

the party... the Cabinet... the Secretary... the President... the Vice President... the Chief Justice... the Justices... the Senators... the Representatives... the Members of the House... the Members of the Senate... the Members of the Executive Branch... the Members of the Legislative Branch... the Members of the Judicial Branch...

to Lloyd's... Lord Aberdeen declared... in his speech... on the 18th July... it was impossible for the two neutrals to co-operate with the belligerent under the Treaty... until the Emperor waived his belligerent rights in the Mediterranean... His Imperial Majesty voluntarily gave his assurance... that he would waive his right as a belligerent... and co-operated with him... But if his Imperial Majesty resume his belligerent rights... it may be inferred that he will lose our co-operation in the Mediterranean... The same paper of Oct. 7th says... 'It having been asserted that the Dardanelles was actually blockaded before any communication was made to our Government... we have to reply... that according to our latest accounts the blockade had not taken place... and may not take place for some time... 'Whatever may have been the proceedings of Russia... our Government... we repeat will know how to afford the most efficient protection to British commerce and the national character... From the London Sun... 'We have reason to understand... that the Earl of Aberdeen notified to Lloyd's the intention of Russia to blockade the Dardanelles... that our Government do not intend to recognise that blockade... as being attempted not only in direct violation of the promise made by Russia... but contrary to the spirit of the Treaty of London... as well as subversive of our commercial interest... With this view... a remonstrance notified to the Emperor Nicholas... couched in terms which will admit of no equivocation... The answer... must be unequivocal... The alternative is peace or war... The Russian have stolen a march upon our Government by taking advantage of their proximity to the Dardanelles... and ordering their fleet to blockade it... but they will find that they have overreached themselves in this particular... if they adopt any measures which may bring them in collision with the British fleet... We Sir Pulteney Malcolm... the Emperor's intention to blockade the Dardanelles... our Government... moment in appraising Admiral Malcolm of the altered circumstances... and directing him how to act... to render their instructions still more effective... they determined upon reinforcing their fleet without delay... and such urgency in fitting out the men of the fleet... that every ship has orders to sail as soon as ready... without waiting for others... In addition to the ships already under orders... we have reason to expect that two more line of battle ships are secretly preparing for sea... Their destination is not known... but it may be guessed at... 'RUSSIA AND TURKEY... Operations before Varna... Sept. 17... After we had on the 13th inst. driven the Turks to the point of the bayonet... and with a loss of 500 killed... from the points occupied by them without the fortress... the counter-scarp... situated in front of the northern bastion... near the sea... was blown into the air at sunrise on the 14th... and their fire effectually silenced by ours... This counter-scarp was shown by the effects of a mine into the fosse... which became in consequence so completely filled... that we were able to take possession of the entrance to the breach in the bastion which had materially suffered from our fire... The siege having proceeded thus far... and the corps of Adjutant General Goltz... his Majesty deemed it necessary to summon the garrison to surrender... seeing there was no hope of their receiving reinforcements... or of their longer maintaining themselves in their position... A flag of truce was accordingly sent to the fortress... The first replies sent to a hope that the enemy would allow a further effusion of blood... by consenting to a capitulation... and a temporary suspension of hostilities... the consequence... But as Admiral Greig was convinced... after a conference held on the quarter deck of the Empress... with the commandant of Varna... (the Captain Pacha) that time by evasive answers... the negotiations were broken off... and on the 15th the cannonade recommenced... At the present moment... and our still continues interrupted... with the works are pushed forward... the greatest activity... The batteries of siege are planted on one side in the position occupied by Adjutant General Goltz... and on the other upon the right flank of our works... The southern part of the city... which had hitherto remained all quiet... is now the object of an uninterrupted fire...

