most choaked mer I listened, all was all, the wind rose and made me at length, several lights flashed the path along which he had come and advanced rapidly towards him. A halloo came upon the wind. I strove to answer it as loudly as I could.—
This time it mattered little whether my voice reached the summit or not; for, as soon as the lights seemed at the spot where the dog stood, he dashed down the cliff, clinging to the irregular surface as he came, now holding by a stone, now sliding down with the rolling earth, and snow till he sprang into my bosom, and almost smothering me with his caresses made the echoes of the cliffs ring a gain with his loud and ceaseless bark companions now perceived where I was. They made a circuit of some little extent, and descended to me by a less precipitous, but still a difficult path. My young friends unless you have experienced the transition from despair to safety, from adeath to life, you can form to your-self no idea of the flood of feelings. both rapturous and gentle, which then poured upon my soul. The n of my heart was now no widow! my children were not now faworld, to hope, to happiness, and I a poor hound! When your hand is next raised to strike your beast in his master. That master was a kind

From an Edinburg paper. JOHANNA SOUTHCOTE HER-

SELF AGAIN. It was sometime since mentioned, that three of the followers of this defunct dame were on the Sunday evening holding forth to the walkers in the King's Park. They are still saunter ing about here, and on Sunday se'r.tight the cutor coupled the name of his propheress with the long expected milleum, in a way which would have been highly amusing, from its extravagance. had it not been shocking from its im piety. The preacher stated, in so many words, that Satan had created much onfusion in Heaven before he and be rebellious legions were expelled those blessed ways ons, and the arch enemy of mankind was at present creating a great stir and disorder among the or ons of the earth. previously to his fi nai expulsion, and to the commence nai expulsion, and to the commence ment of the millenium. By referring to the 12th chapter of Revelations, it would be found that when the Woman Cinthed with the Sun was about to be delivered, a great dragon stood ready to devour the chlid. but up Into Heaven. In like manner, a great dragon—the wickedness of this orld'-had stood ready to devour the celestial child of Johanna Southcote; but it was born in secret, and convey ed to a place of safety by supernatura The orator did not state whether this son of the Phrophetess was residing in a distant parish or a distant kingdom -whether he was at school or some trade-but he averred that, in a few by Heaven with power to work a mira casts; and creeds, and introduce the long expected millenium. A sceptical wag in the assemblage, on hearing this astounding clincher, bawled out, 'O, Sandy Campbell, that'll not do.' Instead of being disconcerted by this bold in ears, he would be especially invested of being disconcerted by this bold interruption, in which his verscity was er saw. The ornamental work is of questioned, the preacher, like his promatogany and maple, tastefully designterruption, in which his veracity was questioned, the preacher, like his prototype in the play, vociferated in reply, 'rail on, ye scoffers, for you know not what you do.' A dreadful schism well lighted and ventilated, and furnity and the prototype of the play well lighted and ventilated, and furnity and the prototype of the play well lighted and ventilated, and furnity and the prototype of the play well lighted and ventilated. ply, 'rail on, ye scoffers, for you know not what you do.' A dreadful schism ensued in the congregation, and a scene of noise and confusion ensued, which of noise and contusted ensures, which was rather unseemly on a Sunday evening. It is a mortifying reflection, that any of the people of this enlightened city should be so weak and credulous to squander their money upon those strolling apostles of ignorance and im-

A CHALLENGE.

A CHALLENGE.

A little fop. conceiving himself insulted by a gentleman, who had ventured to give him some wholesome advice, strutted up to him with an air of importance, and said. 'sir, you are no gentleman! here is my card—consider yourself chalenged. Should I be from home when you honour me with a call, I had leave word with a friend to set the preliminaries to your satisfaction. To which the other replied re you are a fool-here is my cardentailer your nose pulled and should I not be at home when you call on me, you will find that I have left orders with my servant to hick you into the street. VAN SWEARINGEN TAKEN.

From the Va. Winchester Republican. with the wind rose and made me doubtful whether I heard it ascend timeornot, a third, all doubt wasover!

