TO THE PESTILENCE.
Thy shadow darkens round us,
Thy form is in the air,
Thy fall voice hath found us,
Thy banquet will be rare!
A shiver hath bound us,
We know thee—and despair,
Thy gloomy wings are flapping,
Apparent for the prey,
Thy breath or all is snapping,
A shroud of sad decay,
Thy sudden death light the way,
Averting messenger!
When will thy course be run?
When last thou'lt mark'd? Art near
Thine ruthless one?
When will thy dread career
Of punishment be done?
The glowing south, the ivy north,
The vale, the desert hill,
The city, and the mountain cot,
Thou visit'st every where—
The mosque, the idol temple, and
The Christian's place of prayer,
Thou hast swept in all thy terrrors,
The regions of the east,
Thou hast bid the mighty-wildcat
The loftiest and the least,
The brave, the foul, the beautiful,
All have been thy feast.
The patriot, the tyrant,
Lion, wolf, friend and foe,
The victor's arm hath sunk beside
The victim that fell low,
The loss that met for mortal strife,
Have fallen without a blow,
Before thee thou hast thy shade,
A frightful chill it hath,
One moment is the storm delayed,
The next it comes in wrath,
Then helpless, smitten thine, we fall
And wither in thy path.

LION HUNTING.
One of the most remarkable examples of the audacity of a lion is to be found in a journal of a settler at the Cape, more than a century ago. The first settlement of the Dutch at Cape Town was in the year 1553; the site which they selected was on the southern edge of Table Bay, and the number of settlers amounted only to a hundred persons. In half a century the colonists had greatly increased, and had driven the native Hottentots a considerable distance into the interior, amongst dry and barren tracts. This is the ordinary course of colonization. In 1705 the landrost, (a local magistrate,) Joseph Sterreberg Kuyt, proceeded on a journey into the country to procure some young oxen for the Dutch East India Company; and he has left a very interesting journal of his expedition, which has been translated from the original Dutch, and published by the Rev. Dr. Philip, in his truly valuable 'Research in South Africa.' The account which the landrost gives of the adventure of his company with a lion is altogether so curious, that we extract it without abridgment:
"Our wagons, which were obliged to take a circuitous route, arrived at last, and we pitched our tent musket shot from the kraal; and, having arranged every thing, went to rest, but we were soon disturbed; for about midnight the cattle and horses, which were standing between the wagons, began to start and run, and one of the drivers to shout, on which every one ran out of the tent with his gun. About thirty paces from the tent stood a small thornbush, carrying something with him which I took to be a young ox.
"We fired more than sixty shots at that bush and pierced it stoutly, without perceiving any movement. The south-east wind blew strong, the sky was clear, and the moon shone very bright, so that we could perceive every thing at that distance. After the cattle had quieted again, and I looked over every thing, I missed the sentry from before the tent. We called as loudly as possible, but in vain—no body answered, from which I concluded that the lion had carried him off. Three men then advanced very cautiously to the bush, which stood right opposite the door of the tent, to see if they could discover any thing of the man, but returned, helter skelter, for the lion, who was there still, rose up and began to roar. They found there the musket of the sentry, which was cocked, and also his cap and shoes.
"We fired again about a hundred shots at the bush, (which was sixty paces from the wagons, and at which we were able to point as at a target,) without perceiving any thing of the lion, from which we concluded that he was killed or had run away. This induced the marksmen, Jan Stamaans, to go and see if he was there still or not, taking with him a fire-brand. But as soon as he approached the bush, the lion roared terribly, and leaped at him, on which he threw the fire-brand at him, and the other people having fired about ten shots, he retired directly to his former place behind the bush.
"The fire-brand which he had thrown at the lion had fallen in the midst of the bush, and, favoured by the strong south-east wind, it began to burn with a great flame, so that we could see very clearly into and through it."

