Chapman, Brawner and Rogerson, report the same.

Mr. Ely submitted the following preamble and resolution: WHEREAS, it appears to this general assembly that Thomas Culbreth, Esq. the former and present clerk of the exccutive council, was in the year eighteen hundred and twen ty-six employed, under the authority o the state, faithfully to superintend and supervise the transcribing of the chan cery records for the years during which T. H. Bowie was register, and other preceding and succeeding years; and in consideration of such faithful service, was paid from the tressury of the state upwards of five thousand dollars of the public money:

And whereas the services, for which the said large sum of money was considered to have been a fair remuneration, never have been performed, hat on the contrary have been improvidently neglected, to the great and incalculable injury of the people of the state: And whereas it has been proved to the entire and com-plete salisfaction of the present legislature, that the records in chancery for the year eighteen hundred and sixteen, during the official fernt of the said Bowie, were in the proper office of the register in chancery previous to the appointment of the soid Culbretty as superintendant and supervisor as aforesaid, and as such it was his duty to have seen them correctly and properly transcribed:

whereas, it has been further satisfactorily proved that the said last mentioned records, never were trangeribed, although they were taken from the office of the register in chancery for that purpose, but are in fact lost, and cannot

And whereas the records thus lost are of immense and rital importance to the people of the state, insamuch as a large number of them may thereby be subjected to vexatious law suits, and even to the loss of the land which they may hold under the decrees in chancery for that years.

And whereas suit was brought by the state against Henry Any whereas such was drought by the state against thenry Wayman, in Anne-Arundel county court; as surely of the late. Thomas H. Bowie, former register, in changing, upon the ground that the said Bowie had ant registered he decrees and other papers in chancery, for the year eightem. erees and older papers in chalcery, for the year eighteen, and judgment was rendered therein against the said Wayman, and all further proceedings upon said judgment were ordered to be arrested by this house, upon proof helps given that the said papers had been regularly recorded by the said. Mr. Ely, chairman of the committee on manufactures, dolivered the following report:

The Committee on Manufactures, to which was referred so much of the executive message as relates to communicathe subject of the tariff; and also a communication from nisions on the same subject, Report,—

That they have had the same under consideration, nd after mature deliberation, they are not a little appre bensive that they have not succeeded in doing justice to a subject so infimately connected with the advancement and prosperity of agriculture and commerce-a subject which has engrossed much of the time of our most calightened statesmen, and has not been deemed unworthy of their attention and consideration. And, as it is not the intention of the committee to offer theoretical opinions of their own or of others, being persuaded that a display of speculative opinions would not meet with approbation—from these views the committee are disposed to state a few facts, and make such observations only as shall be intimately connected with the important subject committed to their considera-

And believing that it is admitted by all, that prior to the year eighteen hundred and nine, establishments for the manufacture of many of the most important articles, suelf as those of cotton, wool, &c. had not been attempted, but in a few instances, in this state, or even in the United States, and on a very limited scale; therefore their rise and progres are attributable in a great measure to the embarrassments in which commerce was subjected at about that period, which embarrassment originated in causes not within the control of human pridences it will therefore be perceived, that while commerce flourished, the trade which had been earried on with the continent of Europe, and with the colonies of Spain and France, had enriched our coturprising mer hauts, the henefits of which were beneficially felt hy the agriculturalists whose-wealth and industry were thus increase od and extended. But when external commerce was sess pended, or embargassed, the capitalists throughout Maryland, and throughout she whole Union, become solicitous to give activity to the acceptant. A portion of it was directed give netterly to the intential. A portion of it was directed to the inprevious affecting agriculture, still not an inconsiderable portion of freehold agriculture, still not an inconsiderable portion of freehold agriculture, and increase in the content of the property of the property of the property of the content of the