It was the honest voice of faithful Thor, coming at speed, and barking as he came, to show, doubtless, the path to the spot in which I lay. Again his deep mouthed bay sounded River in Kantana and the Red. gain his deep mouthed bay sounded River in Kentucky, together with Raloud and distinct, as it approached the top of the precipice. There he paused, and continued barking, till, apprehended by a tavern keeper, (who is also a post-master.) at whose house they had passed the night. In an hou se house after their departure, the mail arriving with Gov. Kent's proclamation describing Swearingen and his paramour, sus picion was directed towards them, and them in 2 or 3 hours.

the following history of Rachel Cunningham, to whom Lillo's Millwood, in the tragedy of George Barnwell, cannot hold a candle.

She was brought up at Bedford, Pa. where she was probably early initiated into the corruptions of that (during the watering season) fashionable and licentious place. Of her early history, how ever, we have heard nothing, excethat her person was perfectly lovely and that her countenance was a mirror great share of personal beauty as wa-Nymphs of Cypru—she visited Frank-in county. Pa. where the first act of - one of the most wealthy and respectable merchants of that countv. and effected a separation between himself and his wife. Stung at length with remorse, he summoned sufficient courage to break the spell which bound anger, pause-and think upon the clerks, he succeeded in extricating service which old Thor rendered to himself.

The scene now shifts to Pittsburg where the heroine of the drama soon captivated a wealthy blacksmith, the proprietor also of an extensive livery table, whose infidelity threw his wife nto a phrensy, and caused her, in a moment of revenge and desperation, to set fire to her husband's possessions, by which his extensive stables and forty horses were consumed. This effected the wife's desires, and the modern Millwood was again cast upon the

The scene next shifts to Harrisburg the capital of Pennsylvania, where she soon contracted an amour with Judge a name foremost in the list o debauchees and profligates in that staid and exemplary state. The consequence of which was another matrunonial sepa Judge we do not remember, nor is i material.

The fourth act finds her in Hager's town, Md. where she speedily entrapped in her toils the Sheriff of the conn ty. George Van Swearingen, who frequently been heard to say, that he never knew nor felt the raptures of love until he looked upon this stren. and that he never could gaze upon he without his whole frame being wrough up to the highest state of bewildering ry thing-fortune, nonour, fame-for her he became a felon-and for her he will probably die a feinn's death.

SPLENDID PACKET SHIP.

We had the pleasure vesterday of under the charge of Capt. Dixy, de signed to take the place of the Tusca rora, in the regular tine of Liverpoor packets. This we think, will be pro packets. nished with writing desks, drawers and other conveniences. Phil. Aurora.

From the New York Daily Advertiser. DYSPEPSIA.

This prevalent, and in many cases terrible disease, arising from a derange and of otters.

Gastate of the liver, is characterised by an inordinate acidity of the stomach, and until this be subdued, the process and until this be subdued, the process. and until this be subduced, the process of emaciation goes on with a steady pace, bidding defiance to all the nos-trums and palliatives so plentifully pre-scribed. Having been a severe suffer-er, I feel it aduly to others in my case, to communicate a simple, safe, and effectual remedy for the morbid and acid state of stomach alluded to. It is nostate of stomach alluded to. It is nothing more than a strong tea of wood soot, drunk freely, cold, at the pleasure of the patient. Let the experiment be fully made, and if others experience the same happyresult as myself, their testimony may be given to the public through the channel of your paper, and prove an axiangual banefit to the comprove an extensive benefit to the com-Health. manity.