$100 REWARD.
RAN AWAY from the subscriber, on the 12th instant, a Negro man
BEN,
He is about 35 years of age, about 5 feet 3 or 4 inches high, tolerable stout make, rather slender built, slow of speech, speaks low, and has a down look when spoken to, he has a small grey fore hair, about the size of a dollar, which is conspicuous.
He was purchased of the estate of the late Chancellor Johnson, in 1825, and as he was his carriage driver, and has also been man, has travelled pretty generally throughout the State, and has a very general acquaintance in and about Annapolis and Baltimore. He will no doubt make his best way through any of those places out of the State, his object being to be Pennsylvania. It is probable he has been furnished with a false pass, several have obtained them from an individual in this neighborhood within the last year.
His clothing being various, cannot be correctly described, but will be found in a pair of a drab roundabout, a mixed roundabout, and pantaloons to match, also possibly a Casse coat, with a half worn black frock.
The above reward will be given if taken within or more from my residence, and 50 dollars elsewhere, so that I get him again.

Mary Watson, Elizabeth Stone, Sarah Mackall, and Alexander Harris, Against
James J. Wilkinson, Walter Wilkinson, Barbara Ann Wilkinson, Eliza Wilkinson, James Wilkinson, Catharine Wilkinson, Margaret Wilkinson, and Joseph Wilkinson.

THE object of the Bill is to obtain a decree, that a trustee be appointed to make a deed to Mary Watson of two thirds of certain parts of Tracts of Land, situate in Calvert county, called "Bromwell and Lowry's Reserve."
The Bill states, that a certain James Mackall, now dead, being seized and possessed of Land, situate in Calvert county, called Bromwell and Lowry's Reserve, conveyed the same to Joseph Wilkinson, in trust for him and his family, and which lands were held by the said Wilkinson, for the use of the said Mackall and his family, and the profits thereof received by them—That the family of the said Mackall consisted of three children, Mary Watson, Elizabeth, who had married George Stone, and Sarah to whom the said Land was to descend after the death of their father—That some years after the conveyance before mentioned, and by the request of the said James Mackall, the said Joseph Wilkinson agreed to convey the said Land to the said George Stone, and did execute a deed thereof, which was never recorded, and that no money was paid therefor, and that the said Stone was to execute a bond (which he never did) to pay the interest of the purchase money, amounting to $2,000, to the said Mackall during his life, and after his death to pay one third thereof to Mary Watson, one third to Sarah Mackall, and one third to be retained by said Stone for his wife's portion—That at a subsequent period of the contract between Stone, Wilkinson and Mackall, was rescinded, and an award of partition between the said three heirs of Mackall was made—That Joseph Wilkinson and George Stone are dead, without having made any provision, by will, in regard to the said estate—That the heirs of Joseph Wilkinson are James J. Wilkinson, Walter Wilkinson, Thomas H. Wilkinson, George Wilkinson, Robert Wilkinson, Mary Wilkinson, Margaret Dyer, Elizabeth Gary, Joseph Wilkinson, (now dead, intestate) leaving the following children—Barbara Ann Wilkinson, Eliza Wilkinson, James Wilkinson, Catharine Wilkinson, Margaret Wilkinson and Joseph Wilkinson—That the heirs of George Stone are Elizabeth Stone, James John Stone, George Stone, and Mary Stone—That since the death of Joseph Wilkinson and George Stone, the said Charles Mary Watson, Elizabeth Stone, and Sarah Mackall, have by deed of partition, divided the said Land according to the said award, and that Sarah Mackall, for a valuable consideration, conveyed all her interest in said Land to Mary Watson, who has assigned her right to Alexander Harris.

It thereupon, this 16th day of July, 1832, on motion of JAMES BOYLE, the Complainant's Solicitor, Ordered, that a copy of this order be inserted, at least once in each of three successive weeks, in some newspaper published in Annapolis before the 5th day of August next, to the end that the said James J. Wilkinson, Walter Wilkinson, Barbara Ann Wilkinson, Eliza Wilkinson, James Wilkinson, Catharine Wilkinson, Margaret Wilkinson, and Joseph Wilkinson, who are not residents of the State of Maryland, may have notice of the application of the Complainants to this Court, and of the subject and object of the Bill, and may be warned to appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 20th day of November next, to show cause wherefore a decree should not pass as prayed.
