

ANNAPOLIS, Thursday, July 22, 1850.

The following is an extract from a letter received by a gentleman of this city, from another in Talbot county. "I have read with much attention the essays published in the Maryland Gazette, signed 'MARYLAND.' Without intending any compliment to the author, who is to me unknown, I cannot refrain from saying, that his efforts are calculated to do much good for the cause which he has espoused."

THE WEATHER Has been excessively warm for some time past. On Tuesday the Mercury in the college hall, a pleasant, airy situation, stood at 88°, when placed in the open air in the shade, it mounted to 98°, and when exposed to the sun to 130°.

The Board of Health report, that from the 3d to the 10th of the present month, there were one hundred and twelve interments within the city and Liberties of Philadelphia. Of the whole number sixty-nine were children, twenty-five of whom died of cholera morbus.

To the Voters of Anne-Arundel county. My friends and fellow citizens: I have seen my name announced as a candidate, to represent this county in the next legislature of Maryland. Permit me to return my thanks for the honour conferred on me.

Less expended in 1829, than was appropriated by congress. Seven hundred and twelve thousand dollars less expended in Jackson's first year than was appropriated by congress.

And even of the amount said to be left in the treasury, there were bad debts to the amount of more than a million of dollars, and a larger appropriation to be met, amounting to nearly four millions more.

And to meet this large sum he found a reported balance in the treasury, of $3,972,435 81, including bad debts to the amount of more than a million of dollars.

The steam boat Ben. Franklin joined, and lashed to the Atlantic, and the three steam boats moved slowly from the shore under a salute from the battalion, the band playing the delightful and appropriate air of "Auld lang Syne—the salute being returned by all the boats."

From the Bel-Air (Md.) Citizen, July 15. THE CROPS. Our Wheat and Rye harvest is nearly over and generally secured. It is more abundant and of better quality than for many years past.

From the Harper's Ferry Press July 14. The harvest in this neighbourhood was finished last week, and it is enough to cheer the eye and the heart, and to make us grateful too, to look upon the wheat fields by which we are surrounded.

A detachment of the U. S. infantry consisting of four companies, under the command of Maj. Kearny, from Jefferson Barracks, left this city a few days since for Pararaide du Chien, in the Chieftain.

It was reported at Trinidad, on the 10th June, that two piratical vessels were committing depredations between Trinidad and Cape el de Cruz.—They are said to be large open boats, one rigged as a sloop, the other as a schooner, with 30 or 40 men each.

The almost incredible fact is stated, that the increase of productive power through the aid of steam and improved mechanism, with other scientific appliances, during the last forty years, is equal to the additional supply of labour of Six Hundred Millions of Men.