From the National Intelligencers WINNEBAGOES. Interview at Leave-taking with the

this article; but it is difficult to convey by written description, a graphic detail of life peculiarities. The subject belongs rather to the magic pencil of our friend Trumbull, on whose vivid canass it would glow into life, and digni ty, and splendour. In the absence of his bold and rigorous touches, indulga-ne with in attempt at a sketch that nust, at best be but dry and spiritless. Imagine yourself in one of the stateommunicating with the Hall f the President's mansion. The gar-iture of the spartment—which on such accasions would naturally be noticed though not sumptuous is sufficiently decorative to belie Republican dignity. The ornamental hangings, the carpet ing, the mirrors, the tables of marble slab, the central chandelier with its eparkling lustres, the sofes, and mahogany chairs, with scats of crimson da-mask—all are perceived to comport with good taste, and vet not to offend fronting the hearth, which on this occasion, is beheld blazupon a noble, full length portrait of the Father of his Country, who looks down upon the scene with an aspect of mile pectator feels a momentary least of this illustrious patriot hovers in the middle. At the head of the auof the Republic-a Republic which now joyment of the wisest laws that ever him, and by a successful stratagem, effected through the aid of one of his feeted through the aid of one of his verified, that a nation will be then bes losophers, or philosophers be elevated to the scats of rulers. On the President's right hand we distinguish the Se-cretary of War, & around several others people, and the Governor of the Terthe fierce and wandering tribe, the en-whose chiefs is anxiously expected. The group is completed by the addition of some unofficial observers. urious to survey the scene.

The deputation at length arrived. Preceded by an interpreter our grim guests, in full feather and paint, filed into the apartment, and stalking one oy one to the President, grasped his hand with rade cordiality. Nothing daunted by his presence, or the gaze of his attendants, they next moved in ilence to the scats assigned them What an assemb age within those walls, it seemed like Marcus Aurelius sur rounded by a portion of his Senate, giving audience to an embassy of taw Numidians, or a legation from some cythian horde.

To the savages themselves, it is easy to conceive that the scene and its ac ompaniments contrasted with the famust have appeared like the transitions they were ushered into a palace. Two between them and their wonted barbarian haunts-the dusky forests where Lakes or roaring cataracts near which their dark cabine were built. They refined and polished beings-men whose commanding superiority of intellect they could not but feel, and in a mea appreciate. An extended comparable by the eye of others; and in their ave fixed self-complacency or sullen

WINNEBAGOES.
Interview at Leave-taking with the President.

Gentlemen—I promised, in my, last communication, to say something of the ceremony intimated in the fitle to this article; but it is difficult to convey
this article; but it is difficult to convey

Taken a long way stratched between us. There were those who the tween us. The tween us. The tween us. The tween us.
The tween us. The tween us. The tween us.
The tween us. The Father, when I came in sight of you home, it looked white and beautiful.

Pether, I am as old as you. My heart is true. They told me your heart was black. It is not so. We salute in ed; he has erected his Father, I say no more. My talk is Father, I say no more. By talk is erwood, about seven miles from this little. I am a chief among my people. But one is here who will speak to you place; where he has been at for about soon, and tell you better our thoughts. On the 12th inst. he as-The address being ended, a young advanced in obedience to a signal from the old warrior, and light ad the pipe with fire struck from a flint.

He weeks. On the 12th inst. he ascended his throne, with all the pomp and presumption imaginable, and commenced the execution of his mission. On the same evening, after having sus d the pipe with fire struck from a flint The pipe was then presented to the President, the chief still holding its stem. He inhaled a few puffs, and as the smoke curled gently upwards, the savage group gazed with intentions and uttered a low murmur of attrafaction. The chief then handed the calumet to all the spectators in order, and lastly. over in form to the President to be retained; who, requesting the Indian to lay one hand upon it again, while he pledged him with the other, proceeded to dictate to the interpreters his reply 'Say to this Chief, I rejnice to see him. He and his brethren are welcome to me and my children.

cloud bas been between us; but I am pleased equally with him, that it has been dissipated. It is dispersed like the fumes of the pipe we have smoked.

