MARCH, TO THE TOMB.
We come from the dreadful unknown,
Where the bars of eternity close,
And were hastening through like the streams that flow on To the fountain from whence life arose, We came out from the earth, and tire Of the sweets of the milk and the knee For the restless young spirit hath ever desire To a higher branch on the tree And we see the ambitious looks light On the blessed all-blow of home, When new pleasures to seek, or new treasures to get,
To the four winds of heaven our faces we set,
But we'll meet where the past generations have met,
For we're all on the march to the tomb.
The lover goes out to the grove, Where beauty's idolaters stray,
And he looks in the sunny illusions of love, Till his merry heart dances, 'Tis day.
The hero seeks honour in power,
And exults in the battle-field train,
And he thinks not of fate, who is wounding the hour, When the slayer shall sit with the slain And we lose, till the spoiler says waste Orisons of beauty and bloom,
And we fight till the day of our triumph is past, When the strong and the weak in one balance are cast,
And the heavy-toned lesson assures us at last,
That we're on the march to the tomb.
The miser lights in his gold,
And he toils after heap upon heap, Till the change of his countenance comes—and behold!
He has sworn what another shall reap, See the King has no boon from his birth, To insure a less perishing span,
For the Prince in his pomp is but dust of the earth,
And his days are the days of a man, So we treasure our toils, till they glad The dull regard that comes in our room, And we reign till the rulers of empire are laid away,
And their destinies sound like a voice from the dead,
That we're all on the march to the tomb.

POLAND.

As a specimen of some of the patriotic Polish anecdotes of the impending Polish war, the following which is translated from the Courier des Etats Unis, may be ought to have some piquancy:
THE WEDDING RING.
Sawloiska, open that window! I wish to be hearing the sounds of the churchbells.
Sawloiska did not feel courage enough to open the window.
My daughter this is Sunday. The hour prayer has come. Help your aged mother prostrate herself before God!
The pious young Polish matron assisted parent to kneel down.
Sawloiska, my daughter, I beseech you to open that window, that I may hear the music of the church service.
She did open the window which looks up the place where the Church stands, and down in silence at the feet of her mother.
Sawloiska, I do not hear the sound of the bell!
Listen!
'Tis the cannon!
Yes mother, those are the bells. They have been taken down from the bell-towers to the Russians.
God is with us.
Presently the old woman resumed—What has happened my child? I hear no gun, no voice from the church. Where your pastor?
He is a soldier.
Let us pray for him, daughter. He has prayed for us a long time. He blessed your marriage. Oh! I recollect it well. You were to look on I adorned you myself. Then bells rang out merrily in the air; and then, your knees at the altar, you promised fidelity to your Sawloiska.
I have kept my promise, said the young man, blushing with honest pleasure.
The aged mother pressed the hand of her daughter in her own. But her expression changed strangely. She cried abruptly, Here is your wedding ring?
I have given it away, she said, reclining back.
Sawloiska, has God reserved such anguish my latest days? My daughter, what can you have done so far forget the duties of a wife? What have you done with that ring, pledge of an indissoluble union?
To Poland! And she proudly lifted up her head. Our husbands are soldiers; we are made cannon of our bells. Our necks are our ear-rings, our jewels have been changed for muskets. We women have nothing else to give, and Poland wants powder. There are six thousand of us who are ready to die for our country all that we leave is that woman deem most precious the world, our marriage rings. We have to give them to purchase powder.
The old lady dropped from her emaciated form the golden symbol which she had expected to part with, and after kissing repeatedly, she wiped her eyes and said:

each work, will be open, and the Students in a thorough course of Reading and Speaking.
These exercises will be conducted by the Principal and the Members of the Senior Class, and will always be required to declare pieces of their own composition. The Examination, which takes place at each general Examination, subjects those who are deficient, to the necessity of remaining in a lower grade; while, on the other hand, the hope of reaching a high standing, in a shorter than ordinary period, is held out to all who are ambitious to advance at a more rapid rate, than the usual average of a Class. A permanent record of the relative standing of the Members in each Class, is kept by the Faculty, and serves as a guide, in awarding the honors of the College. The principal test of the Student's proficiency, will be found in the Lecture Room, where he will undergo an Examination of one hour's duration, for each Lesson; and those Members of the higher Classes, who are permitted, under the discretion of the Principal, to have their rooms out of College, will be visited, by the Principal, and the Professors during the hours appointed, for their encouragement and aid in the prosecution of their studies. They must not be absent from their rooms, during the hours of study, especially in the evening, except by permission from one of the Faculty; and a close attention will be paid to the habits of the Students, that good morals may be cultivated and preserved.
PUBLIC WORSHIP.

