I also submit a report from the agent of the state, who attended the meetings of the Ca-nal company, which were called to consider the resolution of the state before referred to.

The Susquehannah Rail-Road has made considerable progress the past season, and the importance of that work would justify a still reater share of the patronage and liberality of the state. I have not received any report from the directors of this company, but presume it will be laid before you, during the Permit me to call your attention to the subject of the Inspection of Flour. The present law appears to be liable to some objectious, and, in my opinion, no law upon this subject could be passed which would have a better effect than one similar to those now existing in the states of New-York and Pennsylvania. There is no subject of more impor-tance to the people of every class than the establishment and preservation of a proper standard, and for the inspection of the essential article of flour, and until such standard is put upon the same footing with those of our sister states, this vast staple of our state will not command abroad the price which is given for the same articles from other quarters. The standard for this article, once a dopted, ought to continue the same, even should the crop of wheat from any casuality be so indifferent as not to make a barrel of Superfine Floar, for it is well known that the quality of the crop varies, and if the standard for Superfine is varied accordingly, it requires years to recover the character in foreign markets, which such alteration would cause it to lose in a single year,

The prevailing feeling in several of our sister states in regard to lotteries, would seem to offer a favoarable opportunity to attempt their entire suppression. They constitute a system of gambing which, although licensed is extremely prejudicial. I would suggest the propriety of legislative action upon the subject. Should you agree with me that they ought to be abolished, it would be proper, for the purpose of accomplishing the end, that the legislature should adopt a resolution to be I do not wish to be considered as a canada the legislature should adopt a resolution to be I do it, with deep humility, by no means and communicated to the respective states, pro-posing to do away the system whenever the communicated to the respective states, proposing to do away the system whenever the other states should do the same. The reason is evident why such a course ought to be adopted, for should any state refuse its sanction, the state so refusing would receive a vast amount from other states, for the purchase of terual improvement of the state, to which beg leave to call your most serious attention gained would be entirely defeated, but should it is well known to every member of your han all the states agree to the proposition to take

By a resolution of the legislature, my predecessor in office was directed to procure (a-mongst others which have been delivered as ordered,) a sword with suitable devices to be presented to the late gallant Capt: George W Rogers, of the Navy, for his good conduct during the late war. Before the sword was completed, this gentleman departed for a foreign station to take command of a squarron—he, alas was destined never to retura, and this memorial of his services and word still remains in the executive chamber, awaited ing the direction of the legislature, as I di not feel myself authorised to make any di-position of it after the decease of the indirdual for whom it was intended.

I have thus endeavoured, rather to promy your action upon some important subjects than to urge them for adoption under r views. Some of my ideas are perhaps, totally erroneous, but at this period, when there is bout to be a separation between us, I to that you will draw the veil of charity oversithe errors in this communication, and perm me to state, in concluding this message, the I do not wish to be considered as a candidate tom seems to have fixed the period of re-ele tion to the extent of the legal term of qualification, I may be allowed to think, that the partiality of some friends would wish my cartinuance in office.