Sav-I am glad that he and his com panious meet me on this propitious day Bid him to look to the face of the heavens. No cloud is there. The sun shines brightly upon us. The Great Spirit looks down and smiles upon our his path in peace to the abodes of his fathers. When he is gone, I will look I hear ever after that in place of pacific. any hostile disposition break forth a mong his nation towards my brethren and children, I will say it is impossible. For I have the word of a Winne hago, which must be true, that his peo be pledged their amity with mine, and Say—I pesterday beheld win satisfaction, the sports of himself and his associates, as they practised their an cient war dance upon the green beneath my windows. But a higher pleasure l ow experience-and one the memor of which will endure-in cordially greeting him within these walls, and reciprocating assurances of plighted concord.

Each of these periods, so soon as inerpreted, drew forth a hearse plauditon the savage auditors. Once it swell ed to a deafening howl, in acknowledgment of the compliment paid to the aviolable integrity of their word.

But I weary your patience, Gentle of this communication, not to entrench drop the curtain, therefore, for the pre ent, and disiniss what remains of the spectacle to another opportunity. A Looker on in Washington.

VALUABLE RECIPE.

In the Memoirs of Count Segur (vol. p. 168), there is the following anecote: "My mother (the Countess de Segur.) being asked by Voltaire re specting her health, told him the mos must have carried with it something of painful feeling she had, arose from the humiliation to their minds; but the decay of her stomach, and the difficul-feeling was hid too deep to be discove- by of fluding any kind of aliment that it could bear. Voltaire, by way of con-Muleira sipped from cut glass by these series featured visiters, who were accustomed to lap water from the rouning and waters. Though this circomstance for the program of the gast and no steers are back as about 15 years on an all states are continued in a report of the Department. In the course of these instances of the states of the desired of the course of these researches, many anes down and other neckting entrails of bears and in otters.

Business succeeded. An old chief attent for into the centre of the room, as with a long uncouth pipe in his hand, which after a brief ceremonial not provided in the provided and the following is the provided and the following as with a long uncouth pipe in his hand, which after a brief ceremonial not provided in the provided and water of peace. Helding it then before him, and opiniting to it, and the proposition of the farms of postatoes and hard blood reporting them in French, and a second interprete with mental tones, accompanied with much carried with conservation of the state of the provided and the salt liting of a state of peace. He spoke in short paragraphs, and indian of half blood reporting them in French, and a second interprete with the abiliting of a state of the provided and the provided of the salt liting of the provided and the salt liting of the provided and the provided a

I now see your face. It looks spon the Father of Patients, (Chie) Republication PATTENTION, THE UNIVERSE!!! Iste Deus qui sit, Peccator excubato.

An imposter was brought into this town, as the 15th inst. who declared himself to be Jesus Christ; and that he had recently come from heaven on purpose of judging the world, which was shortly to be at an end. He attempted heme, it looked white and-beautiful.

My heart rejoiced. I thought now I should talk with you.

Father, the Great Spirit gave to his children, the Winnebagoes, a pleasant plant. It is good to smoke. I have it here. Touching with his finger the bowl of the hipe—'f give it to you in peace.

Should talk with you.

Father, the Great Spirit gave to his children, the Winnebagoes, a pleasant plant. It is good to smoke. I have it here. Touching with his finger the bowl of the hipe—'f give it to you in peace.

This strange prodigy is remarkably expert in quoting scripture, and is not without followers, as might be expect-ed; he has erected his throne for the purpose of judging the world, at Leath pended his judgments, he repaired to the house of one of his followers, (who accompanied him to this place,) where proselytes, about twenty, were shipping him; at his presence they im mediately are frated themselves at his feet, calling the term these enth asto devotees, are found most respectable citizens of the neigh bourhood; even some who have preached the government least two different boilies, and have now condescended to every aid for refreshments! We mus worship this grange god, who declares surrender the palm of enterprise to you that he can stake heaven and earth Americans," said the Russian Com with his nod, that he can engulf the human family in the vortex of oblivion, if he should but say it, and that the whole hosts of heaven are prompt in the execution of his word.

