6000 PLURALITY!!!
PORTLAND, Sept. 16.
DEAR SIR—Pierce has been elected most triumphantly to-day to fill the vacancy existing at our election on Monday last. He was opposed by the Federalists and Prebelsites.
The polls closed as follows:
Pierce, Democratic, 503 votes.
Fox, Federal, 606
Scattering, for friends of Preble, 26 1533 Pierce has 271 majority over all. A glorious triumph!!
THE ELECTION.
We give in our columns to-day, the returns of 257 towns of the election of Governor, which give Mr. DOWNS, the Democratic Republican candidate, a majority of 1633 OVER ALL OPPOSING CANDIDATES—that is to say, over Mr. Goodenow, the federal candidate—over Gov. Smith, the Preble joint or disorganizers' candidate—over Mr. Hill, the Anti-Masonic candidate, and over all scattering votes.—The towns remaining to be heard from are, mostly Democratic, and will add some hundreds to this republican injiry.—Eastern Argus.
FROM JAMAICA.
By the arrival of the packet ship Orbit, Captain Kinsbury, at New York, Jamaica papers to the 21st of August inclusive have been received.
The Jamaica Courant of the 19th, contains the following article relative to the rumored departure of Lord Mulgrave from the island.
There was considerable rejoicing in this city yesterday, in consequence of a report, which is said to be well grounded, that the Earl of Mulgrave has been recalled by His Majesty's Government, as our Agent. Our Delegates, and others connected with the West Indies, have impressed upon His Majesty's Government, the propriety of permitting his Lordship to remain in the meeting our new House of Assembly, composed as it is of old members, he so very unanimously sent back to his constituents, and our belief in this rumour is strengthened by the proposition of the House to an indefinite period. It is now no secret that Lord Mulgrave would have long been recalled, but for the intercession of the Duke of Richmond.
Sir John Keane was sent for, but preferred an East India command, and he succeeds Sir Edward Barnes, as Governor and Commander-in-Chief at Bombay. Sir John's reasons for declining this Government are not exactly known, but on his refusal Sir Willoughby Cotton was directed to return here forthwith, and he is hourly looked for and it is stated that on his arrival he will assume the Government as well as the Command of the Forces —events most devoutly to be wished. Sir Willoughby has many friends in the country, and not one enemy in the House of Assembly.
Lord Mulgrave has no real friend here.
The Jamaica Despatch of the same day publishes a similar report, and concurs in the opinion that His Lordship's departure will not give umbrage to the respectable portion of the community.
Neither of the papers of the two subsequent days confirm the report.
The Despatch thus alludes to the situation of Jamaica and the prospective results of the law emancipating the slaves.— The future happiness and prosperity of Jamaica depends on the final settlement of a question which has enlisted the sympathies and feelings of millions in Great Britain, and has caused uneasiness, bloodshed, and depreciation of property in the unfortunate colonies. If agitation was to be kept up much longer in the mother country, is there any doubt but West India property would be dar-ingly becoming more valueless, and security of life more uncertain. We have fatal precedents to establish the fact, that continued agitation would cause the destruction of the colonists altogether. The crisis is at hand to consider of the most effectual means for the colonists to secure as much as possible out of the wreck—the shoals and quicksands which surround them must be cautiously avoided, and the vessel steered by our Statesmen into the safest harbor they can reach. We are ready to admit that the sum of twenty millions is not equivalent for the immense property vested in the colonies, and likely to suffer by the contemplated change.—When we consider that the British Government have been forced by the voice of the nation to the steps they have taken, and that they have signified their intention of giving twenty millions to cover probable losses—(mind, they state no loss at all will accrue from their measures) we trust the colonists, if they are secure in the money, and if every compact is virtually fulfilled, will the necessity of a cordial co-operation in bringing to a close that painful subject, so long a source of irritation and discontent.

