NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The following is the last production of the...

THE DYING CHRISTIAN.

How peaceful is the closing scene,
When virtue yields its breath—
How sweetly beams the smile serene,
Upon the cheek of death!

The Christian's hope no fear can blight,
No pain, his peace destroy;
He views beyond the realms of light
Of pure and boundless joy.

Oh who can gaze, with heedless sigh,
On scenes so fair as this—
Who but exclaims—"thus let us die,
And be my end like his!"

There is much poetry and refined sentiment, as well as an instructive moral, in the following lines, translated from the Arabic, which we find in the London Magazine:

Why should I blush that fortune's frown Dooms me life's humble path to tread?
To live unbred and unknown;
To sink forgotten to the dead!

'Tis not the good, the wise, the brave,
That street shines on, or highest rise,
The feather sports upon the wave,
The pearl in ocean's cavern lies.

Each lesser star that studs the sphere,
Sparks with undiminished lights;
Dark and obscure alone appear
The Lord of Day, the Queen of Nites.

THE RINGLET.

A cheerful fire blazed in the hearth
In the neat little parlour of Mr. Percy, one cool evening in November, and Helen, with a choice party of...
young friends, formed an agreeable... little circle around it. Helen Percy... was not what the world would call...
handsome; that is she did not possess... regular features—had neither...
blue nor black eyes—tresses waving... gracefully over her shoulders—nor...
a skin quite as white as the new fall-... en snow; but then there was beauty... in her face and a beauty that was...
worth all these—it consisted of expression. The feelings of a good and...
benevolent heart, aided by the graces...
of a pure and well cultivated mind, cast a lustre over a face that could...

boast of no other accomplishment,
and sure none other was necessary, to render it interesting. But Helen's... most powerful charm was in her...
conversation, often sprightly,
and always sensible and pleasing; it...
rendered her a most engaging companion.

It was generally known among her... acquaintances that she was betrothed to a young navy officer who was...
then, and had been nearly two...
years absent in the United States... service, and who was now daily expected home. Helen was anxious for... his arrival, not for the gratification of her own feelings alone, but...
the tale of scandal had gone forth, and she wished its course at once arrested. An amiable and worthy... young man was in the habit of visiting at the house of Mr. Percy; he... knew of Helen's engagement and his...
visits to the family were prompted... by friendship alone; but others tho't...
differently—persons were surprised...
that, in the absence of Clarence...
Lee she should sanction the addresses... of another—it was dishonourable...
thus to traffic with his feelings—in...
short she was in their eyes a most...
heartless coquette. Helen knew these...
whispers were around her, but she...
also knew she was wronged; she despised the petty artifices of those...
who would construe every friendly... feeling into accepted love—and she...
was resolved it should not be the...
means of depriving her of a friendship so valuable as that of the innocent lover of it all.

I remarked that a small group...
were assembled around the fire-side...
of Mr. Percy's house, and on this... occasion a stranger was seated among...
them, who had entered with the...
company, and yet appeared to be...
unknown to all; a profusion of light...
hair fell over his forehead and cheeks, which were also shaded by large... moustachios, and he wore a pair of...
green spectacles over his eyes.

The little party were gay and...
lively as usual, but there was a sudden stillness in the room, when the...
stranger holding in his hand a ringlet of dark brown hair, tremulously... asked a lady next to him if that was...
not a pretty tress.

"It certainly is," was the reply,
"and a favourite memento, I presume."

"It was taken, Madam, from the...
bosom of an officer, a friend of mine, who fell from on board one of the...
United States' vessels during a crucise; his body was happily recovered, but—

"May I inquire his name?" interrupted Helen, in breathless haste & unconsciously rising from her chair.
"His name was Clarence Lee."

"And lost over"—the words died... upon her lips, and she sank back insensibly into her seat. The stranger... started from his chair, threw off his...
green spectacles, moustachios and...
light hair, and in an instant the metamorphosed Clarence Lee was leaning over her chair, and endeavoured... to recall her to animation, by repeatedly pronouncing her name in... his own natural voice. Helen at... length recovered, cast round a bewildered glance and scarcely imagined she was in existence, when she...
beheld her lover by her side.

"Am I not dreaming?" said she,
reviving.

"I should hope not," said Clarence, seizing her hand, and eagerly... pressing it to his bosom. "I have...
put faith to a sad trial, Helen, but...
wilt thou not forgive me when I tell... thee I was cruelly deceived by others: they told me thou wert false... to me, Helen, but this pledge of thy... affection, (again displaying the ringlet,) proves their words false, and...
not thee, and I now meet the same...
faithful heart I left two years ago?"

