stock which is redeemable within the time, by terms of contract, and leaving a balance of only $7,061,698 63 to be redeemed after the close of the present year. Thus it appears that had the seven millions of bank stock held by the government, been sold, agreeably to the suggestion of the Secretary contained in his previous report, the whole of the debt might have been discharged not only by the 4th of March next, as stated by him at the time, but by the 1st of January next. It also appears that within the four years of Jackson's administration the amount applied to the discharge of the public debt has amounted to about $58,000,000. Such is the injury and ruin which has been brought upon the country by the election of Andrew Jackson to the Presidency, about which his opponents have spoken so largely.

The prospect with regard to the revenue of the year 1833, is highly favourable, and affords an evidence of a state of commercial operations in our country very different from what might have been supposed to exist had the statements made by the opposition been relied upon as being founded in truth. Notwithstanding the reduction in the duties which has been made during Jackson's administration, the revenue from customs for the year, is estimated at $21,000,000, while the whole of the expenditures, including four millions for revolutionary pensions, and near seven millions for various improvements, pensions, &c. are estimated at no more than $17,638,577 35.

The Secretary again recommends such an arrangement of the tariff as shall reduce the revenue to the standard adequate only to the discharge of the expenditures of the government, under an economical management of our affairs, thus reducing the burthens of the people, and showing the full extent of the advantage arising from the extinguishment of the public debt, and removing the grounds of those local divisions and distractions which have threatened a severance of our happy Union. This is a result which must evidently be produced; and however men from personal interest, local preferences and party objects, may condemn the proposition or oppose its adoption, if they suffer their reason to exert its proper influence, they must be convinced is the proper course for this government to pursue; and indeed is the only one which it can long continue to pursue. On this subject the reasoning of the Secretary is very strong, and should, we think, satisfy every candid mind of the correctness of his views, and the propriety of adopting the course he proposes.

Had the Bank stock, held by the government, been sold agreeably to the suggestion of the Secretary, there would have been an increase upon the par value of it, upon the amount of that stock, of $1,540,000; but in consequence of the course which has been pursued by the Bank it is now reduced to but a trifle above its par value, and in a short time it is more than probable that it will be down to par at least. Consequently there will be a loss to the government, by the omission to dispose of the stock, of at least $1,500,000.

If other evidences were wanting to prove the fact, it will be clearly perceived from this report, that the course pursued by the Bank has been such as greatly injured it, and has destroyed the confidence which was formerly reposed in it. Had its friends waited until the proper time for the making of an application for a renewal of its charter, and had its funds been properly applied, it might in all probability have accomplished its object, and would have stood upon a much more solid basis than it now does; but by pressing that application prematurely, and applying its funds with the view to affect the elections, it has aroused a general indignation against it, and deprived itself of the ability to discharge its engagements; in consequence of which it has adopted measures which are well calculated to destroy all confidence in its stability or purity, and upon these grounds the Secretary recommends an enquiry into the security of the bank, as the depositories of the public funds. The course pursued by the bank or its agent, in parting with the certificates of the stock which the government had proposed to pay off, is certainly very extraordinary, and such as merits general disapprobation.—The friends of the bank pretend to allege that as the bank has taken upon itself the payment of the stock, the government is relieved from any further charge or responsibility; but it must be obvious to every intelligent mind, that such is not the fact.—The bank, it is true, has agreed to pay the interest upon the debt, and to take up, at a future time, the certificates; and if it performs the contract, there will be no charge upon the government; but until the government becomes possessed of the certificates of the stock, it is liable, in case of any failure upon the part of the bank, to be called upon for payment; and as the Bank has possession of government funds for the payment of that debt, it had no right, nor was there any propriety in its making use of the certificates as collateral security for any of its engagements. The fact of its having done so, is well calculated to impair confidence in its stability, and the Secretary, with these facts before him, has certainly done well to suggest the propriety of making the proposed enquiry.

In adverting to the course pursued by the nullifiers of South Carolina, the Secretary remarks that if the course they have proposed be fully carried out, the present laws will be insufficient to enforce the collection of the revenue; but until their measures be more matured, it is impossible to determine what additional provisions may be proper or necessary in the case; though his attention has been directed to a consideration of the requisite remedies.

IN CHANCERY,

27th November, 1832.

The President, Directors and Company of the Farmers Bank of Maryland, vs.

