The committee on claims having heretofore made a full and detailed report of the treasurer's proceedings for the past year, which is now before the house, this committee deem it unnecessary to repeat the particulars therein con-tained; and have only submitted this statement, to show the deficit for the fiscal year ending on the 1st day of December 1828, now to be provided for, in addition to the current

Expenses of the present year.

It will be observed from the foregoing statement, that the deficit for the fiscal year ending the first day of December 1828, is much less than the estimate of the treasurer or of the committee on ways and means. This variation is easily accounted for, when it is recollected, that the estimates referred to, were made under the then existing laws, which in pursuance of the recommendation of the commitpenditures and increase the revenue of the state, as will ap

The treasury has been relieved from the annual charge or account of the penitentiary amounting to 7,350 dollars, and the miscellaneous and additional expenses, estimated at 22,000 dollars and amounting to near that sum in 1897, have been reduced to $11,526 82; whilst the revenue of the state was considerably increased by several acts of assembly particularly "An act to authorise the sale of a portion of the unsubscribed shares reserved for the state in the Union Bank of Marylaid," and "An act to regulate the issuing of licenses to traders, keepers of ordinaries and others."

This decrease of expenditure and increase of revenue will fully account for the difference between the estimate and the actual deficit, and prove that the former were al nost literally correct.

It is also pleasing to remark, that although the most important revenue measure recommended by the committee, and adopted by the house of delegates at their last session, was rejected by the co-ordinate branch of the legislature, the treasury has been competent to meet the public demands; but this state of things will not continue, unless efficient neans shall be adopted, to establish a permanent and equitable system of revenue, adequate to the expenses of the

These splendid works, now in a state of mpid progression, are calculated thore for the benefit of posterity, than of the present generation, therefore it would not only be up pressive, but unjust, for the whole burden to fall upon the people of the present day, many of whom will have passed off the stage of life, before any benefit can be derived from them. 9,697 The true policy is to make ample provision for the payment of the interest on the amount of the state's subscription, and so soon as the works themselves yield a dividend ct. stock of 1822 and loan of 1828 For interest on University 5 per 1,500 cent stock of 1822, 1,250 to the stockholders, to appropriate the whole amount arising therefrom, in aid of the sinking fund already created by law, which directs, that any premium obtained by the stock is-sued by the treasurer, for the purpose of paying the state's subscription to the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company, and to the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company, "shall be invested in some safe and productive stock, at the discretion of the treasurer, with the advice and consent of the governor and council, for the time being; and the interest, dividends or profits, arising from such investment or investments, sends or profits, arising from such investment or investments, shall be reinvested as aforesaid, for the eventual redeinption of said loans." This is a fund properly applicable to the object to which it is appropriated, and when aided by the smallest profit, which the least-sanguine calculate on receiving from the investments in these works, will, in a few years, extinguish the whole debt created by our subscription, and by thus dividing the burden through a series of years, it will be too light to be oppressive at any particular period of time. The premium obtained on the stock already issued and sold to pay our subscription to the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company, is ten per centum, which has been invested, and if a like premium should be obtained for similar issues, the sinking fund created from that source alone will be considerable. will be considerable.
