Delivered by JOHN S. SBLLMAN, Esq. at a meeting of a number of the Friends of the National and State Administrations, which took place at the Free School, in Anne-Arundel county, on the 21st of August last.

My Fillow Citizens and Republican Friends,
The signs of the times merit attention. The political atmosphere is impregnated with noxrether their clans, their elite are mounted up-to the watch. Their movements must be regirded; their wilv arts and stratagems exproded; their will arts and stratagems ex-posed; their relegatless opposition, encounter-ed by the sturdy firmness and vigorous zeal of the supporters of the present wise, patrio-tic, and republican administration. In the ce, and republican administration. rime of Jackson, liberty and the constitution, sammon you to the defence—I summon you orally around the standard. Stubborn facts, and dignified argument, be your only weapons. They will silence the clamorous voice of the interested demagogue, and the loathsome howling of the reformed peculator. They are suffrient to repel the ruthless invader; they breathe the spirit, and inspire the courage, which will carry the war far into the depths people fidence of the enemy's country. Let us reason calculy together upon the state of affairs; let us review the past, we may draw light for the future. The nation, by a large, tremendous, and all-powerful majority, decided that our honoured chief magistrate in eighteen hundred and twenty-four, was deprived of those rights, which a large plurlity of the people intended to confer up-or him, by the log-rolling of certain members share t the hus lightfu gress, among when the chief of the opot ongress; among within the chief of the op-position stord pre-came thy conspicuous. The people have passed upon this dark trans-action. Preir mark is nown the actors of that some. Their front will forever bear the inmemor delible stain. It is in vant to cry peace to the shades of the coalition. Its ghost stalks civilize finger over the hills, and through the valleys. It millens the guilty, and appals the weak and oling. To banish the recollection of this t referious transaction from the minds of shall b the republican people of this country, has been the constant aim of our opponents. For this purpose the midnight taper has been trimcent re med; startling appeals to the high throne of but me met starting appears to the high throne or the great I As have been mide; in fine, every art and every stratagem has been resorted to.

But vain are the exertions of the guilty. An estentations show of purity and virtue will not avail. It is a sin of no venial grade, but support any mide. deepest die. What congress would not do, the people have done. The people have electthe people have done. The people have elected lackson, and he is their president—aye, publication, honourably, and fully elected him. The question now presents itself—Does he fulfile, honestly and wisely, the trust which has been committed to his charge? Let the peodestrian of all its Their voice, in many sections of all its hand a the republic, has been heard. thire has said well done; and New York has said well done; and New Jersey has said well done; and Maryland, our own delightful but preten distracted Maryland, has said well done. ruptible Maine, and Vermont, and Rhode Island, are sending forth the cheering voice to animate the publican in the hour of trial. Virginia and gumen world. Pennsylvania, the rocks of the union, are as firm as their own mountains in their support of Old Hickory. The great west, the darling of Jefferson, gives every demonstration of victory. And the south, the warm and generous south, is animated in the cause. But this is not sufficient to silence the clamour of the devoted partizans of Henry Clay, and Daniel general Webster. They have raised the banner. Their course is fierce, unrelenting and uncompro-mising. Bent upon extermination, they give no quarters. They have drawn the sword, and thrown away the scabbard. We will meet them. Our breasts are barredmeet them. Our breasts are barred—our arms are herved for the contest. From the inauty are included in the president, to the fourth of July last, their opposition has been in Indian style. From the bush they have sped their arrows. From the ambuscade they have enstyle. From the bush they have sped their arrows. From the ambuscade they have endeavoured to cut down our tallest poppies. The whole country has been inundated with snonymous letters from Washington. The chit chat and idle gossip of the capital have been spread far and wide. Racis have been perverted; surmise and dark instinuation have been made. The ear of the public has been abused. This system, so destitute of every thing that is noble, manly and honourable, has been steadily pursued. But it could no longer succeed. The indigitant from of the semanuity is upon it. Henry Clay must be anounced. The fourth of July is the chosen by. The mandate from Washington is literally obeyed. The preconcerted and previously arranged plan of the caucus of members of congress, is carried into execution. The server two or three, of the devoted friend of the exiled secretary could be gathered together on that suspicious day, his name is sounded and opposition, under his barner, is openly proclaimed. Thus, amidst the all-exhiliting influence of old Falernian, a candidate of a party is made, and thus is he placed before the American people. Ill-smened pre-

for the American people. Ill-emened pre-
