Will be performed in SAINT MARY'S church on Sunday next, God willing, by the Rev. Dr. Smith, of White Marsh, Prince George's county.

At the annual meeting of the taxables of this city held under the provisions of the act to provide for the public instruction of youth in Primary Schools in this state, on Saturday the 2d inst. SAMUEL RIDOUT was called to the Chair, and LEWIS NETT was appointed Clerk pro tem.

A majority of the taxables not being present, the meeting was unable to proceed to the regular business, and therefore

Resolved, That the trustees be requested to prepare a memorial to the General Assembly, praying a repeal of the Proviso to the first section of the Act of December session 1828, ch. 169, and procure the signatures of the citizens thereto.

The trustees, at the request of the meeting, then read the report of their proceedings; and the meeting adjourned to the last Monday in March next.

SAMUEL RIDOUT, Chairman.
Test. LEWIS NETT, Clerk.

The Trustees of Primary School District, No. 38, in Anne-Arundel county, beg leave to lay before their fellow-citizens assembled at this meeting, a brief report of their proceedings since the last annual meeting. They have erected a convent School-House by contract with Jerey Boyd, for the gross sum of $1,300

The cost of the whole lot of ground purchased for principal and interest, amounted to the sum of $314 11

But this lot proving to be of greater extent than was necessary for the purposes of the school, they agreed to convey the superfluous part to J. L. Boyd at its original cost, in part payment of his contract for building the house; On this account there should be deducted 201 48

Leaving as the actual cost of the lot, 82 63
And they have expended for stationary, fuel, and incidental expenses, 205 54

Making a total of expenses of $1,588 17 1/2
They have actually expended for stationary, fuel, &c. 205 54
For the part of the lot retained, 82 63
On acct. of contract for building house, 652 18

Leaving a balance due on contract for building house, but not yet payable, of 647 82

The tax of $1000 voted to be raised in 1828, has netted to the trustees 8887 69
They have received on account of tax for 1829, 100
And for costs of suit vs. E. Williams, 4 08

There expenditures amounting as before stated, to 940 35 1/2

Leaves in their hands a balance of 51 41 1/2

The trustees recommend that a tax of eight cents on every hundred dollars of assessable property be voted for the support of the school for the ensuing year. This tax will net 8300
And the balance of the tax for 1829 is estimated at 530

Making an aggregate revenue of 881 41 1/2
Which will be applicable to the payment of the balance due J. L. Boyd on his contract for building, 647 82
And contingent expenses estimated at 100

Leaving a surplus of 8154 59 1/2

The dividend allotted to this district at the late apportionment of the school fund of the county, amounted to 435 89
The dividend for 1830 is estimated at 300

There is claimed on the contract between the late Mr. Roe and the trustees, 41 67
The salary of the present teacher for six months, from 1st October 1829 to 1st April 1830, at $500 pr. annum, amounts to 250
And for nine months to 1st Jan. 1831, 375

Surplus of this fund, 869 92

Having thus disposed of all matters of account relating to their trust, they will briefly narrate their other proceedings. In July last they entered into an agreement with the late Mr. Henry Roe to employ him as a teacher for 6 months, from 1st August then next, at a salary of $500 per annum; and it was stipulated that he should proceed to New York; and there remain one month with the view of acquiring a practical knowledge of the modes of instruction adopted in the Monitorial Schools at that city. He accordingly left this city; but died about the time appointed for his return. On receiving information of his death, one of their number (Dr. Sparks,) proceeded to Philadelphia, and there entered into a contract with Mr. Kennedy as a teacher, for 6 months, at the rate of $500 per annum. The school was opened under the tuition of this latter gentleman on the 1st of October last, with 120 scholars. The number of scholars has since increased to 190. The trustees have frequently inspected the school—they are pleased with the general modes of instruction and discipline introduced by Mr. Kennedy, and believe the scholars are making great improvement; they therefore recommend the institution to the patronage of their fellow-citizens.

From a census taken under the authority of the trustees, it was inferred that one-third of the free white population of this city (about 120 children,) were from the poverty of their parents without prospect of obtaining a common education. The primary school which is emphatically a free school, is calculated to remove this great evil of an ignorant population. The means of instruction are placed within the reach of every condition of life; and the trustees incline to believe that in fact a very great proportion of those otherwise destitute children have been entered at the primary school.

It is supposed that the primary school may be conducted at an average annual expense to the city of three hundred dollars. The number of scholars at this time attending school is 190; but reducing the average number to 150, the expense to the city may be estimated at two dollars for each scholar. The average expense of teaching those children at common schools, and providing them with stationary, is estimated at twelve dollars each, or six times the average expense of tuition at the primary school; and if it be assumed that of the children now attending at the primary school, 100 might have been educated at common schools at the former estimated expense of twelve dollars each, or twelve hundred dollars in the whole, the actual saving to the city by the institution of the primary school may be rated at nine hundred dollars per annum.

The ballots of the members having been collected in the ballot box, it was sealed up and delivered to Messrs. Gantt and M'Mahon, the gentlemen named on the part of this house, (jointly with those appointed by the senate,) to count the ballots taken in the respective houses, and report the results who having retired to the conference room, after a short time had elapsed, returned and reported, that on counting the joint ballot, they had found there were altogether ninety-three votes taken of which number Thomas King Carroll, Esquire, had received fifty, and that Daniel Martin, Esquire, had received forty-three. Whereupon it was Resolved, That Thomas King Carroll, Esquire, be and he is hereby declared to be, duly elected governor of the state of Maryland for the ensuing year.
