OR, CABINET LIBRARY OF DIVINITY: With an original Introductory Essay to each Author.

THE REV. RICHARD COTTEWOLLS, B. D.

THE REV. HENRY STEBBING, M. A.

It is intended to comprise in this collection, the best works of all the most celebrated writers, whose labors have been devoted to the elucidation of practical religion, and the application to the moral interests of our country. The works of the Fathers, the Councils, and the Fathers of the Church, which have formed the permanent staple of general Christian doctrine, the most interesting specimens of Religious Biography, and the choicest examples of Devotional and Sacred Poetry, will succeed each other in the order which may be judged most conducive to the benefit and gratification of the reader.

To the productions of each author, or to each separate production, as the case may seem to require, will be prefixed an Introductory Essay, pointing out their characteristic excellencies; and, in some instances, comprehending a biographical sketch of the Author, with remarks on the state of religion in his times.

It is the desire of the Proprietors, in undertaking this Cabinet Library of Divinity, to present the collection to the public at such a price, that, for the same money, they may possess themselves of works which cannot fail to afford him guidance and support in the highest exercises of his faculties, and to enjoy every vicissitude of life.

GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

AMERICAN MAGAZINE OF Useful and entertaining Knowledge. To be illustrated with numerous Engravings. By the Boston Bewick Company.

THE success which has attended the publication of the best Magazines from the English Press, has led to preparation for issuing a periodical more particularly adapted to the wants and tastes of the American public. While it will be the object of the Proprietors to make the work strictly what its title indicates, it will, nevertheless, contain all articles of interest to its patrons which appear in foreign Magazines.

Extensive preparations have been entered into, both with artists and authors, to furnish from a parts of the Union, drawings and illustrations of every subject of interest, which the publishers confidently believe will enable them to issue a work honorable in its title, and acceptable to the American People.

The first number of the American Magazine, illustrated with upwards of twenty special engravings, will appear on or before the first of September, and be continued monthly, containing between forty and fifty pages of text, and will be furnished at the price of two dollars per annum. It will be sent by express, free of postage.

Persons desiring to subscribe, or to send articles for illustration, should address the Proprietors, at the Boston Bewick Company, 47 Court St. Boston, July 17.

Persons throughout the United States who will give the above Prospectus a few lines, and in their respective papers, shall be entitled to one year's subscription, free of charge.

WALDIE'S COMPANION TO WALDIE'S LIBRARY.

BUBBLES FROM THE BRUNNENS OF NASSAU. A description of the last water-wearing places in Germany, by an author, will form the commencement of the fourth volume of Waldie's Library.

This will be followed, at an early day, by the Memoirs of Henry Massieu de La Fede, who was confined for thirty-five years in the different State Prisons in France, now first translated into English.

The works published in the current volume, now on the point of completion, are the following:—

Knutzner, or the German's Tale, a novel, by the author of Canterbury Tales.

Memoirs of Sir James Campbell, of Ardara, written by himself, a very picturesque, containing anecdotes of most distinguished individuals of the last sixty years.

Good Sir Walter; a tale by the author of Family Portraits.

The Broken Heart; a dramatic sketch, from the Italian.

Rome in the Nineteenth Century; in a series of letters written during a residence in that city, by a Lady.

The Dead and Dumb Paper; a Tale.

The Black Water; an Historical Novel, by the author of the Doan's Legacy, &c. &c. One of the best novels, say the London Magazines, of the present day.

Taylor's new book of Travels in Mexico and Cuba.

Allen Cunningham's Biographical and Critical History of Literature for the last fifty years.

PROPOSALS

TO ASSUME THE EDITORSHIP OF THE LONDON, EDINBURGH, FOREIGN AND WESTMINSTER QUARTERLY REVIEWS, FOR $6 PER ANNUM.

THE above Journals are already so well known to the public, that little need be said of their respective merits.

The well sustained reputation of the London Quarterly, not only as a able defender of Tory principles, and the standard of things, but as the whitest and most entertaining of Reviews, will always command the attention of the literary and scientific.

The Edinburgh, celebrated for the vigor, learning and sagacity which its articles display, conducted by some of the principal literary men of the modern Athens, is an equally powerful champion of the moderate Reform Party.

The Foreign Quarterly occupies a neutral ground in Politics, and is devoted to continental literature.

The Westminster is but little known in this country. It may be considered as the advocate of the Radicals, and the mouth piece of Benthamism. It represents the principles of a party already numerous in England, and fast increasing in the United States.

The numbers will be put to press immediately after they shall be received from Europe, and will contain the entire matter of the above Journals, as they appear in their original form, and will be executed in as good style, and with as little delay, as the European editions.

The price will be $5 per annum, payable in advance, or the delivery of the first number. The English copies cannot be had for less than $10. Of the three at present published, about two thousand copies are printed.

Persons desiring to procure four subscribers, and remit $20 on the receipt of the first number, will be allowed an additional copy.

Subscriptions papers to be returned, and all communications to be addressed, post paid, to Theodore Foster, Albany, N. Y.

Subscriptions received at this office.

THE Select Circulating Library had long been in existence, it was discovered that there was still something wanting—that many occurrences in the literary world must pass unknown, as regarded our Agency, without an extension of the plan.

To establish a fuller medium of communication and supply the desideratum, the Journal of Belles Lettres was added; which we have reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal patronage extended to the Library induced the proprietor to give that gratuitously as an evidence of his acknowledgments.

More extended experience has shown other desiderata which the "Companion" is intended to supply. While reading for the "Library" on a large mass of material accumulates on the hands of the editor, of an interesting, entertaining, and instructive description, such as would properly come under the designation of Magazines, interspersed with the Reviews from the English Quarters.