Operations before Choumli... Sept. 15... Our troops maintain themselves in the positions which they have taken up before Choumli... notwithstanding the difficulties they have had to encounter in collecting forage... Since the last attack on our redoubts the Turks have not ventured out of their trenches... Though they keep up a daily fire upon us... we have neither killed nor wounded... 'Virginia... The Jackson Ticket in Virginia... according to the returns published... leads the Adams Ticket SIX THOUSAND AND FORTY-NINE VOTES... This majority... is believed... will be doubled by the counties to be heard from... Virginia has certainly given him her 24 electors... 'Ohio for Jackson... A letter from a very respectable gentleman in Baltimore... was received in this city yesterday... which says that the Jackson ticket is elected in Ohio... 'Latest from New-York... From the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser... (a violent Adams paper)... of MONDAY Evening... November 10... PRESIDENTIAL CANVASS... Our friends are crowding upon us this morning with so much solicitude upon the subject of the Presidential Election... that we have determined to present them with such a canvass of the votes as we think warranted by the complexion of the returns thus far received... It will be perceived with regret by the friends of social order and well regulated liberty... that two districts which were confidently claimed by our Albany Correspondents on Saturday... have voted to ratify Mr. Van Buren's bargain with the South... Adams Jackson... 'Wanted to Hire... The subscriber wishes to hire five or twenty stout Servants... for the year... which liberal wages... will be given... Enquire of Wm Brown of B... in Annapolis... or to Richard Green... Manager of Elk Ridge Furnace... Nov 13... 'Trustee's Sale... By virtue of a decree of the Chancery Court... the subscriber will expose to public sale... the highest bidder... on Friday the 28th inst... at 12 o'clock... at Mr James Hunt's Tavern... in Annapolis... all that parcel of land... situated lying and being in Anne Arundel county... formerly owned and occupied by Wm Marriott of Thomas... being part of three tracts of land... called Ridgely's Chance... Worthing called Ridgely's Addition... and the Addition to Ridgely's Addition... containing three hundred and forty two and a half acres... more or less... Terms of sale... cash to be paid on the day of sale... or satisfaction thereof by the Chancellor... Upon the payment of the whole purchase money... and ratification of the sale... the subscriber is authorized to convey the said property to the purchaser or purchasers... Sum. Pinkney, Trustee... Nov. 6... 'NOTICE... The subscriber... leave to inform all persons wishing to obtain the benefit of the Act of Tolocency... who reside in the city of Annapolis... and Anne Arundel county... that he intends to make it his business to be prepared with all the necessary and approved forms... so as to facilitate the obtaining of the benefit of the said Act... and that he will... on the shortest notice... supply them with all the papers required by law... all of which will be done on the most moderate terms... The subscriber can always be found in the office of the Court of Appeals... Any person making application to the subscriber... furnished with their insolvent papers... will come prepared with a complete list of their property... and also of their creditors and of debts due to them... Oct 30... 'Orphans' Court Sale... The subscriber will sell by public auction... on Saturday the 29th November 1838... at ten o'clock A. M... at the late residence of Thomas W Hall... do ceased... in Anne Arundel county... 'All the Stock... Consisting of Hogs... Cows... Oxen... Sheep... & Plough... Harrow... Hoes... and other farming utensils... ALSO... 'The Crop of Corn... Just made... and housed... 'The Crop of Tobacco... Now cured... and hanging in the tobacco houses... At the same time... if not before disposed of... I will sell all of The Servants... belonging to the deceased... These Negroes... among the most valuable in the state... I am authorized to dispose of in the state... at private sale... They can now be delivered at the inventory price... and I should be glad to sell them in families... John Glenn... Adm'r... Thos. W Hall... deceased... Nov. 13... 'Maryland Election... Third Electoral District... This District comprises Frederick... Washington and Alleghany counties... and gives two Electors... The following returns were received by last night's stage... FREDERICK COUNTY... Jackson maj... Adams maj... 'WASHINGTON COUNTY... Five districts only heard from... giving a majority for Jackson of 269... No returns from Alleghany...

