JOURNAL OF HEALTH

CONDUCTED BY AN ASSOCIATION OF PHYSICIANS. Health is the great aim of life, and the first step towards it is the preservation of the body.

The primary object, with the conductors of the Journal of Health, is to point out the means of preserving health and preventing disease. To attain this end, all diseases and both sexes shall be addressed, in a style familiar and friendly, and with an avoidance of such professional terms and allusions as would in any way obscure the subject, or alarm the most fastidious. The fruits of much reading, study, and careful observation, shall be placed before them so arranged and applied as to conduce most effectually to their bodily comfort and mental tranquillity. To whatever profession or calling they may belong, the readers of this Journal will find precepts susceptible of valuable application. Air, food, exercise, the reciprocal operation of mind and body, climate and localities, clothing and the physical education of children, are topics of permanent and prevailing interest, with the discussion and elucidation of which the pages of the work will be mainly filled.

Recommendation of the work.

We approve of the plan on which the publication, entitled the Journal of Health is conducted, and believe it to be calculated to be useful, by enlightening public opinion on a subject of high importance to the welfare of society. The numbers which have appeared, evince talent, and may be viewed as a pledge of the continued usefulness of the publication while conducted by its present editors. We, therefore, feel no hesitation in recommending it to public patronage.

REPORT OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,

24th November, 1829.

To the President of the United States:

Sir: I have the honour to submit the following report of the State of this Department.

The General Post Office was established July 26, 1775. There was then but one line of posts, extending from Annapolis in New-England, to Savannah, in Georgia; and the Postmaster General was authorized to establish such cross posts as he should think proper.

In October, 1782, the Postmaster General was required, by act of Congress, to cause the mail to be carried once a week to all the Post Offices; and by the same Act he was authorized to make provision for the transmission of newspapers by mail.

When the Federal Government was organized under the present Constitution, in 1789, the Post Office establishment was revised and perpetuated. There were then, and to the close of 1790, only seventy-five Post Offices in the United States: And the extent of Post Roads in the United States, in 1790, amounted to 1875 miles. Now, the number of Post Offices is eight thousand and four, and the Post Roads amount to 113,000 miles.

The first line of mail coaches in the United States, was established in pursuance of an Act of Congress, passed September 7, 1785, extending from Portsmouth, in New Hampshire, to Savannah, in Georgia. The transportation of the mail in coaches amounts at this time, to 6,507,818 miles in one year, and from the first day of January next, it will be increased to 6,785,810 miles. The whole yearly transportation of the mail in coaches, salkies and on horseback, amounts to about 13,700,000 miles.

The whole amount of Postages, (the only source of revenue to the Department,) from 1789 to July 1, 1829, was $26,441,496

The whole expenses of the Department, during the same period were as follow:

Compensation to Postmasters $7,829,925

Incidental Expenses 896,967

Transportation of the Mail, 16,052,513

24,779,405

Leaving an aggregate amount of revenue of $1,662,91

The Revenue of the Department is accounted for, as follow:

Amount of the several payments into the Treasury from 1789 to 1828, $1,103,063

Amount of the losses in the transmission of moneys during the same period, 17,348
