Lite success which as attended the poblication of the test Magazines from the English Press, has led to preparation for issuing a periodical more particularly adapted to the wants and tastes of the American public William will be the content of t While it will be the object of the proprintors to make the work strictly what its ti-ile indicates, it will, nevertheless, contain all articles of interest to its patrons which appear in foreign Magazines.

Extensive preparations have been entered into, both with artists and authors, to furnish from all parts of the Union, drawings and it lustrations of every subject of interest, which the publishers confidently believe will enable them to issue a work honograble to its title, and acceptable to the American People.

The first number of the American Maga zine, illustrated with upwards of twenty splendid engrasings, will appear on or before the first of September, and be continued monthly, containing between forty and fitty imperial octavo pages, and be furnished at the low price of two dollars per annum. It will