And whereas, considering the ficts above stated, and con this labour, in procuring from the soil of his country at all sidering also that as members of the legislature we are bound. Hisses with facility, the raw materials that are required, and to properly for as we can, the rights and interests of the in the liberal encouragement that will always be accorded by the sent that the republic soffers no injury; and by the agriculturalists to those manufacturers, who by their constitution in the affect of the aforesaid records is properly industry keep up a constant, and increasing demand for the effect of the aforesaid records in the solling and according to the aforesaid records in a surplus or during the country at all the officer whose duty, it was to have seen surplus produce of agriculture. Your committee are aware, that it is not Mary land alone that is to be benefited by the protective system, but that every state in the Union will participate in those advantages—the resources of each will be explored; opened and enlarged—the different portions of the Union will accord to their position, the climate, popula tion and habits of the people, and the nature of the soil, will influee the inhabitants of the various sections of the union to strike into that line of lochestry which is best adapted to their interests, and the good of the whole. And thus, by an active and free intercourse, promoted and facilitated by roads and canals, which will in a great measure destroy all prejudices which may have been generated by distance, and the want of inducements to approach each other, and reciprocate benefits, will be greatly diminished. Information will be extended, and the union will acquire greater strength and solidity. The constitution of the United States, and the constitutions of the several states, will be regarded as fountains from which continually flow numerous streams of public and private prosperity. Thus each government, moving in its appropriate orbit, performing with ability its so-parate functions, will be endeared to the hearts of a wise and grateful people Maryland as one of the states that are disposed to manufacture as a regular occupation, will draw from the agricultural states a portion of the rasy materials which her manufacturers may want, and not an inconsiderable portion also of the necessaries of life, while the latter will, in addition to the benefits they at present enjoy, alvays command in peace or in war, at moderate prices, every description of manufactures that their wants may require; nd should some of the agricultural states be inclined to manufacture for themselves, they can do so with success, because they have all the means to erect and extend, at place sure, manufacturing establishments; so that the wants of the vhole union, being supplied by our own ingenuity and industry, the exportation of specie to pay for foreign manufactures will be greatly diminished, and labour will consoquently incet with a better reward. The committee are also opinion, that the value of the surplus produce of our agriculture at this time exported, will not enable the importers to pay for the foreign manufacture imported. the two accounts shall be fairly stated, it is believed that the balance of trade against the United States will be found to he nollions of dollars; such appears to be the state of things, that a fair protection to the industry of the manufacturers. as well as all others, must be to the advantage, not only of Maryland, but of every state in the union. The precious Maryland, but of every state in the union. metals will be attracted to them, the diffusion of which in a Mr. Hicks presented the petition of sundry citizens of regular current through the body politic, will give to each member thereof health and vigour; and in proportion as the sembly passed at December session 1824, relating to con- commerce of the United States depends on agriculture and manufactures, as a common basis, it will increase and bocome more independent of those revolutions and fluctuations which the ambition and jealousy of foreign governments, by their selfish legislation, are too apt to produce. Our naviation will be thus quickened and supported by internal resources never before at the command of any nation. Thus 1825, chapter 103. Ordered, That viesses Steele, Claude | new channels to trade and enterprise, no less important than productive, are continually opening, which can be secured only by a wise and prudent policy, appreciating their advanhill, to be entitled, A supplement to an act, entitled. An tage, by affording a steady protection to our manufactures, act supplementary to an act for opening Pratt-street, passed and by thus trading on our own capital, collisions with other nations if they be not entirely done away, will be greatly diminished. This natural order of things promises peace, security and repose, by a firm and steady reliance on the products of agriculture, and the treasures that are embosomed in the easth, and also on the genius and ingenuity of our manufacturers and mechanics, and on the intelligence and enterprise of our merchants, all co-operating tone her, it ions from the states of Onio, Delaware and Kentucky, on | will be found that the causes producing war will be but few, And should war take place, its calumitous consequences will he mitigated, and the expenses and burdens of such a state of things will fall with a weight less oppressive and Injurious on the nation. The expenditure of the last war wee greatly increased by a dependence on foreign supplies, as the prices incident to such a state of dependence will always he higher in proportion to the increased demand, the diminished supply of the necessaries and comforts of life; and had not our rising manufacturing establishments have increased the quantity of commodities at that time in demand, the expenditure would have and consequences the most fatal and disastrous, alarming, even in contemplation, would have been the fate of this state, and of the nation at large. The experience of the past teaches a lesson never to be forgotten, and points emphatically to the ramedy which i to be found only in the government of the United States ylelding a fair protection to our manufactures.
