

We have known a young Irish lady who read herself into this situation. She was at the age of 15, as lively, as healthy, and as beautiful a little promise of womanhood as that country ever produced. When the Leadenhall street romance crossed her way, an officer of a very different sort of troop became her hero. She would sit in her bowers, (the second floor window) and gaze upon his street, his helmet, and his streaming black haired crest, as he passed to mount guard, and she sobbed aloud in ecstasy of melancholy. She never spoke to this knight, nor did she even seek to have an acquaintance, least, perhaps, from a formal proposal, a good leg of mutton dinner, and all the realities of domestic happiness might dissipate the sweet romantic illusion she so much delighted in. A year passed over, she passed to thoughts, and with a green and yellow melancholy, entered a convent, for that is the name of the manly where she died in a few months.

Maryland Gazette.

ANNAPOLIS: Thursday, Sept. 11, 1854. YOUNG MEN'S PETITION FOR THE SENATE. FREDERICK C. L. BOWEN, M. D.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

We are authorized to say that the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, has received from the Hon. JOHN H. HARRIS, Secretary of the Executive Department, a copy of the petition of the Young Men of the State, for the Senate.

meeting be signed by the Chairman and Secretary—and that we request the Editors in this city, to publish them in their respective papers.

THOMAS J. PARKER, Chairman. DAVID H. HANSON, Secretary.

Communicated. Mr. GREEK.—Permit me, through the medium of your paper, to make a few remarks, by way of correcting certain errors which various industrious writers in the Maryland Republican have laboured to impose, not only upon our fellow citizens, but upon "strange broad," as matters of fact relative to the present political movement of the young men of this city.

In the first place they assert that "the new federal principles upon which they appeal to the public were concocted by the Jackson party." This, I am prepared to prove to be entirely false. Again they say "the movement was led by the Jackson party." This is also false. And again they say "the Jackson men were nominators," but another writer in the same paper calls one of them a Whig man—indeed, by the bye, is a fact. Nevertheless, he says that they say, they are not only going to "bring out" by the "young men," who convene in a public hall, but also "to nominate" to the two seats in the Senate, a nomination to be twice repeated, before the State will receive the support of the young men.

Now, if the young men of the State, in their own right, are to be nominated to the Senate, it is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

know by what such persons are influenced—principle or interest; I should be inclined to say the latter.

"A Young Working Man" seems to be rejoiced at the idea of the party, with whom those independent young men have united for the purpose of putting down tyranny on the small scale. I say he seems to be pleased with the idea of their being thrown off, when the object for which they were received is achieved; this is too preposterous an idea to need refutation. I suppose he estimates, according to the principles of his own party, which were lately exemplified by the manner in which the influence of their leading men was exerted in a recent appointment by the Executive. But, Mr. Editor, as long as our appointments are often intended to cover a deficiency of numerical strength, I will draw near to the idea, as informing the correspondent of the Md. R. publication, that the meeting, the numbers of which he seems to quote so much, and which he so highly and respectably extols, that it was larger than any nomination meeting that has been held in this city for several years. From intelligent and high ground, the present cannot but see through the flimsy arguments with which the correspondents of the Md. R. publication attempt to conceal their true intentions. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

distance from them, a little girl about 9 years old fell overboard from another boat, in a very deep part of the river, and at some distance from the shore. The two boys pulled up to the spot, and, without hesitating, young O'wener sprang overboard; seized the drowning girl after she had sunk the third time, and succeeded in swimming with her to the shore and restoring her to the arms of her mother, whose screams had by that time brought a number of men to the beach. They were much gratified at the little fellow's interposition, observing that he wanted nothing for what he had done, ran home as fast as he could, leaving the bystanders filled with astonishment how a small boy could possibly perform such an act.

We have as yet no later news from the Expedition of the Dragons than that which we have already given to our readers. The Editor of the Commercial Gazette, however, speaks of having received a letter from a young officer in the expedition, dated July 29, (eight days after the death of General Leavenworth) which states that disease, with its attendant privations, of want and discouragement, were prevalent in the Expedition. The Editor adds, that some means to be taken to relieve the Expedition must be adopted, without waiting for the arrival of the next session of Congress, which is to be held, it is thought, about the 1st of November next. It was an experimental voyage, but it had a result in its commencement.

DEATHS BY CHOLERA. A case of cholera was reported by the Executive Department, a few days ago, in the person of a young man, who was taken ill while engaged in his usual occupation, and died in a few days. The patient was taken ill while engaged in his usual occupation, and died in a few days.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State. It is not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the laws of the State.

man among them; than had been made by the Earl Grey from resigning. The London Courier, the 29th ult., says, "Lord Mulgrave is to succeed Lord John Russell as Lord Privy Seal, having, of course, the title of 'Cabinet.'" The same paper of the 30th ult. says, "Lord Durham is again mentioned as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland."

Where is Don Carlos.—In the House of Lords, July 29th, the following conversation took place. The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

at each of which the best spirit was manifested. The cholera still continued, but appeared to diminish in intensity. Respecting the movements of Don Carlos and Rodri the French Ministerial papers concur in saying that there was every probability that the first general engagement of the Pretender's army would be completely overthrown, and that it may appear, a Ministerial publication yesterday, expresses some doubt respecting the actual presence of Don Carlos in Spain. It was insinuated by the Opposition at Paris that the King contemplated a new campaign for the renewal of the war, namely, to announce the capture of Don Carlos.

Defeat of Don Carlos. Late the 23d inst. the House of Commons resolved that the great exertions of Don Carlos, the late Duke of Berwick, in the defence of the Kingdom, should be commemorated by the erection of a monument in the city of London. (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Melbourne said some information had been received of Don Carlos, but a copy of a notice that could not be read (Hear, hear.)

The Marquis of Londonderry said he would like to ask the Noble Lord at the head of the Majesty's government whether any information had been received of Don Carlos's arrival in Spain. (Hear, hear.)