The Students will be required to attend public worship, in this City, both morning and afternoon, and Morning for the several Churches, and make returns of their absence to the Principal. The Roll will be called, also, before the daily devotions at the College. No Student will, at any time, leave the City, without express obtained from the Principal. That the public may rest assured of the prevalence of no particular sectarian influence at this College, the following clause is extracted from the Charter: with the letter and spirit of which, the Officers of instruction, will invariably comply.
The second section of the thirty seventh chapter of the laws of Maryland, required, that the said College shall be founded and maintained forever, upon a most liberal plan, for the benefit of youth of every religious denomination, who shall be freely admitted to equal privileges and advantages of education, and to all the literary honors of the College, according to their merit, without requiring or enforcing any religious or civil test, or urging their attendance upon any particular religious worship or service, other than what they have ben deceived in, or have the consent and approbation of their parents or guardians to attend."

DISCIPLINE, &c.

A record of all deficiencies at College exercises will be kept, and sent to each parent or guardian, at the close of every term. And, whenever a Student shall be found failing to secure the end for which he will have been placed at the College, he may be sent home privately, except in cases of a misdemeanor, or offence against the laws, when he shall be punished by the ordinary penalties. By the adoption of a kind and parental demeanor, on the part of the Officers, it is hoped that such extreme cases will be avoided; and from the various advantages of location for the College, it is believed, that few places promise this immunity, in a higher degree, than the City of Annapolis. Its population is not large—the situation is central—its healthfulness, is surpassed by that of no place in the Southern States—access to the College, from all parts of the Union, by which parents would wish to hold communication with their sons, is most frequent and easy, and the expenses of living are comparatively small. Annapolis is the Seat of the Government of the States; and the time of the Annual Commencements, which happens during the Session of the Legislature, affords a high incentive to young men, to distinguish themselves, by their literary performances.

ADMISSION.

Candidates for any standing in the College, will be required to bring from their teachers, testimonials of good moral character and, in no case, will a Student be received from any other College, to the same standing in this, unless he shall bring, from the President, or other authority of such College, a certificate of his honorable dismissal.

EXPENSES, &c.

It has not been thought advisable to establish any commons. Board, including bedding, washing, and roomrent, may be had, however, in private families in the city, for 120 dollars per annum. The charges in the regular College bills, will be, as follows: and are payable quarterly, and in advance—English Department, - - - $34 per annum Preparatory Classes, - - - $40 do. do.
Freshman and Sophomore Classes, - - - $40 do. do.
Senior and Junior Classes, - - - $50 do. do.

AN ABATEMENT OF THE COLLEGE BILLS MAY BE made, to necessitous Students; and provision is secured for the gratuitous instruction of ten Students, who may bring the proper testimonials, for that purpose.

COMMENCEMENTS.

The Annual Commencements, take place in February, when all Degrees are to be conferred. The Faculty will assign to the Candidates for the Baccalaureate, and for the Master's Degree, the parts to be performed; and if any one should refuse the part assigned, or neglect to attend, his Degree may be withheld.

VACATIONS.

The regular Vacations, shall be from the last Wednesday in July, till the first Monday in September—from the 23d of December, till the first Monday in January—from Good Friday, till the Monday week following; and the Fourth of July.

The alterations, in the course of studies, which have taken place, on the late appointment of a Principal, seemed to be required, by the general advancement of Education; and it is hoped, that the advantages of a substantial and complete acquaintance with the several branches of knowledge, which the Institution now holds out to the public, will meet the wants and wish-