to Lloyd's... Lord Aberdeen declared... in his speech... on the 18th July... it was impossible for the two neutrals to co-operate with the belligerent under the Treaty... until the Emperor waived his belligerent rights in the Mediterranean... His Imperial Majesty voluntarily gave his assurance... that he would waive his right as a belligerent... and co-operated with him... But if his Imperial Majesty resume his belligerent rights... it may be inferred that he will lose our co-operation in the Mediterranean... The same paper of Oct. 7th says... 'It having been asserted that the Dardanelles was actually blockaded before any communication was made to our Government... we have to reply... that according to our latest accounts the blockade had not taken place... and may not take place for some time... 'Whatever may have been the proceedings of Russia... our Government... we repeat will know how to afford the most efficient protection to British commerce and the national character... From the London Sun... 'We have reason to understand... that the Earl of Aberdeen notified to Lloyd's the intention of Russia to blockade the Dardanelles... that our Government do not intend to recognise that blockade... as being attempted not only in direct violation of the promise made by Russia... but contrary to the spirit of the Treaty of London... as well as subversive of our commercial interest... With this view... a remonstrance notified to the Emperor Nicholas... couched in terms which will admit of no equivocation... The answer... must be unequivocal... The alternative is peace or war... The Russian have stolen a march upon our Government by taking advantage of their proximity to the Dardanelles... and ordering their fleet to blockade it... but they will find that they have overreached themselves in this particular... if they adopt any measures which may bring them in collision with the British fleet... We Sir Pulteney Malcolm... the Emperor's intention to blockade the Dardanelles... our Government... moment in appraising Admiral Malcolm of the altered circumstances... and directing him how to act... to render their instructions still more effective... they determined upon reinforcing their fleet without delay... and such urgency in fitting out the men of the fleet... that every ship has orders to sail as soon as ready... without waiting for others... In addition to the ships already under orders... we have reason to expect that two more line of battle ships are secretly preparing for sea... Their destination is not known... but it may be guessed at... 'RUSSIA AND TURKEY... Operations before Varna... Sept. 17... After we had on the 13th inst. driven the Turks to the point of the bayonet... and with a loss of 500 killed... from the points occupied by them without the fortress... the counter-scarp... situated in front of the northern bastion... near the sea... was blown into the air at sunrise on the 14th... and their fire effectually silenced by ours... This counter-scarp was shown by the effects of a mine into the fosse... which became in consequence so completely filled... that we were able to take possession of the entrance to the breach in the bastion which had materially suffered from our fire... The siege having proceeded thus far... and the corps of Adjutant General Goltz... his Majesty deemed it necessary to summon the garrison to surrender... seeing there was no hope of their receiving reinforcements... or of their longer maintaining themselves in their position... A flag of truce was accordingly sent to the fortress... The first replies sent to a hope that the enemy would allow a further effusion of blood... by consenting to a capitulation... and a temporary suspension of hostilities... the consequence... But as Admiral Greig was convinced... after a conference held on the quarter deck of the Empress... with the commandant of Varna... (the Captain Pacha) that time by evasive answers... the negotiations were broken off... and on the 15th the cannonade recommenced... At the present moment... and our still continues interrupted... with the works are pushed forward... the greatest activity... The batteries of siege are planted on one side in the position occupied by Adjutant General Goltz... and on the other upon the right flank of our works... The southern part of the city... which had hitherto remained all quiet... is now the object of an uninterrupted fire...

to Lloyd's... Lord Aberdeen declared... in his speech... on the 18th July... it was impossible for the two neutrals to co-operate with the belligerent under the Treaty... until the Emperor waived his belligerent rights in the Mediterranean... His Imperial Majesty voluntarily gave his assurance... that he would waive his right as a belligerent... and co-operated with him... But if his Imperial Majesty resume his belligerent rights... it may be inferred that he will lose our co-operation in the Mediterranean... The same paper of Oct. 7th says... 'It having been asserted that the Dardanelles was actually blockaded before any communication was made to our Government... we have to reply... that according to our latest accounts the blockade had not taken place... and may not take place for some time... 'Whatever may have been the proceedings of Russia... our Government... we repeat will know how to afford the most efficient protection to British commerce and the national character... From the London Sun... 'We have reason to understand... that the Earl of Aberdeen notified to Lloyd's the intention of Russia to blockade the Dardanelles... that our Government do not intend to recognise that blockade... as being attempted not only in direct violation of the promise made by Russia... but contrary to the spirit of the Treaty of London... as well as subversive of our commercial interest... With this view... a remonstrance notified to the Emperor Nicholas... couched in terms which will admit of no equivocation... The answer... must be unequivocal... The alternative is peace or war... The Russian have stolen a march upon our Government by taking advantage of their proximity to the Dardanelles... and ordering their fleet to blockade it... but they will find that they have overreached themselves in this particular... if they adopt any measures which may bring them in collision with the British fleet... We Sir Pulteney Malcolm... the Emperor's intention to blockade the Dardanelles... our Government... moment in appraising Admiral Malcolm of the altered circumstances... and directing him how to act... to render their instructions still more effective... they determined upon reinforcing their fleet without delay... and such urgency in fitting out the men of the fleet... that every ship has orders to sail as soon as ready... without waiting for others... In addition to the ships already under orders... we have reason to expect that two more line of battle ships are secretly preparing for sea... Their destination is not known... but it may be guessed at... 'RUSSIA AND TURKEY... Operations before Varna... Sept. 17... After we had on the 13th inst. driven the Turks to the point of the bayonet... and with a loss of 500 killed... from the points occupied by them without the fortress... the counter-scarp... situated in front of the northern bastion... near the sea... was blown into the air at sunrise on the 14th... and their fire effectually silenced by ours... This counter-scarp was shown by the effects of a mine into the fosse... which became in consequence so completely filled... that we were able to take possession of the entrance to the breach in the bastion which had materially suffered from our fire... The siege having proceeded thus far... and the corps of Adjutant General Goltz... his Majesty deemed it necessary to summon the garrison to surrender... seeing there was no hope of their receiving reinforcements... or of their longer maintaining themselves in their position... A flag of truce was accordingly sent to the fortress... The first replies sent to a hope that the enemy would allow a further effusion of blood... by consenting to a capitulation... and a temporary suspension of hostilities... the consequence... But as Admiral Greig was convinced... after a conference held on the quarter deck of the Empress... with the commandant of Varna... (the Captain Pacha) that time by evasive answers... the negotiations were broken off... and on the 15th the cannonade recommenced... At the present moment... and our still continues interrupted... with the works are pushed forward... the greatest activity... The batteries of siege are planted on one side in the position occupied by Adjutant General Goltz... and on the other upon the right flank of our works... The southern part of the city... which had hitherto remained all quiet... is now the object of an uninterrupted fire...

