

at the disposal of his Majesty's ministers, and ready for immediate use, — no rest or satisfaction can be enjoyed by the friends of reform.

Almost every body, since Monday evening, has asked himself, whether reform stands in a better or worse position than before?

Appearances, we are bound to say, present no more favourable prospects, so far as the combinations of the party in the House of Lords are concerned.

Public attention in the city continues to be much occupied with the Belgian treaty, the ratification of which by the three powers which have not yet signed, it is fixed for tomorrow, being on their part the 2d postponement of the question.

The statements current on the subject are as much at variance with each other as yesterday, but the belief seems to have gained strength that the ratification by Russia, at all events, will be further postponed.

At the same time it is affirmed, that Austria and Prussia are not to be influenced by this determination of their ally, and that the ratification of the treaty, therefore, by those powers, will take place tomorrow.

The mania for emigration rages just now in this country to an unheard of extent. We believe more people have quitted, or intended quitting, England for America this spring, than during the last ten years.

From the small village of Rothes alone, no fewer than 16 intend sailing very soon, in the same vessel, for the western hemisphere.

Elgin Courier.

FRANCE.
PARIS, March 28th, 10 P. M.—There have been many reports circulated this day respecting the Cholera, but it is beyond doubt certain that it is in Paris.

According to a statement in the Gazette de France of this evening, the number of persons infected already amounts to 38. Ten persons have already been admitted into the hospital of the Hotel Dieu, of whom three have died.

An official publication of the numbers, &c. is expected to-morrow.

HOLLAND AND BELGIUM.
PARIS, March 28.

A courier arrived this day from Vienna, who brings to Count Appony, the Austrian Ambassador at this Court the ratification of the Emperor of Austria of the treaty of the 15th of Nov. with orders to have it exchanged in London as soon as the Plenipotentiary of Prussia shall have received from his Court the same authorization.

The Prussian ratification was believed to be in London. Count Orloff had arrived there. Extract of a letter from the Hague, dated the 26th:—"Since the departure of Count Orloff, the issue of his mission has been more particularly on account of the long deliberations in the Cabinet Council, which took place before he set out—the subject of such conversation, both public and private. What appears certain on the subject is, that the conditions proposed on our part have not been accepted by the Conference. The reply of our Cabinet to the note addressed to the Plenipotentiary of the Netherlands in London, was not finally drawn up until Saturday.

It seems that this delay was the cause of Count Orloff continuing so long here. Indeed, the royal steam boat, at Rotterdam, was held in readiness for him, at a moment's notice, for three days before he embarked. We are confident that the Count, in his personal negotiations in London, will exert every effort to bring about an arrangement consistent with the continuance of general peace."

It is supposed that the King of Holland is sustained in his course by the hope of relief from a change of ministry in England, which will bring the Duke of Wellington and his friends into power. Upon this the Times remarks thus:—

This delay of a final settlement, and this consequent danger of a new collision in the Netherlands, is one among the many evils, foreign and domestic, which we now suffer, and have suffered from the 13 months agitation of a question which ought long ago to have been placed beyond the reach of doubt or cavil.

Every branch of our trade and industry is depressed at home, and more than half of our influence is paralysed abroad, by the gloomy electric cloud, pregnant with storms, which is observed by foreigners, as well as natives, to hover above the legislative discussions of the upper house.

The same motive which (we know) has prevented builders, for instance, from commencing their spring operations with the employment of hundreds of bricklayers, now out of work, has hitherto induced King William of Holland to refrain from signing the treaty of London. We beseech Lord Grey to observe this fact and not only to show energy, by some immediate demonstration of the power to pass the bill, but to submit to all its consequences that they must submit to all its consequences. Why, if Sir Charles Bagot, so connected as he is with the Duke of Wellington, and with the anti-reformers, allowed to remain at the Hague? If Lord Grey will not make Peers, surely Lord Palmerston may make Ambassadors.

From the N. Y. Courier & Enquirer of yesterday.

LATEST STILL FROM ENGLAND.
At an early hour this morning, we received our files of papers brought by the London packet ship Columbia, Captain DeLana. She was boarded last night by our news schooner Eclipse. The London dates brought us by her are to the evening of the 21st—those by the Canada, were to the morning of the 22d, and we have besides, by the Columbia, the Hampshire Telegraph of one day later.

The official Cholera Report is one day later. Under date of the 31st March, it states that there were 87 new cases in London, and 44 deaths, since the preceding day. In the country, 33 new cases and 16 deaths.

The last accounts from Antwerp are condensed, both by the British and French Governments, completely satisfactory. Gen. Cuvier has restored to the city that character which it would not for a moment have been deprived of, had it not been for the most strange forgetfulness of the orders, which emanated from the cabinet of the Tuilleries at the epoch of the departure of the expedition.

At Rome, however, the most trivial circumstances are converted by anger, into ground for note after note to the French Ambassador, it being evidently the design in this way to ring the changes to Europe, and to smother the principal question under a heap of trifling details, which since the explanation given by the French Government, either merit no attention, or at best are merely of secondary importance.

From the N. Y. Mercantile Advertiser of yesterday.

LATEST FROM FRANCE.
The ship Fama, arrived last evening from Havre, having left that port on the 2d ult.—Captain Windsor, has favoured us with papers of that place to 31st, and Paris to the 30th March inclusive.

There appears to be no doubt that the Allied Powers are determined on an amicable settlement of the affairs of Holland and Belgium. The funds both in France and England continue to advance, which is a sure criterion that the peace of Europe will not soon be disturbed.