The imposter was taken before a magistrate of this place, who could find no accusation (mirabele dictut) against him; no law applicable to a god, and consequently, Jupiter was dismissed. A citizen of Leatherwood, knowing the injury he had done to his followers; some of whom were entirely deranged, others concless of property, had turned their flocks but their cornfields, could not permit him to go with hopunity, but immediately smole the divingty and gave him an opportunity of escaping. He tembraced it and left town, with seventy five or a hundred citizens after Such superstition and blind enthusi-

sam as has been exhibited at Leather wood on the present occasion, of which this is but the outlines has been unpa rallelled in modern times, even amongs the rude and barbarous tribes of the West, vea the heathen mythology, the history of Hindoos, or Hottentots, can scarcely present us with any thing exhibiting such a degree of human depra vity, or which has raised into such a horrid flame all the impure and diabo lical passions, which rage in the human heart

No doctrine, it appears can be so ravan of Mandingo traders going of heterodox, as not to have advocates; as the Niger. I adopted the Arabian cos to suit the wayward passions of the deturne and the religion of the country to suit the wayward passions of the de-praved mind, which prompt men to anctify vice, to recognize idolatry, or which has been laved in the blood of AMERICAN EN FERPRIZE. To the Editors of the N. Intelligencer.

Gentlemen: In performing sort of the duties assigned me by the States ry of the Nary, during the past tim-mer. I had occasion to address a circu-lar letter to a number of masters and owners, of the whale fishery, and fur I arrived after a tedious navigation of seal and other trades in the Pacific, a month. This city is situated five with a view of collecting such informations to the north of Kabra in a plain tion as they had treasured up, in the of moving sand, where nothing grow numerous voyages they had made in but brittle-twigs. I remained there a Southern latitudes, that might be recting the operations of the exploring expedition, now preparing for the enterprise. Answers were readily retuened to my letters; los books and nearly for a year in the some state, and amination, and a disposition by community to be incurable but that, nevertheless, a very simple remedy has restored him. It consisted in taking no other nourishment than the yolks of the solid pranches of the business of the Pacific.

ands, were becalmed in a thick for when the fog cleared way, they we appreced to find energl, the Stonings sapprised to find sneed, the Steining South Sea Company's barques, a list vessel of about fifty tons, between two discerter ships, which immedially run up the United States' fire, whether frigate' and slop of war let their and the Russian Commodore despitch a boat and officer, with an invitation. Capt. Paimer, of the American reset to come on board, which he made deck, he was asked what island the deck, he was asked what island thow were in sight, and if he had any know ledge of them? Yes, Sir," replie Capt. Patmer, "those are the Shet land islands, I am well acquainted wit them and a pilot here. I belong Sir to a fleet of five sail, out of Stoninguis under the command of Captain B Pendleton, whose ship is a com-Pendleton, whose ship is now at you wish for water or refreshments, will pilot you in, and my Commodor will be much pleased to render you an assistance, to obtain for you such refreshment as the country affords." kindly thank you, Sir," said the Ras sian Commodore, but, previous to being enveloped in fog, we had a sight of those islands, and concluded we had made a new discovary; and behold when the fog lifts, to our utter surprise, a beautiful little American vessel, to all appearances in as fine order as if she had but vesterday left her port in the had but yesterday left her port in the United States, is discovered alongsin of my ships, the master of which readily offers to pilot my vessels into port where his Commodore will tender me modore. Sir, you flatter me, replied the American Captain; but there is as Americans are a people that will ! formation, and what is now before my eves, an example and pattern for the pected to make new discoveries. I find the American flag, a fleet, and a pilot After treating Captain Palmer in the immense extent of land to the South and when the fog is entirely cleared most friendly manner, the Russian Commodore was so much struck by the Palmer's Land, and it bears his nam at this time, on the recent Russian and English charts."

TIMBUCTOO.

who announces himself as returne from l'imbuctoo, sent to the Geogra-phical Society of Paris, on the 10th of October, a brief account of his route, hi In 1826, being at Senegal, I re solved to explore Central Africa, and visit the cities of Jenne and Timbuctoo so as to be beforehand with the British On the 19th April, 1827, I left Cacan dy upon the Rio Nugnez; I joined a ca I tume and the religion of the country.

