DEFORE the Select Circulating Libra-ry had been long in existence, it was discovered that there was still something wanting-that many occurrences in the lite rary world must pass unknown, as regarded our agency, without an extension of the plan. To establish a fuller medium of communication and supply the desideratum, the Jour nul of Belles Lettres was added; which we have reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal patronage ex tended to the Library induced the proprie for to give that gratuitously as an evidence

More extended experience has shown o ther desiderata which the "Companion" is intended to supply. While reading for the 'Library' a large mass of material accumulates on the hands of the editor, of an interesting, entertaining, and instructive description, such as would properly come under the designation of Maguziniana, interspersed with the Reviews from the English Quarterlies. To publish every thing of this nature which we deem desirable would enroach too much on the columns of the "Li designed for books, and yet to pass them by is constantly a subject of regret. To concentrate, therefore, the publication of Books entire, Reviews, lists of new works, the choicest contributions to Magazines. &c. &c. &c. the "Companion to Waldie's Library" will be offered to the patronage of Annapolis. the present subscribers and the public at less capital is Fifty I nousand politics, and large. It is believed that with the "Library," the company intends to execute the following business: an acquaintance with the interstance of the second of the scribing, and having fewer people to deal with, mistakes are less liable to occur, and more readily corrected when they do. The short interval of, two weeks between the publication of each number, it is thought too, will be an advantage over monthlies and

It will form the cheapest reprint of reviews and magazines ever attempted in any country; a comparison with others it were uncless here to enter up -, the 'Library' itself being the best test by which to judge of the difference between an octavo and a quarto page. It will be the study of the Editor to embody a record of the day, adapted to the wants of this country, which can have no competitor for value or cheapness; how far he is likely to do this he must leave at present to the decision of his readers.

Clubs of five individuals, who subscribe to the 'Library' and 'Companion' both, will obtain the two for six dollars, the postage (a very important consideration) to the most distant post office, on the two, will be one dollar and ninety-five cents, divided into eventy eight payments, and hulf that sum for 100 miles or a less distance from Philadelphia, while the same, matter, in the usual American reprinte of reviews and magaazines in octavo form would be eighteen dollars, and the postage as three to one. make this assertion advisedly.
