COMPANION TO WALDIE'S LI-BRARY. . The cheapest reprint from English

Periodicals ever offered to the public.

DEFORE the Select Circulating Libraty had been long in existence, it was discovered that there was still something wanting-that many occurrences in the liteears world must pissunknown, as regarded our agency, without an extension of the plan To establish a fuller medium of communica tion and supply the desideration, the Journal of Belles Lettres was added; waten we have reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal puronage extended to the Library induced the proprie tor to give that gratuitously as an evidence of his acknowledgments.

More extended ex serience has shown o ther desiderate which the "Companion" is intended to supply. While reading for the 'Library'' a large mass of material accunulates on the hands of the editor, of an interesting, entertaining, and instructive de scription, such as would properly come un-der the designation of Magaziniana, interspersed with the Reviews from the English Quarterlies. To publish every thing of this nature which we deem desirable would encroach too much on the columns of the "Libeary" designed for books, and yet to pass thom by is constantly SUDJECT To concentrate, therefore, the pub ication of Books entire, Reviews, lists of new works, the choicest contributions to Magazines &c. &c. &c. the "Communion to Wuldie" Library" will be offered to the patronage of the present subscribers and the public at large. It is believed that with the "Library," the "Journal," and the "Companion," such an acquaintance with the literature of the age may be cultivated as to leave little fur ther to be desired. Being all published from the same office, more facility offers for subscribing, and having fewer people to deal scribing, and having leads possess, and with, mistakes are less liable to occur, and with, mistakes are less liable to occur, and more readily corrected when they do. short interval of two weeks between the publication of each number, it is thought too. will be an advantage over monthlies and quarterlies.

The following plan is respectfully submit-

1. The "Companion" will contain the earliest possible reprints of the best matter in the British periodicals.

2. It will be issued every fortnight, and the form will be the same as that of the Library-each number containing sixteen pa brary—each number containing sixteen pages—thus, every six months, giving thirigen numbers, which can be bound with the Library as little or no more expense, and ber can be found.

WILLIAM HOPPER, ges-thus, every six months, giving thirwho do not take the Library ilself, a volume

every year, of 416 quarto pages of the size of the present.

3. The price will be three dollars for a subscriber—five dollars for two—and clubs five and upwards will be supplied at two dollars each.

4. As the work will not be commenced unless a sufficient patronage be obtained, no payment is required at present, only name, sent free of postage. Those wishing to support the publication will be pleased therefore to announce their intention as early as possible, as it is intended to commence the work on the first of January next. On the issuing of the second number payment will be expected, as its appearance will evince a sufficiency of patronage.

The proprietor of the "Select Circulating Library," fully aware from experience of the edvantages to the public of the rapid diffusion of cheap and select literature, has been induced to add the important feature to the work, and of course leaves it optional with the present subscribers and others to take it or not.

It is confidently believed, that, with the attention on the part of the Editor, who has already at hand the material for such a work, all the realty valuable matter of the English literary and amusing publications may be comprised in this form at a rate of subscription and Postage, so trifling as scarcely be felt. It will form the cheapest reprint of said estate, are desired to present then to reviews and magazines ever attempted in gally authenticated, and those incepted at any country; a comparison with others it were uncless here to enter upon, the 'Libraitself being the best test by which to judge of the difference between an octavo and a quarto page. It will be the study of the Editor to embody a record of the day. adapted to the wants of this country, which can have no competitor for value or cheapess; how far he is likely to do this he must ave at present to the decision of his readers.

Clubs of five individuals, who subscribe to the Library' and Companion' both, will obtain the two for six dollars, the postage a very important consideration) to the most tistant post office, on the two, will be one tottar and ninety five cents, divided into eventy eight payments, and half that sum or 100 miles or a less distance from Pinlalelphia, while the same maller, in the usual American reprints of reviews and magaazines in octavo form would be eighteen doilars, and the postage as three to one.

make this assertion advisedly.

Subscri, tions to the 'Companion,' will he taken either with or without the Libra-

The proprietor trusts that his punctuality and exactness in executing his part of the contract in the publication of the 'Library, will be considered a sufficient guarantee of the completion of his proposed undertaking.