created against Marshal Bourmont for having insisted upon the attack. The Marshal himself, who was severely wounded, is reported has retired to Spain.
From the London Times of the 13th Aug.
In the House of Lords last night, the Grand Juris (Ireland) Bill was read a first time, and ordered to be read a second time on Thursday.
The Slavery Abolition Bill was read a second time, after a tedious discussion, of which the object is by no means apparent. The committee of the Bill was understood to be fixed for Wednesday.
In the House of Commons during the early sitting, the House again proceeded with the consideration of the Factories' Regulation Bill in committee.
Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.—It is positively stated that the Marquis of Anglesey is forthwith to be recalled from the Vice-royalty of this country. We understand that preparations for his departure have actually commenced. No person has as yet been named (as his Lordship's nomination has not transpired, at least his Lordship's successor.
The state of Ireland continues to present a happy contrast to its condition six months ago.—That country is in fact so tranquil, that we understand the Lord Lieutenant has declared that in case of necessity, he should not be afraid to dispense with a considerable portion of the troops there—if as was a short time since apprehended, there might be a necessity for a force for Portugal.
The determination shown by the government on the one hand to maintain the authority of the law, and on the other to afford relief to the people, has produced this result—it has taken away the food and the stimulus of agitation.
DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN DUBLIN.
Saturday morning last, about 2 o'clock, a dreadful fire broke out at North Wall, Dublin, and in a few hours destroyed the Custom-house, sugar, and wine stores, on the fine building, with chief of the property it contained. The cause of this calamitous event is at present unknown; but we understand that there is no reason for attributing it to want of due carefulness, and it is satisfactory to learn that there is no ground for supposing it the act of an incendiary. The following particulars relative to this disastrous event are from the Dublin Evening Mail of Monday.—
The losses of individuals, we are sorry to say, are very heavy—principally, in whiskey, sugar and tallow. As nearly as we can collect, the total is about 2500 hogheads of sugar, 500 puncheons of whiskey, and 300 casks of tallow. About 100 puncheons of whiskey were thrown into the docks, by which a great deal of it was saved—many were staved by striking against each other. Of course, during such a scene of confusion, men were to be seen in all directions in a beastly state of intoxication. We have not heard that any personal injury has been sustained—and, fortunately, the weather was so calm that none of the shipping was damaged.
German papers to the 6th instant were received this morning. The following letter, relative to the state of Poland, is the only article of the least interest they contain. A letter from Warsaw of the 25th July, in the Journal de Frankfort, gives the following narrative of the state of Poland, adding that it may be considered official. "From the beginning of March to the 1st of May, this year, 35 bands of armed men entered Galicia and the Grand Duchy of Posen. The most numerous of these bands consisted of 24 men; all the others had 13, 14 and 18; they are commanded by Dzierwicki, Zaleski, Suberski Sulanski, Arthur Zarvitzki, and one Beal-kowski, who is entirely unknown. On the first information given to the authorities, Cossacks assisted by some infantry, proceeded to search the woods in which the insurgents hid themselves, and succeeded in capturing most of them; for 35 were taken, and among these the principal persons Dzierwicki, Szepk, Zawisza, Gazeid, and Winniki.
It is worthy of remark, that in those places where there were no troops, the peasants themselves searched the woods, arrested several of the insurgents, and brought them to Warsaw. All these men are already sentenced, or on the point of being so. The commander of the bands has retreated and probably seeks refuge beyond the Polish frontier. Since this result, which was easily to be foreseen, no further attempt of the kind has been made, and there is not the smallest appearance of any movement in the kingdom of Poland. This is the strict truth." he called on them to put up their weapons, and taking out his own sword flung it into the sea. About 800 police or militia had been raised for the protection of the city. The behaviour of all classes were beyond all praise.

The conflict of Don Miguel's police had excited a great sensation at Lisbon. It appears that the Duc Cadaval, with about 3000 police, after they had fled from Lisbon, retreated to Caldas, about 25 miles north of Lisbon, and sacked the place for four hours, committing the greatest depredations on the persons and property of the inhabitants. On the 31st July they were on the road to Lucetia.
A division of Don Miguel's troops, about 1500 had forded the Tagus at Valoda, near Santerim, and a steamer was sent up by Don Pedro to negotiate with them. It was generally supposed that they would turn in favour of the young Queen.
The Corsair called off Oporto on the 5th, but nothing of importance had occurred since our last advices. The Miguelites, however, continued to harass the city by continually firing on the town and all the boats which came within the range of their guns. At Oporto they were anxiously expecting that the lines of Don Miguel would be broken by the troops from Lisbon. No movement had taken place at Lisbon for that purpose, and, in the present state of affairs, it does not appear likely that a sufficient force could be collected by Don Pedro. The contending forces at Oporto must, therefore, fight it out.
The Donna Maria was cruising off Oporto.

OBITUARY.
Departed this life on the 12th inst. whilst on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Mary Allen of Ply Point, Mrs. RICHARD A. H. WRENS, in her 22d year, consort of David G. Wrems of Tracy's Landing. This lady was impressed early in life with the idea that she would not live long, and often expressed herself to that effect. For more than five months preceding her illness, she knew not what good health was, and in her last sickness suffered much from the last day of July, till death put an end to her mortal career. During the whole period, she exercised Job-like patience, and a Christian resignation to the will of her Maker.
"Though Heaven afflict I'll not complain, The wisest comfort yet remain." She had been a communicant of the Episcopal Church for more than two years, and not five minutes before the messenger performed his task she expressed her willingness to depart, in full confidence, without a groan or a struggle, and her spirit fled to its Author.
"Thou'lt asked, 'his done, the spirit is fled, The prisoner is gone, the Christian is dead."
In this stroke of Divine Justice, her husband is deprived of a dutiful and an affectionate wife, her little boy of the care and instruction of a fond and devoted mother, her relations, friends and acquaintances of a kind neighbour and a sincere friend. Though we all mourn her loss, yet we sorrow not as those without hope, believing our loss is her gain.

vere illness, in the 18th year of his age, Mr.
