of those, whom nature designed for the management of the weighty concerns of a virtuous community.
They constitute the great desideratum of an American and statesman, whose more important duties are contained in written precepts, which the elaborating metaphysician may misinterpret, but which the unphilosophical judgment cannot mistake. Such are the endowments of Andrew Jackson."
"Moved by gratitude for the services, and admiration of the wisdom and virtues of Andrew Jackson, and appealing to him for the vindication of our good old republican principles, we will unite with his friends in other places, in supporting him at the ensuing Presidential Election."

GENERAL JACKSON.
The states friendly to the election of General Andrew Jackson, are right in supposing that the indications of New York promise an auspicious result. Things are daily shaping its course in that direction, not by a sudden, hasty manner, calculated to produce reaction, but with deliberation and steadiness of purpose. There are few who took an active part in the election of Mr. Crawford, who are not how equally zealous in favour of General Jackson. The prominent friends of Mr. Clinton are equally decided on this point, and if the canvass be conducted with moderation and frankness, union and good feeling, the entire vote of New York may be calculated on for the General. A glance over the Union is sufficient to test the dissatisfaction generally prevailing among the people, and their determination forced upon them by intrigue and barter, and as long as they adhere to their original purpose of uniting on one candidate to oppose Mr. Adams, their success cannot be doubted.—Noah.

We scarcely hear a man say at the present time, that he thinks Mr.
Adams will be re-elected by the people.—We have of late conversed with many of his former friends in this vicinity, who now say, they hate but little partiality for the administration, that Mr. Adams has not pursued exactly such a course as they anticipated, and that they feel entirely indifferent as to his re-election. Many say in direct terms that they now prefer General Jackson, others that they should prefer some man to either. The attachments to Mr. Adams were mostly local, and people begin to find, that it is not best to cherish such prejudices. We should advise President Adams to make us a visit next summer or send one of his secretaries.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.
The case of Charles L. Smith vs.
Lewis P. Franks, the Editor of the "Independent Balance," printed at Philadelphia, for a libel published in that paper against Mr. Smith, has been lately tried and determined at Nisi Prius, before Judge Duncan. The jury gave a verdict of ten thousand dollars damages for the Plaintiff, being the whole amount claimed in Plaintiff's declaration.

Bryan & Bassford,
Merchant Tailors,
Respectfully inform their friends and the public, that they have commenced business in the shop lately occupied by Mr. JOHN T. DISNEY, who has declined in favour of Having been raised in this place, & being experienced workmen, they trust that a generous public will afford them a share of its patronage.
They have on hand a stock of SEASONABLE GOODS,
Which they will make up to suit customers.

The American Farmer
We wish that every friend of this journal should understand that they would have the kindness to send us their names and their account of the month a fifth copy of the American Farmer without charge—or, any one who will contribute five subscribers will be allowed to retain $3 on his remitting the remaining $20.
We beg also to repeat, that all which is necessary to be done, is to send a dollar note by mail, at the risk of, and addressed to "the Editor of the American Farmer, Baltimore"—and whether the money be received or not, the paper will be forwarded immediately, and the actual receipt of each number of the volume will be guaranteed by the Editor.
The American Farmer is published weekly, by J. S. Skinner, Postmaster of Baltimore, on fine paper the size of ordinary newspaper, folded so as to form 8 pages; about one half, or four pages, devoted to practical Agriculture, the remainder to Internal Improvements, Rural and Domestic Economy, selections for housekeeping and female readers, and Natural History and Rural Sports. A minute index and title page to the whole volume is published, and forwarded with the last number of each volume. A single number will be sent to any one who may desire to see a specimen of the publication.
To all editors who will give the above one or two insertions, we shall feel much indebted, and will gladly reciprocate their kindness.
Baltimore, Feb. 23, 1827.
P. S. The American Farmer is circulated through every state and territory, and is written for by many of the most distinguished practical Farmers in the Union.

February Term
Anne Arundel County Orphans Court
March 30, 1827
The court direct that Thos J. Hall, administrator of Thomas Tongue late of Anne Arundel county, deceased, give notice, by advertisement in the Maryland Gazette and Baltimore Gazette, and National Intelligencer, once in six successive weeks, to the creditors of the said deceased, that the first dividend on the said estate will be made at the office of the register of wills on the 18th day of April next.
In testimony whereof that the following is a true copy, taken from the proceedings of the orphans court, I hereto set my hand, and affix the seal of my office, this 13 day of March 1827.
Thos. H. Hall, Reg. Wills,
A. A. County.

Notice is hereby given, That the subscriber, of Anne Arundel county, hath obtained from the orphans court of Anne Arundel county, in Maryland, letters of administration on the personal estate of William Brogden, late of Anne Arundel county, deceased. All persons having claims against the said deceased, are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with their vouchers thereon, to the subscriber, on or before the 15th day of September next, they may otherwise be excluded from all benefit of the said estate.
Given under my hand and seal this 10th day of March, 1827.
William B. Adams, Adm.