to Lloyd's... Lord Aberdeen declared... in his speech... on the 18th July... it was impossible for the two neutrals to co-operate with the belligerent under the Treaty... until the Emperor waived his belligerent rights in the Mediterranean... His Imperial Majesty voluntarily gave his assurance... that he would waive his right as a belligerent... and co-operated with him... But if his Imperial Majesty resume his belligerent rights... it may be inferred that he will lose our co-operation in the Mediterranean... The same paper of Oct. 7th says... 'It having been asserted that the Dardanelles was actually blockaded before any communication was made to our Government... we have to reply... that according to our latest accounts the blockade had not taken place... and may not take place for some time... 'Whatever may have been the proceedings of Russia... our Government... we repeat will know how to afford the most efficient protection to British commerce and the national character... From the London Sun... 'We have reason to understand... that the Earl of Aberdeen notified to Lloyd's the intention of Russia to blockade the Dardanelles... that our Government do not intend to recognise that blockade... as being attempted not only in direct violation of the promise made by Russia... but contrary to the spirit of the Treaty of London... as well as subversive of our commercial interest... With this view... a remonstrance notified to the Emperor Nicholas... couched in terms which will admit of no equivocation... The answer... must be unequivocal... The alternative is peace or war... The Russian have stolen a march upon our Government by taking advantage of their proximity to the Dardanelles... and ordering their fleet to blockade it... but they will find that they have overreached themselves in this particular... if they adopt any measures which may bring them in collision with the British fleet... We Sir Pulteney Malcolm... the Emperor's intention to blockade the Dardanelles... our Government... moment in appraising Admiral Malcolm of the altered circumstances... and directing him how to act... to render their instructions still more effective... they determined upon reinforcing their fleet without delay... and such urgency in fitting out the men of the fleet... that every ship has orders to sail as soon as ready... without waiting for others... In addition to the ships already under orders... we have reason to expect that two more line of battle ships are secretly preparing for sea... Their destination is not known... but it may be guessed at... 'RUSSIA AND TURKEY... Operations before Varna... Sept. 17... After we had on the 13th inst. driven the Turks to the point of the bayonet... and with a loss of 500 killed... from the points occupied by them without the fortress... the counter-scarp... situated in front of the northern bastion... near the sea... was blown into the air at sunrise on the 14th... and their fire effectually silenced by ours... This counter-scarp was shown by the effects of a mine into the fosse... which became in consequence so completely filled... that we were able to take possession of the entrance to the breach in the bastion which had materially suffered from our fire... The siege having proceeded thus far... and the corps of Adjutant General Goltz... his Majesty deemed it necessary to summon the garrison to surrender... seeing there was no hope of their receiving reinforcements... or of their longer maintaining themselves in their position... A flag of truce was accordingly sent to the fortress... The first replies sent to a hope that the enemy would allow a further effusion of blood... by consenting to a capitulation... and a temporary suspension of hostilities... the consequence... But as Admiral Greig was convinced... after a conference held on the quarter deck of the Empress... with the commandant of Varna... (the Captain Pacha) that time by evasive answers... the negotiations were broken off... and on the 15th the cannonade recommenced... At the present moment... and our still continues interrupted... with the works are pushed forward... the greatest activity... The batteries of siege are planted on one side in the position occupied by Adjutant General Goltz... and on the other upon the right flank of our works... The southern part of the city... which had hitherto remained all quiet... is now the object of an uninterrupted fire...