EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Ladies' Literary Port Folio bids fair to stand at the head of publications of its class. The acknowledged talents of its principal editor, who has for a number of years been engaged in similar works, and of his able Literary conditors, will certainly give it a character which few others possess Wellburg, (Va) Gaz.
The Ladies Department is conducted by one of the most distinguished female writers of our country, Rockingham, (Va) Register.
It is more elevated and chaste in its character than the generality of similar publications. &c. Utica, (N. Y.) Intelligencer.
In point of literary merit and mechanical execution it surpasses every similar publication we have yet seen. &c. Watertown, (N. Y.) Register.
Indeed it is altogether a superior work. New York Mirror and Ladies' Literary Gazette.

SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.

BY virtue of a decree of the Court of Chancery of Maryland, the subscriber, as trustee will offer for sale at public auction, on the premises, on Saturday the 28th day of November next, at 12 o'clock, the farm in Annapolis Neck, lately owned by Philip W. Thomas, deceased. This farm containing, 624 ACRES

Of land, is situated on South River, near its mouth; a considerable part of it is covered with heavy timber; in point of fertility of soil it is exceeded by none in the neighbourhood. The soil is peculiarly adapted to the growth of Tobacco and Corn, and every species of marketable crop, and from its proximity to Annapolis, (being only four miles distant,) a ready market is found for all its products—abundance of fish, oysters and wild fowl are always to be found on its shores, which are several miles in extent.
THE TERMS OF SALE.
As prescribed by the decree are, that the purchase money be paid in three equal instalments, of twelve, eighteen and twenty-four months, payment to be secured by bonds or notes, with security approved by the trustee. On ratification of the sale and payment of the whole purchase money, the subscriber is authorized to convey an estate in fee simple. Persons disposed to purchase are invited to examine the premises now in the occupation of Mrs. Wells. For any further information application may be made to Ramsay Waters, in the city of Annapolis, or to the subscriber, residing on Rhode River.

Swain's Panacea

For the cure of Scrofula in any form, Pimples and Mercerial Diseases, Rheumatism, Ulcers, Herpes, White Swellings, Disorders of the Liver and Spleen, General Debility, and all these diseases arising from Impure Blood, it has also been found beneficial in Nervous and Drsyptic complaints.
Price Two Dollars per bottle, and Twelve Dollars per Dozen.

TO THE PUBLIC

In consequence of the numerous fraudulent impositions practised in reference to the medicine, I am again induced to change the form of my bottles. In future, the Panacea will be put up in round bottles, fitted longitudinally with the following words blown in the glass: "Swain's Panacea—Florida."
These bottles are much stronger than those heretofore used, and will have but only label which covers the cork, with my own signature on it, so that the cork cannot be drawn without destroying the signature, without which none is genuine. The medicine must consequently be known to be genuine when my signature is visible; to counterfeit which, will be punishable as forgery.
The increasing demand for this celebrated medicine has enabled me to reduce the price to two dollars per bottle, thus bringing it within the reach of the indigent.

My Panacea requires no economy; its astonishing effects and wonderful operation, have drawn, both from Patients and Medical Practitioners of the highest respectability, the most unqualified approbation, and established for it a character, which envy's pen, tho' dipped in gall, can never tarnish.
The false reports concerning this valuable medicine, which have been so diligently circulated by certain Physicians, have their origin either in envy or in the mischievous effects of the spurious imitations.
The Proprietor pledges himself to the public, and gives them the most solemn assurances, that this medicine contains neither mercury, nor any other deleterious drug.
The public are cautioned not to purchase my Panacea, except from myself, my accredited agents, or persons of known respectability, and all those will consequently be without excuse, who shall purchase from any other persons.
Philadelphia, Sept. 1828. Wm SWAIN.

From Doctor Valentine Mott, Professor of Surgery in the University of New York, Surgeon of the New York Hospital, &c.
I have repeatedly used Swain's Panacea, both in the Hospital and in private practice, and have found it to be a valuable medicine in chronic, syphilitic and scrofulous complaints, and in obstinate cutaneous affections.
Valentine Mott, M. D. New-York, 1st mo 5th, 1824.

