MARYLAND, No. 4.
INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT.

Besides the cry of proscription, and many other cries, we shall soon have it spread abroad through Maryland that president Jack-

Rockville and Frederick Turnpike Road;— and this will blow him "sky high" in Mary-not be found wanting.

Yet the president rejected this bill as he had formerly done the Kentucky road bill,— he viewed them both in the same light, and although many in Maryland may regret his decisions although many of his best friends regret his decisions, and think he was wrong; yet, when the state of the Maryland State of the State of the Maryland State of the Maryl regret his decisions, and think he was wrong; vet, when the bodyle of the United States hear his reasons, when the people of Maryland hear his reasons, they all will acknowledge, that he acted from the best of motives, that he acted with a due regard to the interests of the whole American people, and with-which congress chose to pass, making appropriations to any amount out of the treasury, for a road or a chang, in any state. Congress should certainly have first provided the means to meet these appropriations, and they had it in their purper to do so in one of two modes; first, by altering the laws which provides for the payment of the national debt, and postit will be acknowledged by all impartial men that the people of the United States would not agree to be taxed for the purpose of making roads or canals. And as regards the payment of the national debt, an important question arises for the people to decide—Will you agree to postpone the payment of the national debt, an important question arises for the people to decide—Will you agree to postpone the payment of the national debt on indefinite period, in order to appropriate money for the purpose of making roads and canals in any part of the union of the national debt to an indefinite period, in order to appropriate money for the purpose of making roads and canals in any part of the union of the national debt to an indefinite period, in order to appropriate money for the purpose of making roads and canals in any part of the union of the national registers and thirty minutes very much braised, the man and appears in a state have a much prevent to add their the man and appears in a fair way to recover.

The manner in which the stone were taken out in which the stone were taken out in which the stone were taken out in much less time that the people of the United States would and so on, alternately, to the bottom, making leight scaffolds in the whole. By this father, and by the property left him the states of $66,000, has given the whole of $66,000, has given the state of $66,000, has given the sum of $66,000, has given the state of $66,000, ha national debt to an indemnite period, in order to appropriate money for the purpose of making roads and canals in any part of the union, (and one state has as much right to ask for an appropriation as another,) Or willyou postpone making appropriations to roads and canals, until there is money sufficient in the Treasurate lease the presence of ry to do so after meeting all the expenses of the government, and all its engagements in due time?

Congress instead of enabling the govern ment to meet a large and increased expenditure by providing the means, have in fact passed laws which will decrease the revenue to a very large amount; they have reduced the duties on tea, coffee, cocoa, molasses and salt, and the reductions will save every family industrious part of the community—Shall the taxes on coffee, tea, molasses and salt, be re-

That he was right in approving the bills reducing the duties on those articles which are of such general use, none will deny; and although the people of Maryland, and of Kentucky, may wish that he had signed the bills for their particular roads—disinterested and impartial men will say he acted right—acted impartially the could not well have made fish of one, and fish of another; and Jackson was wield awake; he was well aware that many other bills of the same character were about passing, and he must have signed all, or rejected all.

Besides the cry of prostructure of the crise, we shall soon have it spread a other cries, we shall soon have it spread a other crise, we shall soon have it spread a other crise, we shall soon have it spread a other crise we shall soon have it spread a other crise to so the world through Maryland that provident passing, and he must have signed all, or repassing opposed to internal improvement, merely because he rejected a bill appropriating one hundred and fifty thousand dollars for stock in a company very lately incorporated by the Logislature of Kentucky for making a road from Lexington to Maysville.

The capital of this company is three hundred thousand dollars; and the United States were very modestly asked to subscribe one half, and had they done so, they might have half or ago the whole hog," and to pay all; it would have been, in for a penny, in for a pound.

But was this a National Road? Was this a national object; If this can be called a national object, then any internal improvement, in any section of the whole which certain banks were to pay internal improvement, in any section of the whole which certain banks were to pay internal improvement, in any section of the bonus which certain banks were to pay internal improvement, in any section of the bonus which certain banks were to pay internal improvement, in any section of the bonus which certain banks were to pay internal improvement, in any section of the bonus which certain banks were to pay internal improvement, in any section of the bonus which certain banks were to pay internal improvement, in any section of the bonus which certain banks were to pay internal improvement, in any section of the bonus which certain banks were to pay when the bonus which certain banks were to pay when the bonus which certain banks were to pay when the bonus which certain banks were to pay when the bonus which certain banks are to pay the whell when the pay in the various beautiful and tasteful ornaments which afficiently so much certain to the wheel, on the pay in th ledge, that he acted from the best of motives, that he acted with a due regard to the intercests of the whole American people, and without regard to sectional feelings or to his own popularity.

It has been said that General Jackson is opposed to all internal improvements; it is opposed to all internal improvements; it is not so. He has this very session signed a bill for continuing surveys, and which contains for continuing surveys, and which contains the cumberland fload; but he is anxious that the public debt should be paid off;—he does not wish to see larger appropriations made than there is money in the Treasury to meet, nor does he wish to see oppressive taxes laid upon the people by congress—no—not even to aid internal improvement.

That did for the Little Falls Gazette.

EXTRAORDINARY OCCURRENCE.

On the 5th inst. Mr. Mason Wood, of Stratford, Montgomery county, went down into a well 42 feet deep, for the purpose of cleaning out some quick-sand which had run about 4 feet in depth; when standing on two opposite stones at the bottom, one of them two opposite stones at the bottom, one out in buckets, by a windlass; and considering the anxiety natural on such an occasion, and the number of people present, every thing was managed with great regularity and care.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Some idea of the extent of the compercial operations of Cincinnati, may be formed, from the fact, that within the month of March, there were about one hundred and forty-five arrivals of steam-boats: and 220 arrivals of canal boats, those engaged in bringing wood and boats, those engaged in bringing wood and hay to the city as excluded. The number of the departures of steam and canal boats, corresponds, very nearly of course with the arri in Maryland on an average at least two dollars a year. And when the question is put to our farmers, and mechanics, to the labouring and of that city, to form some estimate of its company. Gazette.

A writer in the Rochester Daily Advertiser attributed the late/cold weather to the spots and umbra on the sun's surface. Four spots, which will relieve thousands and tens of thousands, in every state in the union; and if he has refused to sign bills, which would have deem followed by others of a similar character, and which would have drawn millions from the treasury, without any provision having been made by congress for the payment, was Jackson in the vars right in approving the bills reducing the duties on those articles which are of such general use, none will deny; and at the cash of the payment, and the cash of such general use, none will deny; and at the cash of the payment, and the cash of such general use, none will deny; and at the country. But the president has rejected another Turnpike Road bill, in which Maryland is deeply interested; he has rejected an appropriation of ninety thousand dollars to the Chesapeake and Ohio canalempration of ninety thousand dollars to the Chesapeake, and which is a much larger through the state, and which is a much larger ladies' cabin; she instantly shut the door, and appropriation than any state in the union has
