From the Saturday Evening Post. COUSIN SALLY DILLIARD. Scene-A Court of Justice in N. Carolina.

A beardless disciple of Themis rises, and thus addressed the Court:—May it please your Worships and you Gentlemen of the Jury, since it has been my fortune (good or bad I will not say) to exercise myself in legal disquisitions, it has never before befallen me to be obliged to denounce a breach of the peace so enormous and transcending as the one now claiming your attention. A more barbarous, direful, marked and malicious asharbarous, direful, marked and malicious as-sault—a more wilful, violent, dangerous and murderous battery, and finally, a more dia-bolical breach of the peace has seldem hap-pened in a civilized country, and I dare say it has seldom been your duty to pass upon one so shocking to benevolent feeling as this— which took place at captain Rice's, in this county; but you will hear it from the witness. The witnesses being sworn, two or three were examined and deposed—one, that he heard the noise, but didn't see the fight—another. that he saw the row, but don't know who struck first—and a third, that he was very drunk, and couldn't say much about the scrimmage.

Lawyer Chops. I am sorry gentlemen, to have occupied so much of your time with the stupidity of the witnesses examined. It a-rose, gentlemen, altogether from misappre-hension on my part. Had I known, as I now do, that I had a witness in attendance, now do, that I had a witness in attendance, who was well acquainted with all the circum stances of the case, and was able to make himself clearly and intelligibly understood by the Court and Jury, I should not so long have trespassed on your time and patience. Come forward, Mr. Harris, and be sworn.

So forward comes the witness, a fat chuffy looking man, a "leetle" corned, and took his corporal oath with an air.

Chops. Mr. Harris, we wish you to tell all about the riot that happened the other day at

"Edzactly," giving the lawyer a knowing wink, at the same time clearing his throat—Captain Rice, he gain a treat, and cousin Sally Dilliard, she came over to our house, and axed me if my wife, she mought-n't go—I told consin Sally Dilliard that my wife was poorly, being as how she had a touch of the Rheumatics in the hip, and the big swamp was in the road, and the big swamp was up, for there had been a heap of rain lately sbut ip, for there had been a heap of rain lately; but howsomever, as it was she, cousin Sally Dilliard, my wife she mough't go.—Well. cousin Sally Dilliard then axed me if Mose, he moughtn't go.