An important discussion took place in the Chamber of Deputies on the 29th, on the subject of the Corn Laws, in which the law prohibiting the importation of Corn and Flour, was abolished. It was ascertained that the average which would be published on the 1st of April, would admit the importation of Corn into Marseilles, and all the ports of the Mediterranean.

The Chamber of Deputies was engaged on the 30th, on the bill for a modification of the Corn Laws. It appears that the Chambers were, after the last dates, soon to adjourn.

CHOLERA IN PARIS.
PARIS, March 30, eight o'clock in the morning.—In the last three days 58 patients have been carried to the Cholera Hospital, 15 of whom are since dead. Besides these, eight deaths have occurred in different parts of the city, viz: 1 in St. Antoine street, 1 in St. Jean arcade, 1 in Calandre street, 2 in Beau-regard, 1 in Haut Martin, in Mazarine, and 1 in des Jardins.

The number of cases in private houses is not yet ascertained. Nearly all who have been attacked belong to the lower ranks of society, and live in confined and crowded, and consequently unhealthy places.

P. S. Half past 4 P. M.—Eighteen new cases have been announced to-day.

PARIS, March 30.—This morning the diligences are filled with timid people, who are leaving the capital to seek for safety in the provinces which the cholera has not visited.

HAVRE, March 30.—The Court of Assizes at Rouen, after hearing of the case, acquitted, day before yesterday, five American sailors, accused of resisting the armed force on the evening of the 21st of October.

Turn up the column under my boys, We're mourning for a maid, Who to enjoy a better life, In Graves's cold bed is laid. We mourn, too, for a brother's craft, Who joined the mystic ties, And may be no quibbling have, His oyster-bait to PL.

ENOCH HANNETT, Adm'r. May 10. / 4w

IN CHANCERY, 8th May, 1832. Thomas H. Luckett

Benjamin Shrive Junior, and Mary Elizabeth his wife, Stephen White, and Ann his wife, heirs at law of Daniel Trundle and others.

THE object of the bill of revivor, in this case is to revive the proceedings in a suit in this court which have abated by the death of Daniel Trundle.

The bill states, that on the seventh day of June eighteen hundred and twenty five, the complainant original bill against Otho H. W. Luckett, Valentine P. Luckett, Samuel Clapham and Daniel Trundle, claiming two legacies of one hundred pounds current money, of the commonwealth of Virginia, each charged on certain land devised to the will of his father to the defendants, Otho H. W. Luckett and Valentine P. Luckett, who sold the said lands to Samuel Clapham, who sold the same to Daniel Trundle—that said Clapham and Trundle had notice of the complainant's lien on said lands, and praying a sale of said lands to satisfy said legacies, unless the defendants for some of them, should pay the same with interest, as should be decreed by this court.

The bill further states, that the said Samuel having died, the complainant filed his amended bill, supplemental bill, and bill of revivor, on the 26th day of February 1829, against the said Otho H. W. Luckett, Valentine P. Luckett, Daniel Trundle, Elizabeth Clapham, Peter James Murray, Elijah Thompson, Peter Augustus Jay, and Eliza Ratcliff, setting forth the substance of the original bill and the proceedings thereon, stating that the said Daniel Trundle had purchased one parcel of the said land called Resurvey on the said will as stated in the original bill—that the defendants, Otho H. W. Luckett, Valentine P. Luckett, Eliza Clapham, Peter Augustus Jay, and Eliza Ratcliff, had purchased the residue of said lands from the defendant, James B. Murray, to whom the land had been conveyed by the said James B. Murray—that the said Murray, Thompson, Jay and Ratcliff, had notice of the complainant's lien at the times of their respective purchases and conveyances—that Elizabeth Clapham was the widow and heir at law of said Samuel Clapham, and praying that the said suit might be revived against the said Elizabeth Clapham as the heir of said Samuel, and that if it should appear that the interest of the said Samuel Clapham had been transferred by the aforesaid deed, and was vested in the said Eliza Thompson, Peter Augustus Jay, and Eliza Ratcliff, that the said land should be sold to satisfy the complainant, or some of them, should pay the same, with interest, as decreed by this court. The bill of revivor also states, that the defendants, Otho H. W. Luckett, Valentine P. Luckett, Elizabeth Clapham, James B. Murray, Eliza Thompson, Peter Augustus Jay, and Eliza Ratcliff, failing to appear according to the order of publication, an order was passed on the 9th day of October 1829, to take the original bill pro confesso against the said defendants Luckett, Elizabeth Clapham, Eliza Thompson, Peter Augustus Jay, Eliza Ratcliff, and James B. Murray—that a general replication had been filed to the answer of Daniel Trundle, and commissions to take testimony issued to Zadock Magruder of Montgomery county, and William A. Powell of Leesburg Virginia.—That before any other proceedings were had, the said Daniel Trundle died, leaving Mary Elizabeth the wife of Benjamin Shrive Junior, of Loudon county Virginia, and Ann the wife Stephen White, of Montgomery county, Maryland, his heirs at law.

It is thereupon, this 8th day of May, 1832, ordered, That the complainant, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the city of Annapolis, once in each of three successive weeks, before the 8th day of June next, give notice to the absent defendants, of the substance and object of this bill, that they may be warned to appear in this court, in person, or by a solicitor, on or before the 8th day of October next, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree should not pass as prayed.
