and of mirth was heard by night, a single of mirth was heard by night,
Its marry peals ring high.
And song and dance and a nitl rite
Bade the wing'd moments fly,
Clad Sodom, in her pomp and pride,
Gave up her soul to glee.
And proud Gomorrah by her side
Rang with the revelry.

The street, Zehoim, too, were glad, Glad with anholy mirth— And Admah's drunken sons were mad, And ruled upon the earth.

And ruled upon the earth.

The night massel on—The torches light Flash'd or from tower and wall And gay -ms, gliding to the sight, Glanced oright from bower to hall!

The morning came—and all was still, Save they, the warn'd from high, Who fast toward the distant hill, With hurried steps fled by.

The sun arose, and fiercely swept Along his red'ning path, While riot's drunken sons still slept, Nor dream'd of coming wrath. Nor dream'd of coming wrath.
There is a dark cloud rolling on,
Swift as a rushing flood;
Its heaving bosom dim and dun,
Seems fill'd with flame and blood!
It closes o'er thein—fierce and fast
Red streams of sulphur pour!
Lightning and smoke and fery blast,
Mix with the thunder's roar!

And hark! a dark yell rends the sky Ten thousands shrick aboud!

The cry of mortal agony!

Man struggling with his God!

*Tis done!—The cloud is roll'd away. But where, O where are ye' Ye cities of the seal!