John Chew Thomas,

THE bill filed in this case alleges, that the defendant being indebted to the complainants in the sum of eighteen hundred and eighty dollars, on a note, did on the 24th day of November 1828, duly execute, acknowledge, and have recorded, a deed of mortgage to the complainants, conveying to them, and their successors, all the right, title and interest, of the defendant, in and to a tract or parcel of land lying in Washington county, of the state of Maryland, patented in the name of the defendant, and containing, exclusive of three small parcels sold to Jacob Weikle, and others, about three thousand acres of land, more or less, and called Golden Fleece, together with all its buildings, improvements and advantages, in order the better to secure to the complainants the payment of the said debt due on the said note, or any other or others that may be given in renewal thereof, or of any part thereof, according to the tenor and effect of the same, with all the interest and costs that may accrue thereon—that the defendants, for the purposes aforesaid, did on the thirtieth day of January 1830, duly execute, acknowledge, and have recorded, another deed of mortgage, conveying the above land and premises to the complainants, and their successors, and also did, on the twelfth day of March, in the year last aforesaid, for the purposes aforesaid, duly execute, acknowledge, and have recorded, another deed of mortgage, conveying the said land and premises to the complainants, and their successors. The bill refers for particulars to the said deeds of mortgage filed therewith, as exhibits and parts of said bill. The bill further states, that the complainants are informed that the said John Chew Thomas did, on the 6th day of May 1820, mortgage the said tract of land to the President and Directors of the Union Bank of Maryland, to secure the payment of seven hundred and fifty dollars, and that the said debt is still due. The complainants then charge, that the said note due to them hath not been renewed or paid in whole or in part; that the defendant has permitted it to be protested for nonpayment, and that the principal and interest from the 7th of November 832, with three dollars and ninety cents costs of protest, are now due thereon to the complainants. The bill then prays a decree for the sale of the mortgaged premises to pay the debt, interest and costs, unless the same be paid by a time to be limited by the Chancellor; that an order for a notice of publication may issue against the said defendant, Thomas, who is a nonresident, being a resident in the state of Pennsylvania, and a subpœna may be directed to the President and Directors of the Union Bank of Maryland, that they and may be and appear in this court, and answer the said bill, and shew cause, if any they have, why a decree should not pass in the premises according to the prayer of the complainants, and that the complainants may have other and further relief, and so forth. It is thereupon adjudged and ordered, that the complainants, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper three successive weeks before the 20th day of December next, give notice to the said nonresident defendant of this application, and of the object and substance of the bill, that he may be warned to appear in this court, in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 27th day of April next, to shew cause, if any they have, why a decree should not pass as prayed for in the said bill.

A NEW, CHEAP AND POPULAR PERIODICAL.

WALDIE'S SELECT CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

THE striking features of this periodical are, that books are published in it in a form which allows of their being carried by mail, and at a rate so reasonable, that every intelligent educated person in the community can procure them. The publisher receives from England all the new books of merit, and from these, selections are made from the best class of Novels, Memoirs, Travels, Sketches, Tales, and Biography. These are printed as rapidly as an extensive printing office will admit, and forwarded by mail, carefully packed so as to carry to the most distant post office in the Union, uninjured.

This periodical commenced in October, with the popular novel of Wahlstein, or the Swedes in Prague, which cost in London six dollars; it is contained entire in two numbers and a half of the Circulating Library, costing subscribers less than twenty-five cents. This was succeeded by the Memoirs of Lavallette, which cost the publisher to import eight dollars: it was likewise contained in the same space and at the same price. The sixth number commences the travels of Mr. Vigne, costing in London six dollars; it will be printed entire in the "Library" for at most thirty cents! This enumeration of prices the publisher trusts, with the facility of transportation by mail, will be sufficient to induce those who receive this prospectus, to use some exertion to extend the circulation of the work in their respective neighbourhoods, as, if encouraged hereafter as he has so far been, it is his intention to lay before the American public in this form all the best books which issue from the London press.

The price is five dollars for 52 numbers, which will contain as much matter as 1200 pages, or three volumes, of Rees's Cyclopædia. This volume will comprise at least from twenty-five to thirty entire works, printed on good paper, and with the same accuracy as book work. It will form two volumes of 416 pages each, well worthy of preservation for reference, and a valuable addition to every public and private library. The publisher feels confident in stating, that the entire 52 numbers, when bound, will sell for more than the subscription price, as after a few more numbers are issued, no more will be printed than will supply actual paying subscribers.

Still further to increase the facilities of subscribers, the publisher has added another inducement for clubs to join together in their remittance. Twenty dollars will be received in full for the subscription of five individuals. This deduction will pay all postage.

Those who design to patronize this new and popular mode of publishing good books, will oblige the subscriber by forwarding their remittances as early as practicable. A five dollar note deposited in the post office will supply good reading to a family and circle of acquaintance for a whole year.

The gentleman who makes the selections for this periodical, to literary taste and education, has, from his situation, facilities for knowing what is popular and of high reputation possessed by few; to this he adds a proper sense of the responsibility he has assumed in catering for an extended and moral community. The publisher therefore confidently recommends the Circulating Library to heads of families, as a work which they need have no fear of introducing into any circle.

The ensuing number will contain a highly popular novel, by the English Opium Eater.