To publish every thing of this nature when we deem desirable would encroach too much on the columns of the "Library" designed for books, and yet to pass them by is constantly a subject of regret. To concentrate, therefore, the publication of Books, entire, Reviews, lists of new works, the choicest contributions to Magazines, &c. &c. the "Companion to Waldie's Library" will be offered to the patronage of the present subscribers and the public at large.

It is believed that with the "Library," the "Journal," and the "Companion," such an acquaintance with the literature of the age may be cultivated as to leave little further to be desired. Being all published from the same office, more facility offers for subscribing, and having fewer people to deal with, mistakes are less liable to occur, and more readily corrected when they do.

The short interval of two weeks between the publication of each number, it is thought too, will be an advantage over monthlies and quarterlies.

The following plan is respectfully submitted.

1. The "COMPANION" will contain the earliest possible reprints of the best matter in the British periodicals.

2. It will be issued every fortnight, and the form will be the same as that of the Library—each number containing sixteen pages—thus, every six months, giving thirteen numbers, which can be bound with the Library at little or no more expense, and making a better sized volume; and to those who do not take the Library itself, a volume every year, of 416 quarto pages of the size of the present.

The proprietor of the "Select Circulating Library," fully aware from experience of the advantages to the public of the rapid diffusion of cheap and select literature, has been induced to add the important feature to the work, and of course leaves it optional with the present subscribers and others to take it or not.

It is confidently believed, that, with the attention of the part of the Editor, who has already at hand the material for such a work, all the really valuable matter of the English literary and amusing publications may be comprised in this form at a rate of subscription and postage, so trifling as scarcely to be felt. It will form the cheapest reprint of reviews and magazines ever attempted in any country; a comparison with others will be itself being the best test by which to judge of the difference between an octavo and a quarto page. It will be the study of the Editor to embody a record of the day, adapted to the wants of this country, which can have no competitor for value or cheapness; how far he is likely to do this he must leave at present to the decision of his readers.

Clubs of five individuals, who subscribe to the "Library" and "Companion" both, will obtain the two for six dollars, the postage (a very important consideration) to the most distant post office, on the two, will be one dollar and ninety-five cents, divided into seventy-eight payments, and half that sum for 100 miles or a less distance from Philadelphia, while the same matter, in the usual American reprints of reviews and magazines, in octavo form would be eighteen dollars, and the postage as three to one. We make this assertion advisedly.

Persons desiring to subscribe to the "Companion," will be taken either with or without the "Library."

The proprietor trusts that his punctuality and exactness in executing his part of the contract in the publication of the "Library," will be considered a sufficient guarantee of the completion of his proposed undertaking.

PROSPECTUS For Publishing in the City of Baltimore a Weekly Paper under the title of THE WEEKLY BALTIMORE REPUBLICAN.

The solicitation of several of our friends in this city, and applications of others from the different counties of the state, have concluded on issuing a weekly edition of our paper, on or before the first of February next, or as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers shall be obtained to warrant the undertaking.

It is deemed unnecessary to enter into a detail of our political opinions, as they are known to our friends through the columns of our paper, and it is usual to make some pledges concerning a new publication, which will be in the state, that as we have always been strict Republicans, so shall we continue, in the machinery of wily politicians.

We have created every energy to break up do as long as the principles of the present National Administration continue to receive the support of the people—the yeomanry of the land, we shall continue their trusty allies in the watch-tower of freedom, and in case of every encroachment on their liberties, by ambitious and aspiring demagogues, we are not disposed to eulogize the conduct of men in this prospect, but we know that our principles are unchangeable, and that we shall never desert their side, and that we shall never desert their side, and that we shall never desert their side.

It is necessary to extend a prospectus of a Newspaper, as every citizen is acquainted with the utility of diffusing intelligence on all subjects of a local or foreign nature, and the influence placed within their power to be exerted over the public mind, if very conducted, by giving the general principles of those principles upon which our liberations are founded, or in correcting the errors thereto, by exposing their objections, and holding up to view the individual who is disposed, either from a personal affection or private interest, to sport with the rights of his country, or trifle with the sacred rights of FREEDOM.

It will, no doubt, be conceded on all hands that the result of the late election in this state, was owing in a great measure to the want of a more general dissemination of information among the people. Our opponents have every advantage in this respect, more than two thirds of the papers in this state, and in this city, two of them open their columns to every demagogue, while the principles of the Administration, were not only not supported, but were actively opposed against us. Still we battled with the want of a more general circulation of information among the people, than that of energy on our part. With these views, we shall submit our sheet to the test of sense and liberality of the public, and that they will see the necessity of entering us in our undertaking, as well for the interests of the party generally, as for their own.

TERMS. The WEEKLY REPUBLICAN will be printed in the same size sheet as our daily and weekly edition, and will contain most of the news matter which may appear in those papers in the course of the week. Good paper will be used, and every improvement in its mechanical arrangement shall be adopted, of which the encouragement we shall receive will admit. It will be issued every morning, at the low price of Two Dollars per annum, if paid in advance. Two Dollars and Fifty Cents at the expiration of the year, or Three Dollars if not paid till the end of the year. These terms may be altered to suit the public.

Editors with whom we exchange in this and the adjacent states, will confer a favor by giving this prospectus a few gratuitous insertions in their papers; and by sending a copy of themselves to a free exchange for our paper, and those friends to whom we wish to be sent, we will be glad to receive a copy of the paper for one year for nothing. They will also forward their names, immediately, in order that we may place them on our list of Agents. Address, P. O. Box 10, Baltimore.

B. & J. N. HARK, South Gay street, opposite the Exchange.