It is needless to remark, that the...
stratagem was really forgiven; and...
that Helen, soon after at the altar of...
Hymen, gave her self as a pledge of...
her love and faith, to Clarence Lee.

A SAILOR'S JOURNAL.

From the Aberdeen Star.

The following is extracted from...
the manuscript Journal of a Sailor, who served on board his Majesty's... frigate Crescent, but died lately at...
Ravenna.

We had cruized for six days off...
Cape Formosa, and death had begun... his ravages. A sickly languor prevailed among our men—their usual... lightness of heart and vivacity seemed to have fled them; they set in...
groups on the fore-castle, smoking in...
silence, or listening to the narrative... of deaths on board of other vessels,

which had been on the same station.
We endeavoured to divert their nelancholy by different amusements, but it would not do; the number of...
our sick list was increasing, and the... low muttered enquiries after the dying, were always accompanied by... an involuntary shudder. We committed, in one night, two to the...
wave; but as they had been ill ever... since we had left Ascension, we paid... not so much attention. The gun... room had always been healthy, but...
on the Sabbath morning, (it was our... first Sabbath on the coast of Africa)

poor Bury complained of head ache... and dizziness. His fair face had already turned sallow; and when he...
expressed his determination of retiring to his hammock, there was a settled gloom on every countenance. I... remember, as the event of yesterday, when he came on board at...
Portsmouth. He had just completed his eighteenth year; his heart was... light, and his hopes were high; and...
when he stepped on the quarter...
deck in his uniform, I am sure there... was not a finer fellow in his Majesty's service. How affectionately his... aged father bade him farewell; the...
tears stood in the old man's eyes,

as he said, "James, I know that you... will not forget your duty to man, forget not your duty to God." They... will never meet! I went to ask him... how he felt, but he knew me not;
his eyes were wild, his reason was...
eclipsed; the sun was setting, and...
the night had a most ominous appearance. I went to see him again, but...
his eyes were closed—the struggle...
was over—his spirit had fled to God, who gave it! Few preparations can...
be made for a funeral on board of a... ship. The bell tolled, and there was...
not a sailor who was not on deck, save those who heard the sound as...
the warning that the same bell would...
soon toll to assemble their comrades...
to commit to the sea their remains.

The night was dark and lowering;
yet the lightning, which flashed vividly across the vessel, showed every...
object more clearly, a paleness...
and stillness was seated on the faces...
of the crew, and many a wistful... look was cast towards the gang-way, in mournful anticipation of the...
corpse. "I am the resurrection and...
the life!" There was a thrill went...
through every heart as these words... were uttered; a shuddering hysterical sort of sigh was the response.

Inclosed in his hammock, his corpse... was laid on the grating. The thunder burst loud over our heads, yet... seemed as if it had not been heard.

The service proceeded—I heard a... splash in the waters!—I could contain myself no longer—I rushed into the gun room. There is a moment, when this world seems little,
and its joys transitory baubles; there...
is a moment when the soul feels itself affianced to objects more sublime... than nature can afford; there is a... moment when all the treasures of...
sophistry of the past life, and all the...
infidel cavillings which have hampered our energies, vanish like the...
cobwebs before the breath of the...
wind, and the soul asserts its claim... to a nobler sphere; and that moment...
is when we retire from the world...
and follow a dear departed friend, not to the untrodden floor of the...
grave—not to the darkness of the...
ocean—but whither ay to the glories... of Heaven! And the heart...
beats highest, yet sunniest, when...
we feel assured, that, raised by a...
Saviour's blood, "he walks in white...
robes, and celebrates in never-dying...
strains, the praises of his Redeemer...
God."

