> From the Balt. Chronicle of Yesterday. THE CHOLERA.

We are happy to learn from several respectable physicians that the cholera has reativ abated in this city since Sunday last. It is certain that it has proved fatal in most cases, and that we have lost some of our most ated great alarm for the last work. The board of health report twenty-nine deaths by this disease during the past week, most of which occurred on Friday and Saturday. We have great hopes that our unwelcome visiter has finally departed, as we yesterday heard of no new case, and t e atmosphere is bracing and apparent's healthy. But, it is absolutely necessary that people should yet be careful in their diet, and abstain from all excesses.