From Doctor William P. Dewees, Adjunct Professor of Midwifery in the University of Pennsylvania, &c. &c.
I have much pleasure in saying, I have witnessed the most decided and happy effects in several instances of inveterate disease, from Mr. Swain's Panacea, where other remedies had failed—one was that of Mrs. Brown.
Wm. P. Dewees, M.D. Philadelphia, Feb 20, 1823.
From Doctor James Mease, Member of the American Philosophical Society, &c. &c.
I cheerfully add my testimony in favour of Mr. Swain's Panacea, as a remedy in Scrofula. I saw two inveterate cases perfectly cured by it, after the usual remedies had been long tried without effect—those of Mrs. Offner and Mrs. Campbell.
James Mease, M. D. Philadelphia, Feb. 18, 1823.

THE GENUINE PANACEA may be had wholesale and retail, at the Proprietor's own prices, of HENRY PRICE, Sole Agent in Baltimore, at the corner of Baltimore and Hanover streets Nov 27.

RELIGION—WHAT IS IT?

'Tis not to go to church to-day, To look devout, and seem to pray. An ere to-morrow's sun go down, He'll leaving scandal through the town.
Not every conscientious face Demerits the certain region of grace; A unit that seems to cowl at sin, Oft veils hypocrisy within.
'Tis not to mark out duty's walk, Or of our own good deeds to talk, And then to practice sacred crime, And so mislead and waste our time.
'Tis not for sects or creeds to fight, And call our zeal the rule of right, When all we wish, is at the best, To see our church exceed the rest.
'Tis not to wear the christian's dress, And love to all mankind profess, And treat with scorn the suffering poor, And fast against them close our door.
Ah! not religion swears not this Its fruits for sweeter, fairer is, Its heavenly soil alone it thrives, And more than blossoms where it lives. Religion! 'tis the rule of life, The hand of love, the hand of strife, Its precept this, 'tis others grace; Assured you'll find it in your face.
It agrees to hear an ill report, It agrees to help the sick, and poor, It tells of goals, or else is still, And does religion thus import? O! may our souls its influence count! Haste, haste, the height, the blissful day, When the whole earth shall learn its way.

THE UNEDUCATED WIFE.

At the close of a gloomy day in November, Albert Fitzgerald, a young man of very elegant and interesting appearance, found he had missed his way and was descending a lonely hill that ended in a thick forest. He stopped before he entered the dreary road, and cast an inquiring and eager gaze around; but saw no alternative except to go on, or retrace his steps and ascend the long, tedious hill. 'This is abominable,' said he, as he pulled the reins to stop his tired beast; 'I should be quite unwilling to make a supper for some hungry wolf or bear, it would be a most glorious end to my journey, and not at all inconsistent with deeds of noble daring; but perhaps there are no such prowlers here; and at all events it is a straight path—I can try a mile or two, and if I see or hear any thing alarming I can return; it will not be very sudden like, to be sure, to run from the enemy; but there is none to trumpet my fame in this wood—so come on my tired dapple.
The evening was fast closing, and he could only ride slowly, and with great caution, as the stumps of the trees often stood many feet high, and much impeded his progress. After he had been riding for some time, the snow commenced falling, and Fitzgerald began to be seriously alarmed, when suddenly a bright light shone through the underwood at no great distance. He galloped on, and saw, to his surprise and delight, a very comfortable looking house, with glazed windows, quite an uncommon thing in the back country.
'I suppose,' said he 'I shall share with some dozen little white devils, each striving with dirt and clamour to make me as uncomfortable as possible—well, I shall at least have a shelter from the bears and the weather.'
So saying, he threw the bridle around a stump, and springing over the fence, was just about knocking at the door, when a voice of great melody, and sweetness struck on his ear, singing the evening hymn. He stopped; but the music had ceased. He approached without noise to the window, and what was his surprise, his emotion, at beholding, in a secluded place like this, the most exquisitely beautiful creature he had ever seen. Her dress was that of a rustic, and her slight person, though thus unadorned, more faultless than the finest models he had ever gazed on in the halls of fashion and elegance.
Fitzgerald almost doubted his senses; for nothing mortal had ever seemed to him half so lovely. Her little white hands and dimpled fingers were smoothing the grey hairs of a most noble looking old man, who sat before a bright fire. His face was pale and careworn. His large expressive eyes were turned on his youthful companion with a tenderness that seemed to affect her much; he dismissed his wrinkled cheeks again and again; and seemed saying, by a thousand winning ways, to divert him from his sorrow. He was dressed like a farmer; but round his chair was thrown a large military cloak; apparently to keep him from the weather; any corner of which covered his foot that rested on a bench before him. The
