Mr. Blakistone, chairman of the committee on grievances and courts of justice, delivered the following report:
The committee on grievances and courts of justice, to whom was referred an order of this house, requiring them to enquire into the propriety of reviving the laws on trespass, the more effectually to secure the right of property, and provide for the punishment of depredations committed thereon, have had the same under consideration. Your committee are of opinion, the laws on trespass provide ample protection to the right of property, and also sufficient punishment for any trespass committed thereon. The order to which their attention has been directed, is so general, your committee has not been able to give their investigation any special direction, but would gladly remedy any defect, which may be pointed out, and to which their attention may be called, by a special order, stating the evil complained of; they therefore ask to be excused from the further consideration of said order.
Which was read the first time and ordered to lie on the table.
Mr. White, from the committee on internal improvement, delivered the following report:
The committee on internal improvement, to whom was referred the petition of John S. Williams, soliciting the patronage of the state, in aid of a treatise which he proposes to publish upon the subject of road making in his various branches, and not being impressed with a belief of the propriety of granting the prayer of said petitioner, they therefore ask to be excused from its further consideration, and recommend that the petitioner leave to withdraw his petition.
Which was read the first time and ordered to lie on the table.
On motion by Mr. Jenkins,
Ordered, That the committee on grievances and courts of justice, be instructed to enquire into the expediency of providing by law, that in all cases in any court of this state where a nullus prosequi is granted by the governor, the costs which have previously accrued in such cases shall be paid out of the state treasury, or by the party in whose behalf the nullus prosequi is granted.

The house resumed the consideration of the unfinished business of yesterday, being the bill reported by Mr. Harper, chairman of the committee on the coloured population, entitled a supplement to an act entitled, An act relating to the free negroes and slaves, passed at December session, 1831, chapter 323.
On motion by Mr. Pratt, said bill was amended by inserting after the word 'persons,' in the seventh line, these words, 'and which said slaves resided either in that part of the district aforesaid or in Maryland.'
Mr. Cottman moved further to amend said bill by inserting in the fifth section of the bill the following:
And be it enacted, That when any citizen of this state being the owner of any farm or farms in any adjoining state, and had been in the habit of working said farm or farms (previous to the passage of this act) with the labour of slaves owned by such citizen, he shall be permitted to bring into this state such slave or slaves, being his property previous to the passage of this act, whenever his convenience may require.
Mr. Harris moved to amend the amendment proposed by Mr. Cottman, by adding at the end thereof the following proviso, 'provided, that slaves shall have resided in and been removed by him from Maryland.'
Resolved in the affirmative.

The question then recurred upon the amendment as amended,
Resolved in the affirmative.
On motion by Mr. Jenkins, said bill was amended, by inserting after the word 'therefor,' in the fifth line, sixth section, these words, 'from the person or persons presenting the said lists or other papers.'
On motion by Mr. Merrick, said bill was further amended by adding at the end thereof, as an additional section, the following:
And be it enacted, That in all cases where the lawful wife or husband of any slave held and owned by any inhabitant of this state, shall be a slave owned and possessed by an inhabitant of any adjoining State, District, or Territory; it shall and may be lawful for the owner of such wife or husband, an inhabitant of this state, to purchase, import and bring into this state from any such adjoining State, District, or Territory, the said wife or husband of his or her said slave, provided the lawful marriage of said slave shall have taken place before the passage of this act, and shall be proved to have been solemnized by a regularly ordained or licensed minister of the gospel, by the affidavit of the person so bringing him or her into this state, or by the affidavit of some other credible white person, which affidavit shall be in writing and left with the clerk of the county court of the county into which said slave is introduced, for record, within thirty days from the day on which said slave shall be brought into the state of Maryland.
Mr. Jones moved to amend the said bill by adding at the end thereof, the following:
And whereas it is manifestly impolitic and oppressive upon the people of this state, whilst a tax is levied on them for the purpose of removing from the state the people of colour, that the Legislature should admit more of the said population into the state than are removed by the operation of the said tax.
And whereas there has been collected by the said law more than eight thousand dollars which have been expended in effecting the removal of one hundred and seventy-five of the said people.
And whereas the passage of this act will prevent the admission of negroes greatly exceeding in number those who have been removed, as aforesaid.—Therefore,
Be it enacted, That the 8th section of the act of last session, entitled an act relating to the people of colour in this state, chapter 281, and all such parts of the said act, as provide for levying taxes upon the people either directly or indirectly be and the same are hereby repealed.