I passed without difficulty the high mountains of Senegambia and Fonta-Dhralon, the country of Kankau, o Wasoulo, &c. I arrived at Time, a village infinited by Mahometan Mandix-goes, situated in the southern part of Rambias, where I was distance for Bambara, where I was detained fi months by a severe illness. On the 19th January 1928, I resumed my journey. I visited the island and the city of Jenne and embarked upon the bout fourteen days, during which tim the inhabitants, and the commerce and resources of the country, and collected all the information that was within my steps to the north in order to traverse the great desert, and arrived at BIA rawan. This city is situated six days journey to the north of Timbuctoo, and is, the emporium of the salt which is

ANN APOLIS nber 24, 1828.

Marrielle on Tuesday To morrow being Christmas

COUNCIL CHAMBER. Annapolis, December, 1828. The Executive Council will meet on Iriday, the 26th inst.

The members of the Board of Public Vorks are requested to meet at Anna-gary next. as a report to the General Assembly required by law to be made by the s regarded by law to be said session. Sard, the second week of each session. tis hoped that the gentlemen composit, will not fail to attend the pro-

Jos. Kent, Ex officio. President of the Board.

COMMUNICATED. Mr. Green. -It was with great regret I per erived that Mrs. Magee, after all her prections on Saturday, did not meet her ispenses. I have it from the most un that she received oubted authority, that she received at 89 on that night; and as her expen siture was more than treble that sum. Annupolis, with their accustomed libe-uity, will endeavour to make her some this place, have already been so dy made known, that we believe il) oblige a friend to justice and to un

Mrs. Magee

Respectfully informs the citizens of longpolls, and its vicinity, that she stends giving a BALL, on Monday sening next, the 29th inst. in the BALL so the sufficient of the su Brould there be a sufficient nber of Ladies and Gentlemen, re freshments will be in readiness, and ery exertion made to give general sa sfaction to all those who may honour r with their company. Dec. 23.

PWENTIETH CONGRESS-SE-COND SESSION.

Thursday, December :8, 1828.
IN SENATE. IN SENATE.

The President communicated a letter from the Secretary of the Navy, ransmitting an abstract of the expen ares of the various appropriations for to contingent expenses of the Navy.
from the 1st of October 1827, to the 10th of September 1828; which was eferred to the committee on naval afrs.

The President presented a memori-I, signed by about 2000 merchants, raders and other citizens of Baltimore, emonstrating against the evils attend upon the auction system, as at mposition of a duty of ten per cent, on all sales by auction, except in the sales of bankrupt's effects, lead persons' goods sold for the benethe underwriters, shipping, and eal estate; which was referred to the mmittee on finance.

Mr. Barnard presented a similar meaorial, signed by several hundreds of the citizens of Philadelphia; which tars referred to the same committee, and on mution of Mr. B. both memotais were ordered to be printed.
The bill for the sale of the Salt Mines
the state of Missauri balancing to nine.

the state of Missouri, belonging to nine, U. S. was considered in committee shall, the whole, and after an explanation f the object of the bill, by Mr. Barsn, was ordered to be engressed for a lird reading.

The joint resolution on the subject of tives a

The joint resolution on the subject of the public printing. was read a third this, passed, and sent to the House (Representatives. OUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. The resolution moved by Mr. Verdink, yeaterdsy, by order of the committee of ways and means, calling for interest on the treuse on the Niagara frontier, and to be supleyment of froops to prevent the same, came up for blanderation, ld was adopted by the Husse. Am Mr. Chilton moved the figure of the committee on last, and Canals be instructed to find the same and Canals be instructed to find the cased into the expediency of adopting a system by which appropriations spablic money for Internal Improvement, may, as nearly as practicable.

arts, may, as nearly as practicable. Government of the several states lected

doly_elec

Congress prices th s is alte

OF hill for th blanks o

cordingly

Mr. M.I

took up stitution States, nine, na ected. Vice Pr

electer