probation of two chapters which, unfortunately for his critical acumen, had been contred, white the prefatory reference to them had been, by onstake, retained! This predicament was worse than that of the London editor, who riticised some passages of Cooke's acting, and found when he rose next morning, and his paper was all over London, that the play had been postponed.

For the rest, time must develope our course and our capabilities; in cases where the usual coursesy of the trade is not extended to this journal, unlike most of our cotemporaries, we shalf buy what books we wan; and give to such as deserve it a careful nerosal.

The prospectus, and some technical difficulties always attending toe first issue of a new journal, make the present number but a partial specimen of its future promise.