Which was read, and is as follows—
ROSE MOUSE, February 12th, 1833.
To the Honourable President of the Senate, and
The Honourable Speaker of the House of Delegates.
GENTLEMEN,—I had the honour to receive a few days since, from his Excellency the Governor, a commission, which officially informed me of my election to the Senate of the United States, for the term of six years, from the 4th of March next.
This appointment emanating from the General Assembly, by whom I have heretofore been peculiarly favoured, demands my most grateful acknowledgments, and be assured this reiterated evidence of their continued and undiminished confidence at so momentous a period of our public concerns, is highly gratifying, and can but serve as the strongest incentive on my part, for the future application of all the energies I may possess, for the accomplishment of their wishes, and the promotion of the best interests of the country.
Looking forward then with confidence to the continuance of that indulgent and generous support, which heretofore, when occupying public stations, the General Assembly have so kindly extended to me, and which tended to sustain me under all circumstances, I accept with diffidence, though with the most grateful emotions, the appointment they have been pleased to bestow on me.
Favour me so far gentlemen, as to accept for yourselves personally, and tender to the honourable bodies over which you preside, the assurance of my entire respect and esteem, and believe me to remain with great consideration,
Your obedient servant,
JOSEPH KENT.
The house then adjourned.

A NEW, CHEAP AND POPULAR PERIODICAL.
WALDIE'S SELECT CIRCUATING LIBRARY.
THE striking features of this periodical are, that its books are published in a form which renders their being carried by mail, and at a rate so reasonable, that every intelligent educated person in the community can procure them. The publisher receives from England all the new books, the best of these, selections are made from the best of the Novels, Memoirs, Travels, Sketches, Tales, and the like. These are printed as rapidly as an engraving office will admit, and forwarded by mail, carefully packed, so as to carry to the most distant post office in the Commonwealth.
This periodical commenced in October, with the popular novel of Waldie, or the Swedes in France, which cost in London six dollars. It is contained in five or six numbers, and a half of the circulating library, costing subscribers less than twenty dollars. This was succeeded by the Memoirs of La Roche, which cost the publisher to import eight dollars, was likewise contained in the same space and at the same price. The sixth number of the circulating library will be printed entire in the "Library" for at least thirty cents. This enumeration of prices the public are invited to peruse, with the facility of transportation by rail, will be sufficient to induce those who are desirous, respectively, to use some exertion to extend the circulation of the work in their respective localities, to be induced, as is intimated here, to subscribe, as it is his intention to lay before the public in this form all the best books which the London press publishes.
The price is five dollars for 32 numbers, which contain as much matter as 120 pages, or the volume of Hecate's Cyclopaedia. This volume will rise at least from twenty-five to thirty dollars, when printed on good paper, and with the same size as book work. It will form two volumes of fifty each, well worthy of preservation for reference to a valuable addition to every public and private library. The publisher feels confident, that by the sale of 32 numbers, when bound, will sell more than the subscription price, as after a few numbers are issued, no more will be printed, and the subscribers are invited to increase the facilities of their purchase, by the purchase of a single number, which will be sent to any address, and the subscriber by forwarding his remittance to the office will supply good reading to a family, and a specimen of a work for a whole year.
The publisher also makes the selections for his periodical, to literary taste and education, for his situation, facilities for knowing what is new and of high reputation possessed by few, to enable a progressive sense of the responsibility imposed in catering for so extended and respectable a community. The publisher therefore confidently recommends the circulating library to heads of families as a work which they need have no fear of introducing into any circle.
The existing number will contain a highly popular novel, by the English Opium Trade.
