

been placed in, has been so immensurably beyond that of the rest of your sex in modern days. Many gentlemen to whom I have spoken on the subject look upon the case as the coming of the brain, but the investigation has, if possible, added to the interest of the story.

Captain M'Estre mentioned to the Lord Mayor that the proprietor of the Cooper's Arms in Lower Thames street, where the young woman was lodged, is a respectable person, in whose house she would be properly taken care of, and his lordship desired that she should remain in that asylum.

The girl then retired, after having gratefully acknowledged her thanks for the humanity and solicitude of the Lord Mayor. She is of low stature, and her limbs are very finely knit together—her teeth are extremely white and brilliant, and her hair has been so long exposed have completely tanned her face and neck, but the natural color of her skin is as white as snow.

The female sailor, Ann Thornton, whose romantic history has appeared in the papers, is all the go in London. The proprietor of a minor theatre has offered to pay her a guinea a night to appear in a character, and a celebrated artist also offers to be allowed to take her likeness; and many proposals are made by persons who desire to pay largely to see her.

at large.—Justice it for the present to say, that Doctor Hall and all the emigrants are enjoying the best health and spirits, and are prepared to receive us. No deaths since the two of whom you have heard. The mate told me that he had traded on the coast for two years, and Cape Palmas promised more than any place on the coast; and furthermore said that he would as lief live there, as in any place he had ever seen in America.—He said it was one of the most beautiful and plentiful places he had ever seen. We shall sail this afternoon for Palmas, hoping to arrive there in two days.

Please present my respects to the Board, and say to them, that every prospect is highly flattering, and promises them a rich reward for all their labours.

I remain your constant friend,
RICH'D B. F. GOULD.

[Note.—These are the only cases of mortality that had occurred in the Colony, from its settlement, up to the 25th of February—the date of the last dispatches.]

Cape Palmas, Africa, Jan. 28, 1835.

Dear Sir:—It affords me much pleasure to inform you and the Board of our safe arrival at this place on the 1st inst, after a pleasant voyage of forty-one days from Baltimore, including the two occupied at Monrovia.

Myself and emigrants have landed in possession of improved health and high spirits, realizing all that could be expected.

The information that I have been able to obtain from three days observation, and otherwise, enables me to state with freedom and great satisfaction, that the prosperity of the colony exceeds all my calculations.—The governor I find to be a man of business and well calculated to conduct the affairs of the colony, and I have every prospect of passing a very agreeable visit at this place.

This state of affairs in the Colony is fairly represented in the report you will receive. Therefore, I shall decline all specifications, on the request of the Governor, will state that the difficulty anticipated by yourself and the Board on account of the death of Charles, has been settled without the least difficulty.

So far as three days' observation have enabled me to judge, I freely and honestly say, that the location of our town is one of the most beautiful I ever saw. The lands are as good, or better than those of America. It is abundant in the production of timber and of fruit trees.

The staple commodity of the country is not positively known, but so far as observation will bear us out, I think we may place it upon cotton and rice, which can without doubt be raised in the greatest abundance.

We have oysters and fish in abundance, and we must make some arrangements to procure a supply of fifty fathom length and from six to eight feet in depth.—This will supply our Colony with Mackerel and other fine fish.

In the bush or woods there is plenty of catfish, hogs, sheep, goats, antelopes and a species of deer, all very fine. We have fowls, guinea fowls, &c., and many other good things that Americans know nothing about.

When you commence your operations to collect emigrants—say—and say no more, that this is the coloured man's home—one that offers him more comforts than America. This you are authorized to say in my name, where I am, and where I am not known.

With much respect, your friend,
RICH'D B. F. GOULD.

P. S. Our emigrants had a meeting and drew up some resolutions expressing their satisfaction, but I have not time to put them in proper form, and also think it will have a better effect to send them herewith.

*Charles was the son of the King Weah Bollo—and had been sent to the Maryland State Colonization Society by his father to receive a Christian education.

Commodore Jacob Jones has been relieved, at his own request, from serving as President of the Board for the examination of Midshipmen; and Captain W. C. Bolton was ordered to supply the vacancy. This left Captain Read the senior member who would consequently have been the President; but owing to the publications that have recently appeared in the newspapers, Capt. Read has asked to be excused from serving on the Board, and this request has been granted.—Captain Ballard will therefore be the President.

