Sluggards who discourage every new interprise, and all attempts at improve ment, would have us believe, that agr culture has gained nothing by any de-parture from old practices. Nothing parture from old practices. Nothing can be more pernicious than the precepts of these miserly drones, unless it be their examples. A singular proof of what has been done in one, and a stimulous to persevere in other pursuits of the hasbandman, may be seen in the case of the increased average weight of oxen, calves, and sheep in the course of a century. In the year 1700, the average weight of the case of the increased average weight of oxen, calves, and sheep in the course of a century. In the year 1700, the ave rage weight of oxen killed for the Lon don market, was 370 pounds, of calve-In the year 1700, the ave from market, was 570 pounds, and of sheep 28 pounds. In 1812 the average weight of usen, in the same market, was 800 pounds, that of calves 150, and of sheep 80 pounds—the latter having increased three fold! Has this improvement in all the valuable properties and dispositions of ani-mals for the food of man been accomplished without management! without skilful crossing of breeds? without knowledge gained by reading, reflection and study? without exhibition to excite. and premiums to honor success? with out the aid of discussion and the light of science? Yet there are many among st us of those numerous families, the 'Hold fasts,' and the 'Good enoughs, who will ask you, who ever learned any thing about farming from study or from book-? To see a farmer with a pen of a book in his hand, is in their opinion aminous of bad management and ruing and at a cattle show, where the premi-ums have been bought chiefly by con-tributions levied on merchants, lawyers, and gentlemen, who are not farmers; fault finders, come and peep through or over the enclosure, and go away, pre-ferring rather to lay out one dollar in still burnt whiskey, or to print fithy political hand bills, than to save from dissolution a society established for the benefit of his peculiar calling. Thompson's Apostrophe to Philosophy, is, nevertheless, applicable to knowledge in cally justified than in the progress which has been made by scientific researches and illustrations in the pursuits of the agriculturalists.

PROPOSAL FOR PRINTING The Journals of the Convention ons of the Province of Ma. ryland, Held in the City of Annapolis, in the years 1774, 1775 and 1776.

IF Sufficient encouragement be ofish, in one volume octavo, the Jourals of the Conventions of the Province of Maryland in the years 1774, '5 and '6. It is believed that there are not more than two copies of these Journals now extant; and from the circumstance that they were printed in pamphet form, and unbound, it may be fairly concluded that they, too, must in a fer years be destroyed by the mere deray of time. These Journals are the only authentic evidence of the Political History of Maryland, during that interes-ting and unquiet period. Although we have, in abundance, histories of Maryland, as connected with the asso-ciation of Provinces and Colonies, at that time formed, for mutual protecti on against the improper assumption of power on the part of the Mother Coatry, yet none of these works embrace what may be termed its Domestic and Internal Political History.

Internal Political History.

This part of the history of Maryland it should be her pride to had down to posterity, not only on account of its deep interest, but as a public State Record of the voluntary sacrifices, daring spirit, and determined resolution, of her citizens, during this period of doubt and dismay.

In the confident expectation that the citizens of Maryland will consider the proposed publication of sufficient importance to entitle it to their patronage, the Subscriber is induced to issue these proposals.

year 1805. It is proposed to the Decisions in a Series of Numbers, each to contain not less than one hundred and twenty five pages, and four numbers to constitute a volume The last number of each volume will centain a full and complete Index This mode of publication, it is conceived, possesses advantages which give it a decided preference to that of publishing the Reports in bulky volumes. It ensures the earlier publication of the Reports, and as not more than four numbers will be published in a year, the expense will not be so sensibly felt.
