For the Maryland Guzette. DEATH:

Say, what is death—but a release, From sickness, sorrow, pain, The welcome messenger of peace, The Christian spirit's gain.

Why wilt thou Death? e'er spread thy gloon The terrors of the grave. The terrors of the grave;
The winding sheet—appaling tomb—
When Jesus Christ can save? Can save from Death, can save from sin,

The mourning soul, who trust's, That God the Father, Christ in him, mine you the rainer, Christ in him, Will require his Duct.
In thoughts, O! Death? are fill'd with fears in the growth of the gro

The floods of grief, that o'er me roll, Will sink this heart of mine-Unless thou wilt sustain my soul, My Pather, God divine.

And when on earth my days shall cease-My locks be white and hoary? Wilt thou my Savior, whisp'ring peace, Receive me into glory. The conq'ror Death, will be subdu'd, His bars be burt asunder?

The mystery of the grave be view'd—
Be shook by Gods own thunder— What hidden grief shall dare invade,

My solitary hour?
When trusting in my God for aid—
I humbly own his power. In vain will Death, its glooms display— It ne'er shall fright me now! Althouge I mould'ring turn to clay,
To Thee-my God-I'll bow-LOGAN.

The following Recipe, published in your Gazette in Sept. 1827, I have for the Pence for Frechrick county.

Sept. 1827, I have located in T. Magruder, Ensign of Captain in the habit of making the according to the Executive will meet regain the 4th day in October next.

Mr. Green,

Mr. Green,

The following Recipe, published in your Gazette in Sept. 1827, I have located in the habit of making the according to the recipe, and find it much superior to any I have ever used. An Epicure.

For Tomato Ketchup Half a Gallon. As this is the season for making the best condiment for fish or steak, that ever pantry was furnished with, I send the following recipe to the American Farmer,

, l'ake—a gallon of skinned Tomatoes,

4 Table spoonsful of Salt;

4 do do of Black Pepper;

Half a spoonful Alspice;

8 Pods Red Pepper; 8 Pods Red Pepper; 5 Table spoundful for Mustard. Articles ground fine and simmered slowly in sharp vinegar, in a pewter basin, three or four hours, and then strained through a wire sieve, and bot-tled close. It may be used in two weeks, but improved much by age. Those who like the arricle may add, after the simmering is over, and the ingredients somewhat cooled, two ta bie speensful of the juice of garlic. So much vinegar is to be used as to nave half a gallon of liquor when the process is over. To my taste this is superior to any West India Ketchup that I have ever mes with, and it is withal an excellent remedy for dyswithal an excellent remedy for dy, pepsia. pepsia.

From the Paris Constitutionnel. Mr. Monge, formerly Lieut. Colunel of the Grenaliers of the Imperial Guard, under Napoleon, whom he had followed to Elba in 1814, died lately at the hos-pital in St. Louis, at Paris, after a long illness, and in a state of complete blindness. Firs superior officer, being a man of enterprising character, and of great courage, which qualities were known to Napoleon, had been charged by htm, on his return from the Isle of Biba, with the most dangero a mission, as well as the most difficult to be exeas well as the most unaccuted at that period.

He was to proceed with the greatest secrecy to Vienna to carry off. Maria Louisa and ner young son, and to bring hack to France. His credentials for fulfilling such a message, and cans-ing himself to be recognized, consisted of the following words:—
Place every confidence in this brave man. H. possesses mine. Give yourself up to him and follow him."

THE EPIDEMIC.—In the commence ent of the ravages of this pestilence, which threatens entire desolation to mur city, we made correlves objoint to many well meaning, yet raistaken people, by performing what we deemed an act of duty, in warning the stranger and unacclimated resident to take a timely departure. By many this warning was descarded; by sany who now have dearly paid the price of their incredulity and to perity. We now repeat the friendly admonition, and say to strangers—gul Stant not upon trifles, but go immediately. Be foot decived by the fallacious hope, that because you have escaped thus far, you will be spared; not regard the unthat because you have escaped thus are, you will be spared; now regard the unfounded assertions that if you have imbibed the fatal disease in your ayatem, it will be as bad or werse to fly than to remain. It is not so. If you should be taken, your chance of receivering proper attendance out of the city is quite as good as though you remained, and your chances of receivery are much more than equal. Before we gave advice we received from a very cefebrated medical friend with regard to the manner of purifying the room occupied by a patient infected with this malady, and we here repeat it:

With one quart of the Chlorurate of the oxyd of Swiium mix three quarts of water, and sprinkle it copiously about the sick room, over the bed clothes, &c.'