From Dicks Christian Philosopher

The investigations of natural philosophy unfold to us the incessant... agency of God, and the plans by...
which his wise and benevolent designs in the system of nature are... accomplished. From the immeasurable globes of heaven down to the...
minutest atoms, we perceive a regular chain of causes and effects conspiring in a thousand different modes... to accomplish the purposes of infinite wisdom and goodness. The operation of central forces, and of the... law of gravitation on the earth and...
in the heaven—the hydrostatical...
laws which regulate the pressure and...
the motion of fluids—the chemical...
properties of the atmosphere, its...
undulatory, refractive and reflective... properties—the motion of the rays of...
light, and the infinite variety of...
effects they produce—the process of...
evaporation—the agencies of electricity and galvanism—the properties... of the magnet and the chemical action of acids and alkalies, and of the...
minutest particles of matter upon...
each other—ought to be viewed as...
so many modifications of the agency...
of Deity, and as manifestations of...
his wisdom, in carrying forward those...
plans which regard the interests of...
his universal Kingdom; just as we...
consider the rise and fall of empires, the revolutions of nations, and the...
circulation of the Scriptures in heathen lands, as so many acts of his...
moral administration as the Governor of mankind. For, let it be carefully remembered, that all these physical agencies have ultimately a moral... and intellectual bearing; and are essentially connected with every part... of God's providential procedure.

Though we may be apt to consider... them so many detached and insulated pieces of machinery, with which...
we have little concern, or may even...
disdain to notice their mode of operation; yet in the all-comprehensive...
mind of Him, who takes in, at one... glance, the whole chain of causes and...
effects, they are as essentially connected with his ultimate purposes, and the eternal destiny of man, as...
are the revelations of his word.

Were a single principle or motion... which now animates the system of...
nature to cease—were the agencies...
of electricity, for example, or the...
principal of evaporation to be destroyed, the physical constitution of... our globe would instantly be deranged; nature would be thrown into...
confusion; and the sentient and intellectual beings that now inhabit the... earth, would either be destroyed, or...
plunge into an abyss of misery. If,
therefore, we admit, that the moral...
agency of God is worthy of our contemplation, we ought to consider his... physical operations also as no less...
worthy of our study and investigation; since they form the groundwork of all his other manifestations.

There is nothing, however, which... so strikingly characterizes the bulk... of mankind, and even the great mass... of the Christian world, as that apathy and indifference with which...
they view the wonders of creation... which surround them. They can...
look on all that is grand, and beautiful, and beneficent in nature, without feeling the least sentiment of admiration, or of gratitude to that Being who is incessantly operating... within them and around them; and...

they are disposed to consider the...
experiments of philosophers by...
which the wonderful agency of God...
is unveiled, as only so many toys... and amusements for the entertainment of children. They would prefer the paltry entertainments of a... card table, of a ball room, or of a...
gossiping party, to the inspection... of the nicest pieces of Divine mechanism, and to the contemplation... of the most august scene in nature.

However lightly some religionists... may be disposed to treat this subject—that spirit of indifference with... which the visible works of God are...
treated, must be considered as flowing from the same depraved principle which leads multitudes to reject... the revelations of the Bible and to...
trifle with their everlasting interests. "Man," says Rollin, "lives... in the midst of a world, of which he...
is sovereign, as a stranger, who looks... with indifference upon all that passes in it, and as if it was not his...
concern.—The universe, in all its parts, declares and points out its Author, but for the most part, to the deaf and...
blind, who have neither ears to hear... nor eyes to see. One of the greatest services that philosophy can do... is to awaken us from this drowsiness, and rouse us from this lethargy, which is a dishonour to humanity, and in a manner reduces us below the beasts, whose stupidity is...
the consequence of their nature, and...
not the effect or neglect or indifference. It awakens our curiosity, it... excites our attention, and leads us...
as it were by the hand through all...
the parts of nature, to induce us to...
study and search out the wonderful... works of it." Belles Lettres, vol. 4.

Since, therefore, the science of...
natural philosophy is conversant... about the works of the Almighty, and its investigations have a direct...
tendency to illustrate the perfections of his nature, to unveil the plan...
of his operations, to unfold the laws...
by which he governs the kingdom... of universal nature, and to display... the order, symmetry, and proportion which reign throughout the whole;
it would be needless to enter into...
any further process of reasoning, to...
show that the studies of it is connected with the great objects of religion. Whatever study tends to... raise our minds to the Supreme Ruler of all worlds—to expend our...
views of his infinite knowledge and...
wisdom, to excite our gratitude and...
our admiration, of the beneficent designs which appear in all his arrangements—to guard us against erroneous conceptions of his providential... procedure—and to furnish us with...
important auxiliaries for extending...
the influence of his religion through...
the world—must always be interesting to every Christian who wishes... to enlarge his intellectual views, and...
to make progress in the knowledge...
of God.

From the Painesville Ohio Telegraph

A DIVORCE.