It is believed that Capt. A. Claxton, will fill the vacancy occasioned by Capt. Read's withdrawal.

The Board will then be composed of Captains Ballard, Dallas, Bolton, Claxton and Kearny.

Commodore A. S. Wedgworth, at present commanding our squadron in the Pacific, has had leave to return home, if his ill health should be such as to render it necessary or expedient. We understand that the climate of the Pacific is not favorable to the Commodore's constitution, which is not very robust. As no successor has been ordered out to relieve Commodore Wedgworth, should he leave the station, Captain Deacon being senior officer there, would remain in command of the squadron.

SOLD TO THE DUTCH.
We have met the Enemy, and—WE ARE THERE—
[Anecdote of the Petersburg Election.]
We confess that the results of the fourth Monday have settled the question, as it relates to the character of the next Legislature of Virginia. Enough is already known to establish the fact, that in that body there will be a strong Administration, and according to present appearances, a decided Van Buren majority. This last circumstance was to us wholly incredible, until the defeat of Curtis in Hanover, Healy in Middlesex, Pollard in King William, Ruffin in Barry, Shell and Wilkes in Brunswick, Cabell in Nelson, and Cooke for the Senate in the District of Amherst, Albemarle and Nelson, (a result anticipated by neither party) announced in rapid succession, left us no reason to doubt that such was the will of the People.

As far as we and the present contest are concerned, we for our single selves, strike the flag, which until this moment, we believed would wave in our triumph.

The Van Buren party have the destiny of Old Virginia in their hands. May they so exercise their ascendancy as to reverence her ancient principles, respect her renown, and protect her liberties. All we can do in this behalf at present, is to pray. For ourselves we have fought the fight while a man was left to tread the decks. Individually and apart from the country and the old cause of Human Right and Liberty, we have had nothing to gain by victory, and nothing to lose by defeat! If we have displayed warmth and zeal they were inspired by no mercenary expectation, no grovelling aspirations; we have had in contemplation nothing but the welfare of the people, and the maintenance of their liberties and rights. In so far as our bread is concerned, it is all one to us what star is in the ascendant, and who rules the destinies of the State.

We therefore submit with a good grace to that which we have done our devoir to avert, and to which we must submit, whether we will or no.

The event leaves us where it found us, in uncompromising hostility to those who have abused their trust, and prostituted the generous confidence of the people to the promotion of unholy schemes of aggrandizement; and a curse of veritable kind, and for ever, to this its dark and gloomy hour, the great curse.

BALLOON ASCENSION.

Mr. Wm. a student of this city, yesterday afternoon made a balloon ascension from a lot at the corner of Middle and Green streets. The balloon was the largest ever made in this country. It was made by Mr. Wm. himself, and its material instead of being woven tissue paper, prepared for the purpose, and dried impervious. After inflating the balloon, and closely four o'clock the cords were cut and the ball freed for its aerial flight. It manifested however a disposition to leave the earth, and after rising very high descended again about 100 yards from the lot. We understand that a number of ruffians started at the moment to destroy the balloon, but Mr. Wm. throwing out his ballast, and even discharging his pistols, they fled, and he was enabled to ascend to a great height, and remained for at least half an hour suspended in the air. At length encountering a current of wind, he descended to the city. He did not return in consequence of the absence of wind. He alighted safely some miles from Camden, and returned with the balloon to the city in the evening.

The following statement of particulars, is all that have been able to collect: It is the substance of a communication from Mr. Wm. himself.

"After divesting myself of all my ballast and ballast, (except my watch and compass) and part of my clothing, I rose gently until I got above the Schuylkill where I became stationary, and it seemed to me the elements were in consultation how to dispose of me next. I then sunk in upon a current running eastwardly, crossing the city about Race st. and the River was over Camden. When about two miles beyond Camden on the Jersey side, I was again becalmed a minute and a halt, when the balloon made a circuit, moving moderately in a southwest direction, four miles, when I commenced descending and my first current which made directly for the city on the Pennsylvania side of the river below the Schuylkill, and came down on the farm of Mr. Joseph Barnard near Haddonfield, in Jersey, where I was seized by R. M. Thorn, and J. N. Troth and conveyed to Camden. I arrived in the city at 5 o'clock.—Phil. Herald.
