REV. WM. R. WITTINGHAM, A. M.

In the use and application of this truss:

James Thatcher, M. D. author of the Modern Practice, in his second edition, under the subject of Hernis, remarks "D". Hull is exilicated to the credit of first adapting the true Surgical principle for the radical cure of Hernia. He happily conceived the idea that the paid of the Truss should be so constructed as simply to support the inuscular fibres around the ring or aperture as much as possible, in the tring or aperture as much as possible, in the tring or aperture as much as possible, in the tring or aperture as much as possible, in the case in which they are maintained in perfect health. Unless this be attained the parts can never recover their natural tone, whatever may be the degree of pressure applied."

Samu I Ackerly, M. D. in his excellent edition of 'Hooper's Medical Dictionary,' under the head of Truss,' after enumerating the evils resulting from the use of the defective trusses formely worn, says, 'This evil was not fully remedited until Dr. Amos G. Hull, of New York, turned his attention to the subject, and use his improvement in the construction of trusses has rendered it certain that all recent ruptures and those of children, may be permaneut; by cured, and those of old people and of long standing, may, in many cases, also be remedited. Valentine Mott. M. D. Professor of Surge ry, says.' The great and signal benefits which are produced by this Truss, result from its strict subservience to, and accordance with Scientific and Surgical principles.

'The operation and effect of this Truss is the reverse of all Trusses heretofore in use; which being convex, tended to enlarge the dimensions of the rupture opening.' I am, of opinion that the union of Surgical design & all terms:—