A short time since, in an adjoining...
town a happy pair were regularly...
joined in wedlock by a factious... township Squire, whose fees totally...
exhausted the funds of the bridegroom. Not many days, it appears, had elapsed before the parties who...
had been joined "till death should... them part," become mutually dissatisfied with their lot, and returned... to the Squire with many tales of...
woe, beseeching him with all their...
eloquence to un-marry them, which...
he agreed to do, provided he was...
previously paid the sum of three...
dollars, double the fee of the first...
ceremony. This sum the bride-groom... paid by a week's labour on the...
Squire's farm. Then came the ce-mony of "parting." The Squire... placed a block upon the floor, on...
which was put a live cat; one pulled...
the head and the other the tail,
while the Squire with an axe severed the cat in twain, at the same time... exclaiming, "Death has now parted... you!" The couple departed with a... firm belief that the performance was...
strictly legal, and have not lived together since.

Dr. Barry, in England, has discovered an excellent and immediate...
cure for the bite of a snake or mad...
dog, viz by applying a cupping...
glass over the wounded part.

CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS.

The following is part of an article...
on this subject, originally published... in a Worcester (Mass.) paper. The... writer, it will be seen, reposes great... confidence in the remedy proposed;
and it may, perhaps, in cases where...
the habit is not of long standing, effect a partial, if not an entire cure.

The remedy, such as it is, is to be... found in the following extract. The...
writer remarks, that "there is no...
mystery or concealment in this matter, the thing is open to public scrutiny and public trial, and instead of...
feared, I earnestly solicit an open... and impartial investigation. In doing this, my sole object is the public good. If the remedy shall be... found to fail or prove ineffectual, I... shall henceforth place no reliance on... experience, observation, or the testimony of my own senses.

I know nothing of Dr. Chamber's... medicine—its composition is secret, confined, I am told, to Rutgers' College and its Professors. Its high & exorbitant price, however, is a great... objection to its general adoption,
and from the facts which have come... to my knowledge, I have no hesitation in saying, that the proportion... of successful cases in which it has...
been used, is not greater than where...
my own has been employed.

The success of my remedy is...
founded on that immutable principle... in our nature, that we loathe whatever produces a disagreeable or unpleasant impression. It is obvious... that such impressions may be obliterated by time, hence a repetition... of the remedy sometimes becomes... necessary.

The prescription which I have generally employed, is the following:
Antimonial Wine, half an ounce;
Wine of Ipecac, two drachms; Tincture... of Assafoetida, one drachm. A... portion of this, and in cases of long... standing, the whole of it, is to be...
mixed with the liquor to which the...
person is addicted, and, in many...
cases, unless the person is told, he will...
swallow the dose without suspicion.

It is not always necessary that all... of the ingredients should be administered, and the dose can be graduated... according to the constitution, age, and... inverteracy of habit. The relish for...
liquor will be instantly and entirely... destroyed; and whenever the liquor... is seen, and in many instances even...
mentioned, the principle of association will immediately call up the... disagreeable impression. As long... therefore as this is retained in the...
memory, there will be no danger of...
a relapse; as soon as symptoms of...
this are observed, a much smaller...
dose will wonderfully refresh the...
memory.

The above remedy is no nostrum.
It has not been brooded over in secrecy, hatched in darkness, and now...
ushered into the world, unable to...
bear the light. It is offered with... much confidence to the public for...
trial; and those who witnessed its operation are particularly requested to...
give the result in some of the public...
papers, or leave information with...
the editors.

All editors who are friendly to the...
suppression of intemperance, are...
requested to give the above an insertion in their papers.

IMPRISONING FOR DEBT.

A captain of a trading ship being...
not long since in the city of Constantinople, lodged in the house of... a seafaring Turk.—One day he observed to the Musselman, that in all... his walks through the immense city...
of Constantinople and its suburbs,
he had not seen any thing like a jail...
for the imprisonment of debtors.

Christian dog! (said the disciple of...
Mahomet) do you suppose we are... so debased as to copy the Nazzarine policy? We take care to strip... a debtor of all his property, as far... as it will go to pay just debts—but...
there we leave him—we instantly... turn him loose to begin the world...
again.—The believers in our Prophet... are above shutting up their fellow... men in cages in order to starve, persecute and torment them.—We make...
a distinction between a man and a... rat—I have been in several of the...
Nazarine (Christian) cities, and never... looked at a debtors' prison without horror, as a place where man is...
degenerated to the condition of a rat!

A Codfish was caught off Portsmouth N. H. harbour, which weighed... ed 97lbs.
