THE JOURNAL

BELLES LETTRES. A NEW AND STRIKING CHARACTER ADDED TO WALDIE'S

CIRCULATING LIBRARY. THE Proprietor of this work, anxious to gra-tify his readers to as great an extent as his means will allow, respectfully announces to the public that the very liberal patronage he has received has enabled him to add a new feature to this periodical, which he believes cannot fail to prove interesting and valuable. THE JOURNAL OF BELLES LETTRES, embrac. ing three to four pages of additional new mat-ter, will be given every week as an accompaniment to the Circulating Library, and will

1. Early repaints of the reviews and notices of new books, from the weekly and monthly periodical press of London, &c. These reviews will be carefully selected with reference both to imparting correct information respecting such new books as are reprinted in America, and to convey literary intelligence in regard to works which rarely fird their way across the Atlantic. As great exertions will be used to make this department instructive and entertaining, the proprietor is confident that it will be considered an important addition, by means of which his numerous subscribers will frequently avoid the expense of purchasing such quenty arout the expense or purchasing such books as are printed on the calculation that their titles or the reputation of their authors will sell the edition. This part of the Journal will embrace a considerable amount of extracts from new books of travels, memoirs, biography, novels, and in fact present a bird's eye of new publications, early diffused through the Union, by means of the lacilities of mail trans-

The London Literary Gazette will be culled for this purpose, while the "Critical Notices," of the London Metropolitan, the Monthly, New Monthly, the Gentleman's, Blackwood's, Tait's, Edinburgh, Fraser's, and other Magazines, already regularly received by the editor, will be freely used.

2. Varieties, embracing literary anecdotes, new discoveries in science and the arts, skerches es of society and manners abroad, literary and learned transactions, short notices of new books. and every species of information interesting to lovers of reading, with occasional speci-mens of the humourous departments of the London press, which are within the bounds of good taste, and are now published in no other journal in America.

3. A regular list of the new books published

Several applications having been made to ascertain the manner in which the original diepartment of notices of new books will be con ducted, we take the present early apportunity of stating that, at least they shall most unequivocally be-UNBOUGHT. The presents tion of a copy by the publisher shall not be a passport to praise, when the merits of the work do not warrant it; so that our readers may be do not warrant it; so that our readers may be assured of two things: First—books shall not be noticed the next day after they are received; and, secondly, they shall not be reviewed before they have been read. We have no royal road to puffing, and will be the less likely, therefore, to fall into the error of an unlocky with the book in his anxiety to to the first for the Maryland, letters testamentary on the personal estate of Mary Dyer, late of St. Mary's county, deceased. This predicament was worse than that of the London editor, who criticised some passages of Cooke's acting, and found when he rose next morning, and his paper was all over London, that the play had een postponed.

For the rest, time must develope our course and our capabilities; in cases where the usual courtesy of the trade is not extended to this journal, unlike most of our cotemporaries, we shall buy what books we want, and give to such as deserve it a careful perusal.

The prospectus, and some technical difficulties always attending the first issue of a new journal, make the present number but a partial specimen of its future promise.
